HITLER FACES MILD CENSURE

HOW'S IRELAND? DOING NICELY ON SAINT'S DAY

An Annual Report for Sons Abroad.

BY HUGH CURRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, March 16.—With each recurrence of St. Patrick's day, Ireland's national anniversary, the scattered children of the Gael invariably send home the old-time query, "How is old Ireland, and how does she stand?"

It is a time of national stock taking both at home and abroad; a time of estimating the "pros" and "cons"; of assessing the national advance, politically and economically, and of apportioning blame where blame belongs.

It would be difficult to get a unanimous answer to the general question, but there would hardly be any dissent from a comprehensive summing up in the words that "Ireland is doing very nicely, thank you."

The fact is, that in comparison with many other countries the Irish Free State occupies a position of high solvency and moderate prosperity. The world depression has undoubtedly left its mark, but not to the same extent that other countries have suffered.

Revise Home Economy.

The banks show a reassuring degree of stability, and most big business concerns have a similar story. The railways, which have had a bad time, have rounded the corner. No big advances are to be recorded, but in that respect most countries stand alike.

This, however, does not prevent Ireland having internal difficulties, numerous enough, and President Eamon De Valera's government has endeavored to meet the world depression by recasting the entire system of home economics. To keep at home money hitherto sent abroad for various commodities it has endeavored to have these manufactured locally.

This gives employment to a considerable number who but for such industries would be much worse off. Another grievance is that in order to foster these small industries heavy tarifs have had to be imposed on imports. These make the imported articles dearer, and also show the home producer the way to increase his prices; thus the consumer has to pay more whether he buys the home or the imported article.

Provide Own Wheat.

Similarly in regard to agriculture the De Valera government has made considerable changes. The slogan is till more land, grow more crops, produce more wheat. Only a few years ago virtually the whole of the wheat supplies of the country were imported. Now so much wheat is grown that the imports are almost nil. The mills which for years had been idle have produced so much flour that they have to be shut down periodically to prevent a glut in the market. Barley and other cereals have also been grown in increased quantities, so that so far as food is concerned there is no scarcity.

The new system does not get the approval of the class of farmer who was accustomed to raise few crops but trusted exclusively to the breeding of cattle. He is being hit by the new economy because he is obliged to employ more men and generally to work harder himself. His former easy sale for cattle was wiped out by the heavy penal duties which the British government put on in order to collect the land annuities which the De Valera government withheld.

The British Feud.

This leads to the biggest problem of all—the dispute with Britain. De Valera is severely criticized for his failure to get a settlement with Britain, particularly for the sale of Irish cattle. With this is bound up the whole question of the relationship between the two countries.

It would suit Great Britain to have the Free State as a willing member of her group of nations, but De Valera wants the whole of Ireland to be free republic to choose its future status. That cannot be done while a part of the country is separated from the larger part and already committed to the British régime.

No advance toward a solution of this grave crux has been made. There are, however, important agencies at work toward this end. Britain desires a settlement even more than does the Free State. It is especially desired because the coronation of the new king will take place six or seven months hence.

CHARGES PLOT BY NEW DEAL TO GAG EDUCATORS

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

L. D. COFFMAN

Accusations that the New Deal is seeking to turn the land grant colleges into "propaganda mills" for the brain trust were made yesterday by Ray P. Chase, former Minnesota congressman and candidate for the Republican nomination for senator. Mr. Chase visited western Republican headquarters at the Palmer house with data he has collected on the farm situation.

In support of his charges that the New Deal is invading the field of education with federal funds and is bent on "regimenting the thought processes of farmers and students," Chase quoted a letter written to him by L. D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota.

Won't "Sell" Liberty.

President Coffman, in his letter to Chase, said that the University of Minnesota does not propose to sell its liberty, but will tell the farmers that the AAA or any federal act is unsound if its studies lead to such conclusions. Dwelling on current movements in higher education, President Coffman is quoted as writing:

"I refer more particularly to the increasing tendency on the part of the federal government to dominate, through use of money and power, certain aspects of the higher educational program.

"This tendency, beginning in 1862, gathered strength slowly through the years, but became lusty and vigorous with the passage of the Bankhead-Jones bill, which grants large appropriations to the land grant colleges for research, resident instruction, and extension. It provides for the establishment of regional laboratories to carry on research.

Tells Evils of Law.

"What shall be studied at the laboratories, the amount of money each shall have, and the personnel are all determined in Washington. It is not necessary for the United States department of agriculture to designate as regional laboratories any of those now existing at the colleges or universities. At whatever laboratories it designates, it may provide for a concentration of talent which will deplete the personnel of existing experiment stations.

"If federal money were allocated to the institutions where talent already resides and if the noteworthy voluntary efforts at regional studies already under way were supported, the menace of federal supervision and direction of scientific research would be removed. But the law leaves the federal authorities no choice in the matter."

Cites AAA Orders.

President Coffman's letter says that before the Supreme court knocked out the AAA the secretary of agriculture's office insisted that the land grant colleges should use the Bankhead-Jones funds for extension service to promote the AAA.

"The basis for real dictation," says the letter "is even more obvious in the uses that the land grant colleges are expected to make of the extension founds.

"The United States extension service held previous to the Supreme court decision ending the AAA that the land grant colleges should use this money to administer the AAA in their states. The agricultural program, as every one knows, was built in Washington.

"The extension stafs of the land grant colleges did not plan nor help to prepare the act, but they were called upon to present it to the farmers of America.

"We believe it is proper for a university to study AAA or any other act so that it may point out its strengths and its weaknesses to the farmers. We do not propose to sell our liberty to tell the farmers that any federal act is economically unsound or politically undesirable, if our studies lead us to such conclusions."

CHICAGO BOUND PLANE IS FORCED DOWN BY SNOW

Cleveland, O., March 16.—(AP)—A westbound United Air Lines plane carrying nine passengers and mail made a forced landing in a field near West Clarksfield, Huron county, late tonight in a heavy snowstorm.

Maurice Marrs, the pilot, radioed Cleveland airport that he was unable to land here because the "field was closed in and visibility was only 100 feet." He circled the field eleven times, then flew west of here seeking a landing place.

The landing was made with the use of flares. Marrs reported no one was injured. He said he was starting for Cleveland by automobile. Other cars were being sent for the passengers. J. Stewart was co-pilot of the ship and Miss Margaret Meuse of Chicago was stewardess.

Airport attachés said the feat of landing the huge ship sucessfully in a cornfield was remarkable in a snowstorm.

21 Delegates in Oklahoma Go for Landon

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 16.—(AP)—Oklahoma's 21 votes at the Republican National convention in Cleveland will be cast as a unit for Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas for the presidential nomination.

The G. O. P. state convention invoked the unit rule here tonight as the climax of session dominated by supporters of the Kansas executive.

Six delegates-at-large were instructed for Landon. With six district delegates already instructed for him, they constitute a majority of the delegation and will have control under the unit rule.

Instructions were given to the delegates-at-large to "vote and work for Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas for the presidential nomination and use every legitimate means to that end."

Nearly Unanimous Backing.

Nine delegates previously named at district conventions were uninstructed. Six are from districts in which Landon was indorsed.

W. G. Skelly, Tulsa oil man, was indorsed for reëlection as national committeeman and Mrs. H. H. Sayre of Ardmore as national committeewoman.

James S. Twyford, of Oklahoma City, the keynote speaker, sounded the slogan:

"Alf has both feet on the ground."

E. E. Underwood of Topeka, a supporter of Landon, said an instructed delegation from this neighbor state was considered important and would have an effect on the eastern attitude toward the Kansas governor.

C. C. Hawk, retiring state chairman, ridiculed the charge of Senator Borah [Rep., Idaho] that the "Standard Oil company" was attempting to dominate the Oklahoma delegation. He passed the hat to make up a state party deficit of $514.

"If we had that Standard Oil support we wouldn't be in debt," he declared.

Borah Rebukes Publisher.

Washington, D. C., March 16.—(AP)—A Kansas publisher who charged Senator Borah with attacking Gov. Landon, in a statement criticizing the Standard Oil company, was told today by the Idaho candidate for the Republican presidential nomination that he owed Landon an apology.

Louis Levand, publisher of the Wichita Beacon, wired Borah that he had by indirection made "grave charges" against the Kansas governor in his statement Saturday charging the Standard Oil company with mixing in Oklahoma Republican politics. He demanded proof of the charges.

"Because I denounced the Standard Oil company you charge I am attacking Gov. Landon," Borah wired back, and added: "I think you owe Gov. Landon an apology for your blundering defense of him when no defense was called for."

First Mention of Landon.

Both telegrams were made public by the Idaho senator. It was the first time he had mentioned Landon in any public utterance.

Borah told Levand he was prepared to support his charge that "the Standard Oil company" was attempting to have "friends" named as uninstructed delegates from Oklahoma to the Republican national convention. But he said he had made no reference to Landon.

Landon was mentioned specifically tonight, however, in a statement by Representative Fish [Rep., N. Y.], a Borah supporter. Joining in the Borah attack on the Standard Oil company, Fish said:

"I am not surprised to hear that Mr. W. G. Skelly of the Skelly Oil company, affiliated with the Standard Oil group, and Republican national committeeman from Oklahoma, has succeeded in delivering the Republican delegates to the national convention at Cleveland to Gov. Landon."

REGISTER TODAY FOR THE PRIMARY

Today is registration day in Chicago and the nine suburbs under the Chicago election board. The suburbs are Berwyn, Chicago Heights, Cicero, Elmwood Park, Evergreen Park, Harvey, Morton Grove, Stickney and Summit. All precinct polling places will be open from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m.

This is an intermediate or supplemental registration. Voters already registered from their present addresses need not register again. Qualified electors who must register in order to vote in the national, state and county primaries of April 14 are those who have failed heretofore to register, those who have moved since registering, and those who now for the first time meet the requirements concerning age, residence and citizenship.

In the Cook county suburbs not under the election board there will be no registration before the primaries. Qualified but unregistered electors in such territory will be permitted to vote by affidavit on April 14.

John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the election board, predicted that today's registration in Chicago will reach 400,000. The present registered vote in the city is 1,513,591. Probably 200,000 names will be erased during the canvass and revision of the lists.

Berlin Predicts Nazi Aid Will Go to London

BERLIN, March 16.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler's acceptance of the league of nations council's decision in the Locarno treaty dispute was foreshadowed here tonight by a government official, who said "we probably will go to London."

Simultaneously it was disclosed that Friedrich Gaus, one of the chief German delegates at the Locarno conference 11 years ago, has been in London since last Friday.

Should the fuehrer accept the council's decision he is expected to send Joachim von Ribbentrop, his expert on foreign affairs, to represent the Nazi nation around the council table.

The press appeared to be preparing the way for the acceptance by calling the council's reply to Hitler "a new invitation on the basis of full equality."

Hitler Attacks France.

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, March 16.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler made his third campaign speech in the remilitarized Rhineland tonight the vehicle of his bitterest attack upon France since his denunciation of the Locarno pact. He has called a reichstag election for March 29 as a means of showing that the nation stands solidly behind his actions.

Shortly before mounting the platform to the cheers of crowds crying "We want our Fuehrer," Hitler had been told of the action of the league of nations council at London which rejected his offer to discuss new peace proposals as a condition to his representation at discussions of the scrapping of Locarno.

"If my proposals are rejected, then, my German people, refuse to accept these rejections by standing behind me!" he shouted.

No More Offers, His Edict.

"It is impossible to refuse justice to people united like one man and to people who are masters in their own house," he declared.

He went on to say that Germany has extended her hand many times and that "more cannot be expected of us."

The reichsfuehrer was greeted by cheers that grew louder as he hurled defiance across Europe's frontiers and launched into an attack upon France that was more bitter than either of the addresses delivered at Karlsruhe and Munich in which he defended his course in sending troops into the Rhineland.

He attacked France for signing the treaty with Russia guaranteeing mutual assistance in event of attack, and declared "we won't accept that others make treaties which concern our eternal life. Neither Locarno nor the league is as important as the right of 68,000,000 people to live."

Makes Bid for Peace.

Hitler interrupted his attack on France by making a passionate appeal for peace.

"German people, I ask you, do you want to bury the hatchet with France?" he exclaimed, and the 15,000 packed in the Festhalle roared approval and stamped the floor until the building shook.

"Do you want to oppress the people?" he demanded, and his hearers shouted "No!"

"I am sure a similar question asked the French people would evoke the same answer," Hitler continued.

"We want nothing from France," he shouted, "but of Germany we want all there is. We want sovereignty over Germany, nothing more—but also nothing less. No might in the world can drive us back from this decision."

LEAGUE OFFERS SECOND CHANCE TO TALK PEACE

Britain Eases Path for Germany.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 16.—European peace, which is menaced by the Rhineland crisis, survived another squally day. There were prospects tonight that matters have been fixed up to enable Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler of Germany, if he wishes, to send representatives to join in the negotiations around the conference table within a few days.

The league of nations council, after many stormy preparatory talks, held a secret session this afternoon and sent a second invitation to Hitler. At the same time it decided to act on a resolution tomorrow characterizing Germany as a treaty breaker for sending troops into the Rhineland in violation of the Versailles and Locarno treaties.

The fuehrer was thus left with a chance to slip into the conference at the last moment before judgment was passed on him—if that causes him any trembling. It was expected by some of the leaders that Hitler would accept the invitation under the new inducements offered by the council.

Deprive Hitler of Vote.

The renewed invitation, which was dispatched by Joseph A. C. Avenol, secretary of the league, offers the German dictator the equal rights he demanded at the council table, but deprives him of the vote he wanted. Replying to Hitler's second point—a demand that the powers consider his proposals for 25 year pacts among Germany and her neighbors—the council said it was not competent to examine the peace proposals. It was suggested they are a matter for the Locarno powers. The telegram to Hitler said:

"I have the honor to indicate to your excellency the reply of the council to your telegram of March 15. Germany will participate in the examination by the council of the questions submitted by the Belgian and French governments on the same terms as the representatives of the other guarantee powers whose situation under the treaty is the same as that of Germany; that is to say, with full rights of discussion, the votes of the three powers [Germany, France, and Belgium] not being counted in calculating unanimity.

"In regard to the second question it is not for the council to give to the German government the assurance which it desires."

Debate Is Furious.

The decision to send another invitation was taken in a secret session which also dealt with the text of the resolution of the Locarno treaty violation. The resolution later was introduced at a public session.

The debate on the text of the resolution was furious. France, Russia and the little entente [Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Jugo-Slavia] wanted to use the word "condemn" in branding Germany a treaty breaker. The group headed by Great Britain objected to making the resolution one of condemnation. The British urged instead that it declare Germany had committed an "infringement" of the treaty and they won out.

Text of Resolution.

The resolution as finally introduced by Pierre-Etienne Flandin, the French foreign minister, on behalf of both France and Belgium, read:

"The council of the league of nations, upon the application of Belgium and France made to it March 8, finds the German government has committed an infringement of article 43 of the treaty of Versailles by causing military forces to penetrate and install themselves in the demilitarized zone referred to in article 43 of said treaty and in the treaty of Locarno.

"It invites the secretary-general, in application of article 4, paragraph 2, to inform at once the signatory powers of said treaty of the finding which the council has just reached."

May Vote "Infringement."

This resolution, which was calculated to meet Hitler's susceptibilities, will be acted on in the council session tomorrow. Should there be any hitches it may be continued another day until Hitler replies to the second invitation. But it is possible that this mild form of judgment—notification of the infringement—will be voted.

Sanctions against Germany apparently are ruled out, first through the impossibility of agreement among council members, and second through the admission by the French that the league council is not competent to decide what measures should be taken against Germany for violating the Locarno pact.

The council, therefore, will confine its action to finding Germany has broken the Versailles and Locarno treaties. It will then be up to the Locarno powers of Britain, France, Belgium, and Italy to devise what is to be done about it.

Locarno Powers to Meet.

The Locarno nations will meet before tomorrow's council session. They will discuss a British offer to revive the old 1919 treaty with France and Belgium, guaranteeing their security. This would be offered to the French and Belgians as compensation for the security they lost by Germany's occupation of the Rhineland.

The British, however, plan to revive the treaty on the condition that the French agree to discuss Hitler's proposals for a new peace treaty for 25 years, a western air pact and other agreements.

Both Sides Satisfied.

German circles in London seemed satisfied with the outcome of the events, as did the French. The Germans said Hitler could not send a delegate to London solely to listen to his nation being condemned and then be told he might leave. The league council's implication that Hitler's proposals could be considered by the Locarno powers after its treaty "infringement" resolution is passed makes acceptance possible.

French circles are particularly satisfied with the British decision to revive the 1919 security treaty.

The French pointed out, however, the deadlock over their demand that Germany withdraw her troops from the Rhineland still exists. The British indicated the major difficulty about this problem has been removed. This difficulty was described as securing the withdrawal of troops without humiliation to Germany.

May Bring Up Military Pact.

If a German delegate takes his place at the league council table a discussion will arise on whether or not the Franco-soviet military pact violates the Locarno treaty, and that matter may be referred to The Hague court. Hitler pointed to that pact as his reason for sending troops into the Rhineland.

Flandin will ask, in turn, that Germany abide by the decision of the court. The matter of Germany making a promise not to fortify the Rhineland will then be debated before the council.

The Germans, it is said, will not make such a promise, but that makes no difference according to the British. What is immediately essential is to get France and Germany together at a conference table, Britain's leaders maintain.

Back Stage Diplomatic Talks.

Back stage diplomatic talks between Berlin and London led to a belief that concessions will be made all around.

Words and their meanings figured in the doings. The telegraph wires between Berlin and London burned with questions over the meaning of the German word "alsbald" in Hitler's note to the league yesterday. At first it was translated to "immediately." Within three hours it was changed to "in due time" in order to make the reichsfuehrer's peace proposals acceptable.

The decision of the Berlin foreign office had a great bearing on whether the fuehrer wanted the council to discuss his seven point proposals "immediately," or at some later date.

Women Urge League Apply Sanctions Against Germany

GENEVA, March 16.—(AP)—The Women's International League for Peace and Freedom appealed to the League of nations council today to apply economic and financial sanctions against Germany, unless the Rhineland was evacuated by a certain date. The organization expressed opposition to military sanctions, but contended the moral standing of the league, already shaken by Italy's aggression in Ethiopia, would be destroyed if the league "capitulated before Germany's flagrant assault."

FRENCH PREPARE TO BUILD A NEW CHAIN OF FORTS

Fear German Guns Would Destroy Maginot Line.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 16.—France may be obliged to construct a new chain of fortifications fifteen or twenty miles back of the present Maginot line, it was reported today in authoritative military circles.

The measure, it was said, will become necessary if negotiations in London do not lead to some agreement with Germany—providing, of course, that the French partisans for a preventive war do not have their own way.

This military opinion is based on the assumption that Germany eventually will fortify the border and that any future German treaties promising nonaggression cannot be relied upon.

Fear German Artillery.

When the German string of fortifications will have been established five or six miles back of the border corresponding to the Maginot line, the two opposing series of casemates normally would neutralize each other. But it is envisaged that in peace time the Germans, with their defense works just across the border, could at leasure scout out every nook and corner of the Maginot forts and place artillery so that in a surprise attack a single broadside would go far toward crippling the French defenses and putting them at a disadvantage.

Furthermore, Germany's greater population and potential strength behind the frontier must be taken into account.

Hence the suggestion of a second Maginot line. It is a tacit admission of misgivings about the wisdom of having built the present works so close to the frontier. Certain generals always have opposed that and now insist that rectification of the error must be made by the construction of new defenses.

A startling scheme for preventing a German invasion was urged by Col. Jean Fabry, world war veteran and minister of war in the recent cabinet of Pierre Laval. It is that the British establish a royal air force post behind the Belgian frontier between Liege and Namur and fly the Union Jack over it. Fabry also urged the establishment of an Italian aviation post behind the Alsatian frontier between Strasbourg and Mulhouse. This post would fly the Italian colors.

Sees Germany Restrained.

In that way, he explained, a German attack would violate the flags of the two guarantors of the Locarno treaty and bring them automatically into the war. That certainty would positively restrain Germany from aggression, Fabry said.

"If the Locarno signatories really want to prevent the Germans from crossing their frontier that is the way to accomplish it and assure absolute security for the entire frontier from Basel, Switzerland, through Saarbruecken and Luxembourg to Antwerp, Belgium," he declared. "Of course, it would presuppose some military accord and certain political arrangements, for instance, Italo-Ethiopian peace.

"Apart from such a political conception of a common frontier, nothing remains for France but to rely upon her arms. She must count on them alone for safety. The time is not yet near when right will replace might."

Reservists Off for Border.

Two thousand reservists left Paris today for eastern frontier garrisons. This measure recalls the general staf's three phases of mobilization announced last week, of which the second phase is partial mobilization. But the war ministry's official explanation was that the movement is a routine matter.

FRENCH FASCIST CHIEF CHARGES JEWS ARE PLOTTING FOR A WAR

PARIS, March 16.—(AP)—Col. François de la Roque, leader of the Nationalist Veterans' organization Croix de Feu, charged tonight that "three or four highly placed Jews" are attempting to start a war. He warned that an anti-Jewish wave would sweep France unless these men are curbed.

The Fascist leader of the "Cross of Fire," whose declaration was made in a written statement, did not name the Jews but asserted they are "in direct relations with certain international financial powers wishing war."

De la Roque promised that his organization would "watch them closely" lest those Jews who are "ardent patriots and magnificent soldiers" should suffer.

The colonel, who has been accused by the left of planning to seize power for a Fascist state, said he operated a test mobilization Sunday of hundreds of thousands of men in 3,000 sections throughout France.

never be conquered." He made this statement in Berlin as he conferred new regimental flags by decree on his armed forces, the first anniversary of Germany's rearmament in defiance of the Versailles treaty.

"The old armies' glorious career was cut short by the events of 1918," the fuehrer said in his decree, issued in his rôle as supreme commander in chief of the reich's army.

"The gallant soldiers whose spirit has been well tried in past centuries may be repressed in times of national misfortune, but they can never be conquered."

In all garrison towns, outside the Rhineland, commanders addressed their assembled troops on the significance of this day—just one year after Hitler announced abruptly to the world his rearming of the Reich.

RICH BRAHMAN SHOOTS WIFE OF YANK, KILLS SELF

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, March 16.—(AP)—Doctors sought today to save the life of Mrs. Rona Whitney, 20, wife of an American dentist, who police said was shot yesterday by Ramsubhag Misir, wealthy Brahman Indian, who later killed himself.

The officials said the shooting ended a three month romance that started when Mrs. Whitney arrived here with her 5 year old daughter, Gloria, from Jamaica.

Mrs. Whitney, the wife of Dr. Cephas Whitney, American born dentist, lived here with her husband until two years ago.

Italy, Austria, Hungary Delay Parley Three Days

ROME, March 16.—(AP)—The Italo-Austro-Hungarian conference, scheduled to begin here Wednesday, with Germany's denunciation of the Locarno pact figuring prominently in the deliberations, was postponed today for three days. The delay was made at the request of Premier Julius Goemboes of Hungary, owing to pressing internal duties at Budapest. The statesmen arranged to arrive Friday.

BERLIN, March 16.—Schutz Staffel men [picked guards], received orders today to report their exact whereabouts to subleaders to enable summoning them on two hour notice. They also were instructed to prepare packs and full of rations for two days. No reason was given.

ITALY APPROVES GERMAN CLAIM TO PARITY IN LONDON

France, Britain Linked to Locarno's Fall.

ROME, March 16.—(AP)—Authoritative Italian sources said today the German claims for parity for her diplomats in London appeared justified in Italian eyes.

There was no official pronouncement on the subject, the press ministry apparently preferring to let Ambassador Dino Grandi reveals Italy's policy in London.

Blame France and Britain.

The authoritative newspaper, La Tribuna, said today in its first expression of editorial opinion on the German remilitarization of the Rhineland that France and Great Britain were the nations really responsible for breaking the Locarno pact.

"The Locarno pact," said La Tribunia, "was destroyed by a blow from without and also by violent blows from within."

The "blow from without," said the paper, "was the Franco-Soviet treaty. The "blows from within" were described as British naval concentration in the Mediterranean, Franco-British naval coöperation in the Mediterranean, and the sanctionist policy against Italy.

Recall Flandin's Words.

La Tribuna cited two French newspapers on the eve of Italy's reply to the League of Nations' appeal for peace between Italy and Ethiopia as quoting the French foreign minister, Pierre-Etienne Flandin, as saying: "If Italy does not consent and if she wants war, she will have it."

La Tribuna then said: "What do the real people of France think of this, knowing that, with Premier Mussolini, they have in common, among other things, a frontier which demands the presence of hundreds of thousands of men."

DEFECTIVES FLEE HOME AT TALK OF 'MERCY KILLING'

Portland, Ore., March 16.—[Special.]—Suggestions of a college professor for chloroforming mental defectives today threw inmates of the state home for feeble-minded into a panic and five escaped. Two were captured a few hours later.

Dr. S. B. Laughlin, professor of sociology at Willamette university, Salem, recently stated that Oregon could save $150,000 a year by a program of mercy killings of hopelessly feeble-minded.

News of the idea today spread to inmates of the state home for feeble-minded and panic ensued. Patients tearfully inquired of officials if they were included on the list of condemned. Five of the more badly frightened fled.

Officials of the home feared further breaks unless methods to quiet the inmates could be found.

Nazis to Hold Jews Hostages for Race's Actions Abroad

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 16.—Nazi authorities today warned Jewish welfare associations that their directors will be arrested as hostages unless they break off all relations with German Jews who fled abroad even if the latter are helping collect funds for needy Jews.

The associations will be controled closely to make sure they break off relations with refugees. Simultaneously, Jews were instructed to warn refugees working in welfare associations they would be arrested immediately if they set foot in Germany.

That a new wave against Jews has begun can also be seen in the measures taken by Julius Lippert, Nazi commissar of Berlin. He dissolved the council of fifteen men chosen by the Jewish congregations under his official control and replaced it with a council of seven men of his own choice, including Paul Kareski, against whom leading Jews protested repeatedly. Lippert cited a decree of 1847 as his legal basis for revising the Jewish council.

Jewish relatives of men killed in action in the world war and buried in local cemeteries have received a warning from secret police that no attempt shall be made to honor the memory of their war dead, especially in Jewish cemeteries. All memorial ceremonies of Jewish war dead have been canceled.

Polish Troubles Spread.

WARSAW, March 16.—(AP)—Anti-Jewish disturbances gained momentum in many sections of Poland today. A bomb demolished the clinical and medical offices of the Jewish Red Cross in Grodno and wrecked the local branch of the Ford Motor company, across the street from the medical offices. A synagogue was bombed in Sosnowiecz. Several Jews were injured by attacks on the streets of Lodz.

Demands Austria Act.

VIENNA, March 16.—(AP)—The anti-Semitic movement in Austria gained momentum today as Leo Kunschak, head of the Catholic Labor union, demanded that the state "stop acting like an ostrich in respect to Jews." Kunschak counseled action at a mass-meeting of members of his private army—the freiheitsbund.

GERMANY LIMITS CASH PAID OUT BY RHINELAND BANKS

STRASBOURG, France, March 16.—(AP)—Officials in the German Rhineland today ordered withdrawals from bank deposits limited as residents of several towns sought to take out their funds in fear of war.

The bank at Bergzabern, across the frontier from Wissembourg, limited withdrawals to 40 marks [$16] for each depositor. At Saarlouis the limit was 30 marks [$12].

Residents of Trier were reported seeking to deposit their money in Holland or France.

GUNMAN TELLS OF 1,000 CRIMES IN 7 YEARS HERE

Girl Companion Is Seized After Shooting.

A seven year career of crime in Chicago, during which he committed more than a thousand robberies and burglaries, was related to Irving Park police yesterday by Charles Novak, 33 years old, a paroled New York convict. He was captured on Sunday following a six mile automobile chase over northwest side streets after he had shot a manufacturers in trying a burglary.

Novak's story to the police was an amazing disclosure of seven years of systematic robbery and burglary. In his home at 1032 West 48th street the police found a large map of the south and west sides of the city. On this map, with his home as center, he had described concentric circles, circumscribing the area where the crimes were committed—nearly the entire scope of the map.

Maps Crimes Carefully.

As carefully as a salesman analyzing his territory in a legitimate business enterprise, Novak had drawn first one circle with a radius of an inch. When he had "exhausted" the environs of this circle he drew another one with a two inch radius and continued his thefts in this larger area. In all, he had drawn eight such circles.

He always worked alone, Novak told the police, and had never been caught. He said he averaged about three burglaries a week, looting homes usually during the daytime after ascertaining no one was in.

Most of the jewelry taken in the robberies was sold for "junk gold," according to the police, and Novak had an average annual income of between $3,000 and $4,000, although the jewelry in its original form was worth $30,000 or $40,000.

Jeweler Buys Loot.

Alex R. Junievicz, 52 years old, owner of a jewelry store at 3317 South Halsted street, was questioned after Novak said he disposed of some of his loot through Junievicz's store.

The jeweler admitted buying goods from Novak, but said Novak represented the valuables to be old gold and silver he had purchased. Police sealed Junievicz's safe and on Thursday all the articles in it will be put on display to be viewed by victims of recent burglaries.

The chase and capture of Novak followed his attempt to break into an apartment at 5013 North Major avenue. He shot and critically wounded Frederick G. Kaeding, 54 years old, president of the Phoenix Trimming company, textile manufacturers, when Kaeding sought to trap him in the apartment. Kaeding, who lives next door at 5011 North Major avenue, was reported in a serious condition at the Swedish Covenant hospital yesterday.

Two Young Girls in Custody.

Miss Mary Sager, 17 years old, who had been living with Novak in a rooming house at 2517 Jackson boulevard since last Thursday, and her sister, Joan, 18 years old, were taken into custody for questioning by police yesterday. The girls were found in their home at 3409 Lituanica avenue. Joan was released last night.

Novak's wife, Jean, 25 years old, told the police that her husband several months ago informed her he was in love with a 17 year old girl. Despite this, Mrs. Novak said she would stand by her husband. They have two daughters, Helen, 5 years old, and Eleanore, 3 years old.

Novak was paroled seven years ago from the New York reformatory at Elmira. He was married in 1930, but not until last September, his wife said, did she learn his profession.

SUPT. W. J. BOGAN HAS A SETBACK IN LONG ILLNESS

The condition of Superintendent of Schools William J. Bogan, who is suffering from heart trouble in his home at 741 Gordon terrace, has had a setback in his long illness, according to his physician, Dr. Sylvan Coombs.

"Mr. Bogan is very weak," Dr. Coobs said. "There has not been much change during the day, but his condition varies hour by hour. Sometimes he appears better, and at other times worse. His condition is unchanged tonight.

Last Tuesday Mr. Bogan suffered a relapse after returning from a three weeks' stay in the Presbyterian hospital where he was treated for intestinal trouble and where he was weakened by a nine day attack of hiccoughs. On Wednesday, however, he was thought to be on the road to recovery

Engagement in Dublin Canceled

EFFICIENCY DRIVE FAILS IN RUSSIA; BLAME SABOTAGE

MOSCOW, March 16.—(AP)—The soviet government admitted tonight development of the Stakhanoff [efficiency] movement to increase industrial production has failed to live up to expectations and ordered immediate steps to eradicate sabotage and burocracy held responsible for the failure.

Directors of the chief branches of heavy industry and managers of many factories and mines were summoned into conference by Commissar of Heavy Industry Ordzhonikidze, who told them the shortcomings of production must be overcome in April.

Official figures revealed that in numerous instances not only have expected increases failed to materialize, but production has even fallen short of annual plan requirements.

A noteworthy example was furnished by coal mines in the Don basin, where the Stakhanoff movement originated. Production in these mines for January, February and the first part of March were considerably below the plan. The newspaper Izvestia laid the principal blame for this failure to sabotage.

Fatal Injury to Woman Remains Unexplained

A coroner's jury yesterday was unable to determine the cause of injuries which resulted in the death last Friday of Mrs. Mary Sherlock, 80 years old, 510 West 46th street. Mrs. Sherlock told physicians at the County hospital that her son Philip, struck her. The son and neighbors testified a bed fell on Mrs. Sherlock. Sherlock was charged by police with disorderly conduct and will be arraigned today in Stockyards court.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 16.—The scheduled week's appearance of Jack Doyle, Irish heavyweight boxer, and his wife, Judith Allen, in a Dublin theater, was canceled today following a hostile demonstration by theater patrons when the engagement was announced last night. A sign was posted today saying that the appearance had been canceled because of indisposition of Mrs. Doyle. Catholics are incensed by Doyle's marriage to Miss Allen, who previously was divorced.

Four and one-half hours after a coroner's jury recommnded that Peter Krisoulas, 39 years old, be held to the grand jury yesterday for the murder of Irving Fehlberg, 36 years old, in the Midwest theater last Saturday, he had been indicted by the grand jury and arraigned before Chief Justice Denis J. Normoyle of the Criminal court. State's Attorney Courtney had ordered speedy action in the case and was present at the arraignment.

Krisoulas confessed that he shot and killed Fehlberg, assistant manager of the theater, because he feared Fehlberg was going to turn him over to the police for molesting a 12 year old girl. Theater attachés said they saw him annoy the girl. Krisoulas fled after the shooting, but was captured on Sunday when he returned to his home at 3633 South Hamilton avenue.

ACQUIT MAYOR OF STICKNEY ON VICE CHARGES

William C. Loeffler, president of the village of Stickney, was acquitted of a charge of malfeasance in office by a jury in Judge Robert C. O'Connell's Criminal court last evening. The prosecution had charged that Loeffler allowed vice, gambling and immoral dancing in his village without making any effort to stop it.

The jurors reached their verdict after deliberating for one hour and thirty minutes. The verdict came within 15 minutes after the jurors were served sandwiches for their dinner. It was reported that from the start they had been in favor of acquitting Loeffler, a country town district leader of the Democratic party, who charged in his defense that he was the victim of a political conspiracy by rival Democrats.

Loeffler Thanks the Jurors.

Loeffler, a rotund little man, was overjoyed by the quick verdict. He thanked the jurors and shook hands with each of them.

"I thank you for finding me not guilty," he said. "I really am not guilty of this charge and your verdict is a just one."

Assistant State's Attorney David Leeds, in his final plea to the jury, declared that Loeffler's failure to close houses of prostitution and gambling resulted in Stickney's being "a cesspool of vice and immorality."

Loeffler was given a list of these places by the state's attorney's office in 1934 but failed to do anything to suppress law violations, the prosecutor declared.

A dance called "The Limit," performed in the Silver Slipper taxi dance hall at 3943 South Harlem avenue, Stickney, was also referred to by Leeds. Testimony of Marcia O'Hara, a former Silver Slipper hostess, concerning this dance was one of the highlights of the trial. The girl told how the lights would be turned out when "The Limit" was announced and said that then "anything would go."

Capt. Gilbert a Witness.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney, was a rebuttal witness for the state yesterday morning.

Gilbert said that in May, 1935, he called Loeffler to the state's attorney's office and asked him if he didn't know that Ralph Capone, brother of Al Capone, supplied money for the opening of the Nut House, a cabaret at 4225 South Harlem avenue, Stickney, and that the Capone syndicate was behind it "to gain a foothold in Cook county." Last September, Gilbert said, he told Loeffler the Silver Slipper was being operated by the "syndicate."

After hearing all this, Gilbert testified Loeffler replied: "I don't think they are such bad fellows." Gilbert said Loeffler told him he "saw nothing wrong with taxi dancing."

BURGLAR FLEES SHOTS.

Sergt. Frank Kohler of the Berwyn police fired several shots yesterday at a youth who was trying to break into a house at 1243 Elmwood avenue in the suburb. The youth escaped.

INCOME TAXES PAID HERE 30% OVER LAST YEAR

28 Million Collected at Deadline.

Income tax payments for the northern district of Illinois, including Chicago, totaled $28,557,005 at midnight last night, when the deadline for paying the first quarter of the tax without penalty was passed. This total represents an increase of $6,574,409 over the collections for the similar period, Jan. 1 to March 15 last year, when the total payments were $21,982,596. The increase over last year's corresponding figure is nearly 30 per cent.

Officials estimated that the payments up to midnight represented about 35 per cent of the total 1936 taxes for the district, since many small taxpayers chose to pay the entire tax rather than pay it in quarterly installments.

Comparison with Last Year.

Collections for the period from March 1 to last midnight were $18,837,589 as compared with $15,536,036 for the same period last year. On last March 20, when all the returns for the first quarter had been compiled, the district reported total collections of $23,772,902.

Since the collections this year already are $7,574,509 ahead of the comparable figures for 1935, and since many thousands of returns had not been compiled last night, the Chicago district's report on March 20 is likely to show a total well above $30,000,000.

Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, reported his office handled 25,000 returns yesterday, but more than 70,000 pieces of mail were received during the day. Of the compiled returns 97,400 were on taxable incomes, and 37,000 on nontaxable incomes. Last year's comparable figures were 83,000 and 29,000.

Federal Building Busy Place.

The number of individual returns filed prior to yesterday was 109,800, compared to 83,800 filed up to March 14, 1935. All yesterday crowds swarmed the federal building. Blanks were handed out on the first floor and on the second floor a corps of federal employés gave assistance in filling them out.

Aiding the regular force there were 125 clerks borrowed from the Works Progress administration. These clerks have been assisting the government in other taxation matters.

Mr. Harrison had deputies scattered about the city, mainly in banks and newspaper offices, helping the taxpayers fill out their blanks and computing the tax. More than 12,000 of the early returns were prepared in the two public service offices of THE TRIBUNE.

Two $2,000,000 Incomes.

The largest individual tax returns received were in the amounts of $895,000 and $733,000, on which the 25 per cent payments were made. While the exact income represented by those payments could not be ascertained, it was surmised that they represented individual incomes of $2,000,000 each. These taxes were expected to be exceeded by some corporation payments which usually arrive on the last day.

ROOSEVELT IN LAST HOUR RUSH TO MAKE INCOME TAX RETURN

Washington, D. C., March 16.—(AP)—President Roosevelt joined hundreds of others today in the last hour rush to file income tax returns.

He set aside the luncheon hour for making out the return on his 1935 income, which must be filed before midnight.

As usual, Mr. Roosevelt compiled his own return without expert assistance.

The President receives a salary of $75,000 upon which he, following precedent established twenty years ago, pays an income tax, although the law does not force him to do so. Congressmen pay income taxes as do all officials of the government.

U. S. APPROVES CHICAGO RIVER CONTROL PLANS

Construction of a lock on the Chicago river near its mouth is expected to start within a few months, according to an announcement which followed the receipt yesterday of a telegram from Washington stating that the war department had approved the plans. The project, to cost $3,000,000, is part of the sanitary district's program to comply with the United States Supreme court's decree compelling a reduction in the flow of water from Lake Michigan.

Detailed plans for the work should be completed by May 15, said Horace Ramey, assistant chief engineer of the sanitary district, and construction will probably begin a few weeks later.

Late this week, the color of the river between Fullerton avenue on the north branch and Taylor street on the south branch will change from a gray to blue-green when sewage from this area is diverted into the recently completed west side intercepting sewer. Begun in 1930, the sewer was built at a cost of $16,000,000.

DOPE ADDICT SENTENCED.

Frank Adams, 57 years old, 4150 Kenmore avenue, a dope addict, was sentenced to six months in the Bridewell for attempted larceny in a Michigan avenue shop by Judge Gibson E. Gorman in the South State street court yesterday.

WIRE SEIZURES BRING DEMANDS TO IMPEACH FCC

Turned Over Telegrams to Black "Terror."

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—A move for the impeachment of the members of the federal communications commission for illegally procuring private telegrams from the Western Union Telegrapth company and turning them over to the Black investigating committee may soon be made in the house, it was learned today.

"The matter has been brought to my attention," said Representative Randolph Perkins [Rep., N. J.], ranking minority member of the judiciary committee which passes on all impeachment motions. "The charge is an extremely serious one. I have not gone into the matter yet and have formed no opinion as to whether an impeachable offense was committed. The senate is now investigating and much will depend on the facts developed by that inquiry."

A resolution of impeachment is being prepared by at least one other representative, who said, however, that he also is awaiting further information before acting.

Senate Demands Explanation.

The senate a week ago adopted a resolution calling on the communications commission to state whether it had done the things it is accused of and, if so, by what authority it had acted. The commission has been sweating over the answer to the senate resolution which has not been forthcoming up to date.

In his injunction suit to recover telegrams from the Black committee and to enjoin their use by the inquisitors, W. R. Hearst asserted that when the Western Union hesitated to comply with the blanket senate subpena for some 5 million telegrams handled in Washington during eight months of 1935 the Black committee asked the assistance of the communications commission, which holds the power of life or death over the telegraph companies. The communications commission on Sept. 25 last, according to the Hearst complaint, adopted a resolution authorizing its agents to procure the telegrams, copy them, and furnish them to the Black committee.

Called Violation of Law.

The communications act of 1934 authorizes the commission to examine the books of telegraph companies and provides that the body shall not be prohibited from examining messages in pursuance of the regulation of accounting methods. But to copy messages and supply them to another agency for purposes other than the regulation of accounting methods, it is contended, was a violation of the law by the very agency set up to enforce it. On this circumstance is based the view that the members of the commission are properly impeachable for "high crimes and misdemeanors."

The episode recalls the warnings uttered in 1934 that the establishment of the communications commission with the vast powers conferred upon it would arm an administration disposed to dictatorship with a formidable weapon. In this case the weapon proved sufficient. The telegraph company questioned the authority of the senate blanket subpena, but it quickly surrendered to the demands of the commission, which possesses power to harass and injure financially.

Weapon Against Press.

It was also pointed out at the time that the communications commission furnished a means for cracking down on the press. The commission it was suggested might force a raise of telegraph press rates to such an extent as to lessen materially the amount of press matter dispatched from Washington. This question came to the fore soon after the creation of the commission.

In the course of the investigation of the telegraph rates by the commission, J. P. Bramhall, general counsel for the commission, directed a barrage of questions at J. C. Willever, first vice president of the Western Union Telegraph company, attacking the lower rates charged for press message than for commercial and other service.

Try to Besmirch Steiwer.

Senator Black and his colleagues on the committee endeavored today to besmirch Senator Frederick Steiwer [Rep., Ore.], who has contended on the senate floor that Black's methods of harassing foes of the New Deal violate the constitutional prohibition against unreasonable searches and seizures.

Black's committee called in Robert E. Smith of Portland, Ore., chairman of the National Conference of Investors, and elicited testimony that six congressmen shared his house during the month of August, 1935, while the Wheeler-Rayburn public utility bill was pending in congress.

Smith also testified that upwards of forty of "the boys," meaning representatives, were entertained in his home, and that three senators were included among the visitors. He named the senators as Steiwer, Dennis Chavez [Dem., N. M.], and James E. Murray [Dem., Mont.].

Names His Housemates.

The witness named his housemates, the six representatives, as Scrugham [Dem., N. Y.], Sutphin [Dem., N. J.], Cary [Dem., Ky.], Fiesinger [Dem., O.], Clark [Dem., Idaho], and Pettengill [Dem., Ind.]. He said the expenses of the household were "split seven ways."

Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach [Dem., Wash.], who did most of the questioning of Smith, sought to create the impression that "the power trust" was back of this entertainment of congressmen and that it was all very sinister, but the witness insisted that he was interested primarily in reclamation legislation and the Pettingill long and short haul bill.

"Did you or any of your congressional friends ever tell anybody you were receiving money from the power companies?" Schwellenbach asked. Smith said he didn't know and Schwellenbach persisted: "Did you tell the six congressmen with whom you were living that 90 per cent of the money you were receiving was coming from the power companies and the railroads?"

"I did not because it was not a fact," Smith replied. He insisted that the Wheeler-Rayburn bill was only "casually" mentioned, if it was discussed at all. He admitted that he sent a telegram to two west coast power executives voicing pleasure over the Supreme court's NRA decision and describing it as "a body blow" to the New Deal.

Smith testified that his organization was composed of some 1,275 presidents or former presidents of organizations interested primarily in investments and investors. Schwellenbach brought out, by his questioning, statements that the organization depended almost wholly upon utility companies and railroads for financial support. Receipts in 1934 were $23,000, Smith testified, and the conference has received about $15,000 since last September.

Hearst Subpena Served.

The examination of Smith was interrupted by the arrival of a deputy United States marshal, who called to serve a subpena on Senator Black in the injunction suit brought by Mr. Hearst against the committee and the federal communications commission.

Senator Schwellenbach made the arrival of the marshal an occasion for a speech in which he declared that "Mr. Hearst and the Liberty league are patently attempting to block this investigation ordered by unanimous vote of the senate and it is reasonable to presume that somewhere a judge will be found to issue an injunction and a deputy marshal will be riding into the senate to serve the Vice President."

'VETERANS OF FUTURE WARS' AT PRINCETON DEMAND 1965 BONUS

Princeton, N. J., March 16.—(AP)—Princeton university undergraduates, active in campus affairs, organized tonight the Veterans of Future Wars, which they proposed to expand into a national intercollegiate organization.

At the same time at Vassar college, sponsors of the Veterans of Future Wars announced the first chapter of an auxiliary society, the Association of Gold Star Mothers of Veterans of Future Wars.

In a manifesto, the officers of the veterans said the organization demanded immediate payment of a $1,000 bonus due June 1, 1965, to each member.

"Because it is customary to pay bonuses before they are due," said the manifesto, "the Veterans of Future Wars demand immediate payment plus 3 per cent compound interest annually from June 1, 1965, backward to June 1, 1936."

RAINFALL IN NORTHERN MAINE REVIVES FLOOD FEAR IN VALLEY AREAS

Boston, Mass., March 16.—(AP)—Rainfall raised new fears in flood-scourged Maine tonight just as the state was emerging from a five day onslaught of ice and water that cost one life and caused property damage of millions of dollars.

Heavy rain fell in the northern watersheds and heightened anxiety of residents on the Kennebec, Penobscot, Androscoggin, and Piscataquis rivers. At nightfall rain was general throughout the state.

WAUCONDA JOINS OTHER SUBURBS ON EASTERN TIME

The village of Wauconda in Lake county has changed from central to eastern standard time, it was announced yesterday. The village followed the example of Chicago and many of the suburbs to gain an extra hour of daylight each day all year round.

Opponents of Chicago's petition to put the railroads entering the city on eastern standard time with the rest of the community yesterday filed a brief of their objections with the interstate commerce commission. Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes said the city's brief in support of the petition is in preparation and soon would be filed. The briefs were requested by Clyde B. Aitchison, member of the interstate commerce commission, when he concluded hearings on the matter last Feb. 28.

JAILED ON GIRL'S CHARGE.

Gilbert Maier, 29 years old, 5515 Emerald avenue, was sent to the Bridewell yesterday by Municipal Judge Leon Edelman to serve out a fine of $200 for contributing to the delinquency of a 7 year old girl.

CROWD OAK PARK DOCTORS' OFFICES FOR VACCINATION

Discovery of two new cases of smallpox yesterday in the Oak Park High school brought to twelve the number of cases reported in the village since Friday when the outbreak in other western suburbs spread into Oak Park.

Dr. Frank S. Needham, Oak Park health commissioner, closed the high school at noon, but, Dr. Needham said, it will be open today with all the elementary and parochial schools in the suburb to all pupils who present certificates showing they have been vaccinated or revaccinated in the last five years.

Those who are unvaccinated, Dr. Needham said, will be quarantined with their families until March 26. During the afternoon offices of village physicians were crowded with children and adults seeking vaccinations. Employes of the village and business houses were advised to follow the same procedure.

'I DENY IT ALL,' SWEITZER REPLY TO COUNTY SUIT

Fired Treasurer Answers Demand for $733,817.

Robert M. Sweitzer, ousted county treasurer, yesterday filed an answer in the Circuit court to the suit brought against him by the county for the return of $733,817 which he is alleged to have withheld from public funds while county clerk from 1910 to 1934. The answer, drawn by Attorney I. Harvey Levinson, was in the form of a categorical denial of the county's charges.

The suit listed a multitude of transactions by which the alleged shortage accumulated. A $200,000 item in the shortage was counted twice in the suit to plug legal loopholes. It is charged that Sweitzer transferred this amount late during his term as county clerk from the tax redemption fund to make up a previous shortage of the same amount in the general fee fund.

Answer May Be Amended.

The categorical denial did not go into the merits of the county's allegations, but Attorney Levinson said he may file an amended answer which will go into detail on the transactions.

The United States Fidelity and Guaranty company, which was Sweitzer's surety while he was clerk, is a co-defendant in the action. Judge Michael Feinberg yesterday entered an order allowing the surety company until April 1 to file its answer.

Sweitzer became county treasurer in December, 1934. He was ousted from this office by the county board on June 6, 1935, because he was alleged to have withheld $414,129 of public funds from Michael J. Flynn, his successor as county clerk. Sweitzer at that time admitted he owed $335,000. The shortage, including the duplicated $200,000 item, was formally fixed at $733,817, however, for the purpose of the county's suit.

His $335,000 Never Paid.

While an audit of the clerk's office was being made last May and at the subsequent hearings before the county board, Sweitzer insisted that he "would make good any shortage as soon as convinced the figures were correct." In admitting that he owed $335,000, Sweitzer said he would produce this money as soon as he had his own audit made.

He was given extensions of time by the county board, but when he failed to bring in the money or disclose where it was, he was ousted as treasurer. Since then he has never made any offer to pay the amount he admitted was due and, so far as is known, he has never had an independent audit made.

Last Nov. 12 Sweitzer was acquitted by a jury in the Criminal court of the charge of withholding public money, but this does not affect his liability in a civil action.

MRS. BORG HIDES BABY FOLLOWING KIDNAP THREATS

Flee Apartment After Mystery Calls.

Fear that George Marshall Borg, 15 months old, may be kidnaped has caused his mother, Mrs. Juanita Borg, to go "into hiding" with the boy, it was disclosed yesterday. Attorney Samuel A. Rinella, who represented Mrs. Borg in her successful court fight last week for possession of the boy, said that his client has moved with the child from her apartment at 14 West Elm street.

On Friday Judge Michael Feinberg of the Circuit court dismissed a habeas corpus action brought by the boy's grandfather, George W. Borg, wealthy manufacturer, for the child's custody. Since then, Rinella said, Mrs. Borg received threatening telephone calls from persons apparently believing the boy may some day be heir to part of his grandfather's fortune.

"None of these calls, of course, have come from the grandfather or the boy's father, or their friends," Rinella said, "but we believed it best for Mrs. Borg and her baby to go into hiding."

Mrs. Borg has a separate maintenance suit pending against her husband, George Marshall Borg, son of George W. Borg. Rinella said there is a possibility that the couple may become reconciled, in which event the suit will be dropped. The father will visit the boy today.

DR. JACOB FRANK, NOTED SURGEON, REACHES 80 MARK

During the world war he was a lieutenant colonel in the medical corps. He has been in poor health for several months. More than a hundred birthday messages, including ones from Mayor Kelly and Gov. Horner, were received at the apartment.

HEAR OF COLBY CALL TO PREVENT CABLE LANDING

Army and Navy Halt 'British' Invasion.

Washington, D. C., March 16.—(AP)—An official account of a bizarre moment in 1920 when the United States dispatched warships to prevent the landing by a telegraph company of an ocean cable was published today by the state department.

Diplomatic correspondence disclosed that peace prevailed only after a hurried "war council" had mapped a campaign on land and sea and warships had been dispatched to the Florida coast with orders to use force, if necessary.

Army and Navy Called.

Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state, on July 17, 1920, informed President Wilson that Western Union, which he described as "a British cable company," planned to land a cable at Miami to connect the Barbados, "in defiance of law," and despite the fact they had no permit from this government. He requested assistance from the army, navy, and department of justice.

The company already had "a monopoly of cable facilities to Brazil, to the rigorous exclusion of American lines," Colby declared.

President Wilson authorized any action deemed necessary and on July 31—after receiving information that the British cable ship Colonia was en route from Plymouth to land the cable at Miami—a council was held by Secretary of War Baker, Admiral Coontz, acting secretary of the navy, and other high officials.

Secretary Baker stated he was prepared "to take necessary steps" to prevent laying the cable from the sand bar at Miami into the ocean and had issued the necessary orders to the commanding officer of the southeastern department of the army.

Navy Patrols Beach.

Admiral Coontz said he "had already dispatched two destroyers and a sub-chaser to prevent the landing from the high seas," and Admiral Decker, commandant at Key West, had been ordered to the scene.

A decision also was reached "that if a cable was landed it would be cut at once and hauled beyond the three mile limit."

Through August, September, October, and November the American army, navy, and marine corps patroled the beach near Miami. An American destroyer trailed the cable ship but made no effort to interfere outside the three mile limit.

The state department, during those same months, engaged in note writing and diplomatic discussions with the British authorities. Just before the three mile limit was reached the British government ordered the Colonia to refrain from dropping any cable in American waters.

94 OF 100 AUTOS BEAT SPEED LAW ON BOULEVARDS

Motor Club Cites Survey; Calls Limits Too Low.

BY HAL FOUST.

More than 94 per cent of the trafic on Chicago's boulevard system is moving faster than the speed limits posted by the Chicago park district, according to a survey completed yesterday by the Chicago Motor club.

"The posted speed limits are out of step with motoring conditions," said Z. A. Faulkner, motor club engineer. "The excessively low posted limits have not curbed recklessness and have not reduced the average travel pace.

"With the bulk of trafic moving five to ten miles an hour faster than the posted limit, a general disrespect is created for speed limits. Anyone obeying the signs is an obstruction and a menace to those traveling at a normal pace. And 94 per cent of the motorists are subject to arrest if any policeman wants to issue a few tickets."

Too Slow and Too Fast.

For two days, the engineer clocked north bound automobiles picked at random between 8:30 and 9:30 a. m. in a section of Leif Ericson drive, north of Oakwood boulevard, which has a posted limit of 40 miles an hour. He found some reckless driving, recklessly slow as well as recklessly fast.

The engineer counted 8 cars going between 30 and 34 miles per hour; 17 between 35 and 39 miles per hour; 76 between 40 and 44 miles per hour; 114 between 45 and 49 miles per hour; 197 between 50 and 59 miles per hour; 29 between 60 and 69 miles per hour; and 12 between 70 and 80 miles per hour.

"Those doing between 45 and 60 can not be condemned severely," said Mr. Faulkner, "when it was apparent to them that the 40 mile an hour signs are meaningless. Nobody knows how fast he can drive without being pinched. He knows, however, that to stay within the posted limit exposes a car to a bump in the rear."

Several Others Clocked.

Some of the other stop watch reports on speeds are as follows: North bound in Western boulevard near 53d street, posted at 25 miles per hour; one car was doing between 20 and 24 miles per hour; 25 between 25 and 29 miles per hour; 138 between 30 and 34 miles per hour; 56 between 35 and 39 miles per hour; 23 between 40 and 44 miles per hour; 6 between 45 and 49 miles per hour; and 3 between 50 and 59 miles per hour.

South bound in Sheridan road near Thorndale avenue, posted at 30 miles per hour, Faulkner found 40 cars doing less than 30 miles per hour; 138 between 30 and 34 miles per hour; 82 between 35 and 39 miles per hour; 13 between 40 and 44 miles per hour; and 2 between 45 and 49 miles per hour.

Seventeen Obey the Law.

North bound in the outer drive near Lincoln park gun club, posted at 30 miles per hour, there were 17 doing between 20 and 30 miles per hour; 88 between 30 and 34 miles per hour; 110 between 35 and 39 miles per hour; 130 between 40 and 44 miles per hour; 68 between 45 and 49 miles per hour; 35 between 45 and 49 miles per hour; and 2 between 60 and 69 miles per hour.

TOMMY TOUHY GOES ON TRIAL IN MAIL HOLDUP

Minneapolis, Minn., March 16.—[Special.]—"Terrible Tommy" Touhy went on trial here today in United States District court as the leader of the machine gun gang which took $78,000 in a mail holdup at the Minneapolis Milwaukee depot on Jan. 3, 1933.

Touhy rode into the court of Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye in a wheel chair, attended by two unarmed deputy marshals. Nine jurors were selected this afternoon.

Virtually the last of the gang which at its height was rivaled only by the organization of Al Capone, the weakened condition of the son of a onetime Chicago policeman was symbolic of the low estate to which the Touhy gang has fallen.

Two of his followers are serving long terms imposed by the same judge before whom Touhy is being tried. Two more, Leon Epmeier and William Barry, have pleaded guilty in the mail robbery and will appear as witnesses against their former chief.

George Sullivan, United States district attorney, is conducting the prosecution. Touhy's defense will be that he was ill the day of the robbery and was not in Minneapolis.

French, 52 years old, vice president of the Southern Coal company, died yesterday in the Ingalls Memorial hospital of injuries incurred in the collision involving three automobiles Sunday night at 147th street and Indiana avenue. His death was the third resulting from the accident in which six other persons were injured.

The other dead victims were George J. Kellerman, 54 years old, 8306 Justine street, and his wife, Lydia, 53 years old. Riding with the Kellermans, who were driving west on 147th street, was Mrs. Alberta Bohnhoff, 63 years old, Valley City, N. D., an aunt and guest of the couple. She was reported in a critical condition yesterday at the Wesley Memorial hospital.

Three Autos Involved.

Witnesses said the accident occurred when French, driving south in Indiana avenue, passed a stop sign and collided with the Kellerman car, which swerved across the highway and struck a third car parked at the roadside containing four persons.

Mr. French with two of his children, Marion, 14 years old, and William, 5 years old, were on the way to the Flossmoor Country club. The French family home is at 7214 South Shore drive.

WPA TO TRAIN RELIEF WOMEN FOR JOBS IN PRIVATE HOUSEHOLDS

Training girls and women on the relief rolls for jobs as household workers in private homes will be started immediately with a special federal grant of $40,000, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Mary G. Moon, director of women's projects for the Works Progress administration in Illinois.

Success of the program in reducing the relief burden is assured from the start, Mrs. Moon said, on the basis of results of an experimental WPA training school at Rockford. There 100 girls were trained in household duties and every one of them was able to get a job, she said.

Complete courses in every branch of household work will be given in twelve classes of fifty each, six of which will be in Chicago. Evanston and Aurora have each been assured one class. Locations of the others have not been determined.

MOTHER IS HELD UNFIT BECAUSE OF RED BELIEFS

A communistic mother was branded as unfit to raise a child yesterday by Judge Mark B. Rockwell of the Porter county Superior court in Valparaiso, Ind., who ruled that Walter Vlanish, 4 years old, should be returned to his father, Michael, of East Chicago.

The Vlanichs were divorced last December in East Chicago. The father, a world war veteran, kept a 12 year old daughter, Mary, who is an invalid. Mrs. Mary Vlanich took the son. Shortly after the divorce the father filed suit in Lake county to get the custody of the boy. The litigation was moved to Porter county on a change of venue.

Judge Rockwell ruled that a woman who believed in communism, who attended communist meetings, and who has no use for the church, is not qualified for motherhood.

"Communism has no place in the United States and this is the first case of its kind to come to my attention," said the judge. "No ruling can be too drastic."

TRAP BRITON IN KIDNAP HOAX ON BARBARA HUTTON

Promised to Reveal Plot Against Baby.

MANCHESTER, England, March 16.—(AP)—A jobless Englishman was jailed today after police said he admitted attempting to extort £200 [about $1,000] by an offer to disclose a kidnap plot against the three weeks' old son of Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz - Reventlow, American heiress.

Police said Alfred Molyneux, 31, of Lancashire, confessed to the plot, saying:

"I admit I wrote the letter, knowing perfectly well that I know of no such plot or any persons who intended to kidnap the child. I wrote it in moments of depression as I am without money and with a wife and two children to support on 30 shillings [$7.50] a week. I sincerely regret my action and hope I have not caused the count and countess any worry or anxiety."

Sets Meeting Place.

A letter Molyneux had written to the countess, which she turned over to her lawyer, who in turn gave it to police, told her:

"Let your messenger be outside the long bar at the Gaumont picture theater March 14 at 7 p. m. and let him have a red silk handkerchief in his left hand.

"He will be asked, 'daily?'" and must reply, 'no, weekly.'

"If you intend to heed this, put an answer in the personal column of the Manchester Evening Chronicle March 12."

The advertisment was inserted and an inspector bearing a dummy package stood outside the theater as directed while other detectives watched near by. Molyneux ,it was testified at a hearing today, was arrested when he appeared and received the package.

The Pretended Plot.

Detective Inspector Forster testified the countess received a letter March 7 at her London home reading:

"Dear countess:

"I have read of your having a charming little son. Now don't get panicky.

"You should know that two men have left Manchester to kidnap this son and you'd be surprised to hear what elaborate plans have been made for his confinement while they wait for the ransom they intend to demand from you.

"If you would learn of these plans please send some one to meet me in Manchester at once and I will let you know what I know.

"Do not get the police or I shan't talk. Please be sure to bring £200 in treasury notes."

Mentions Revenge.

The letter added "that I am doing this for revenge money does not matter so much" and gave instructions as to where the contact should take place.

The countess' baby was born Feb. 24. The countess, heir to about twenty millions from the Woolworth estate was married last May to the Danish nobleman Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow.

She had been divorced the day before from Prince Alexis Mdivani, who was killed last August in an automobile wreck in Spain. He was a brother of Prince Serge Mdivani, fatally injured Sunday in a polo accident in Florida.

GRANTED DIVORCE

MRS. ELIZABETH STEARNS.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stearns, 28 years old, 845 North Michigan avenue, testified yesterday before Judge Philip Finnegan in the Circuit court that her husband, Dr. Alexander L. Stearns, believed in the "soviet idea of week-end marriage." She was married to Dr. Stearns in March, 1935, shortly after his arrival from Russia, Mrs. Stearns said, and he told her he did not expect the marriage to be permanent. They separated last September. Judge Finnegan granted her a divorce.

Flower Vendor Ordered to Keep Dog Out of Loop

Dan Johnson, 22 years old, 542 North Clark street, was arraigned yesterday before Judge Gibson E. Gorman in the South State street court on a charge of selling goods without a license. With Johnson appeared his dog "Lightning." Policeman H. C. McWilliams told the court that "Lightning" was perched on a box at Clark and Randolph streets Sunday with a tin cup tied around his neck and a sign reading "buy a flower" while Johnson stood nearby. Judge Gorman placed Johnson on probation for six months, ordered him to get a license, and warned him and the dog to stay away from the loop.

RAPS MEXICAN EMPLOYERS WHO CRITICIZE LABOR

President Will Not Curb Right to Strike.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, March 16.—President Lazaro Cardenas voiced a strong pro-labor stand, but promised "all my acts will be governed by the law," in replying today to the letter of various industrial groups urging him to curb the left wing tendencies of the Mexican labor movement.

The letter had criticized Cardenas for several speeches during recent labor troubles in which he appeared to condone strikers' actions which "constituted a grave menace to the economic and financial security of Mexico."

"I do not consider that in the case of strikes arbitrary rulings by the government are imperative," the president replied. "They would quash the right to strike, which would be illegal."

Too Much Leeway.

The employers in their letter attacked a recent statement by Cardenas at Monterrey—one that "the laws should be interpreted in a revolutionary sense."

[The revolutionary party is the government party in Mexico.]

"Your statement lends itself to the commission of numberless and grave abuses, owing to the grave and extreme elasticity of the concept," the employers continued. They point out that the supreme court of justice seems more interested in "interpreting" the law in a revolutionary sense than in resolving the case at hand.

The industrialists attacked another Cardenas statement at Monterrey that "employers tired of the social struggle may turn over their plants to the workers or to the government." Employers said this they would not do "because the laws protect us, and because in many cases we are no more than trustees of other people's capital." They pointed out that the constitution recognizes private property rights.

But, they said, the standards of justice are frequently violated in Mexico "which destroys the right of property." They pointed to the seizure of sisal ranches and factories in Yucatan, and strikes in Mexico City forcing the closing of a factory and three stores.

The employers speak of distrust and uncertainty and declare agricultural credit is lacking. They charge the attacks of trade unions on management is beyond the law and approaches communism. They express doubt that the country will be able to survive the disorders and violence. They end saying, "We shall comply with the laws, scrupulously, but we also demand that workers and authorities do observe them."

The president today replies that he has not received such coöperation as he would have liked from commerce, industry, and banking during the recent labor disputes.

"A continued pessimistic attitude and the utterance of frequent alarmist declarations are certainly not a proof of coöperation," Cardenas insisted.

He cited figures showing import and export totals to be the most favorable in years and declared the systematic pessimism of the employers was unjustified.

Part of National Economy.

With regard to the Monterrey criticism, Cardenas replied:

"The government has no desire that any industrial concern renounce its rights and hand over its productive capacity to the men or the government, but it should be borne in mind that owners are working for their exclusive benefit under generous conditions, and they must realize that basically their enterprises are a part of the national ecanomy, and social interests are injured when they cease to carry out their functions."

PEARL BUCK'S ADOPTED SONS FROM CRADLE

The two infant boys whose adoption was announced on Saturday by Pearl S. Buck, novelist, and her husband, Richard J. Walsh, were taken from the Cradle in Evanston, it was revealed yesterday by a search of the records in the county clerk's office. The babies, one four weeks old and the other four and a half weeks old, were adopted on March 10. Miss Buck and her husband, who live near Perkasie, Pa., appeared at the county building and signed the adoption papers, said Ralph Ellsworth Batten, attorney for the Cradle. They were named Richard Stulting Walsh and John Stulting Walsh.

SPAIN DECLARES 'STATE OF ALARM' TO HALT VIOLENCE

Red Mob Raids Estate of President Zamora.

MADRID, March 16. — (AP) — The Spanish cabinet tonight agreed to declare a state of alarm for a period of one month throughout the entire country after a series of political disorders which extended even to a raid by an alleged Red mob on the estate of President Niceto Alcala Zamora.

The president signed a decree providing for the revision of all proceedings whereby Jesuit property was to be returned to the Society of Jesus. All orders authorizing the property return were suspended for reëxamination. He signed another decree prohibiting the removal from the country of currency sums in excess of 5,000 pesetas [$288].

Raid Estate of Aunt.

A mob attacked the hacienda of Senorita Gloria Torres, the 74 year old spinster aunt of the president, in Jaen province while another mob occupied the president's hacienda at Priego de Cordoba. The attackers drove off caretakers and attempted to parcel out the land and olive harvest among themselves. Several small buildings were burned.

Senorita Torres' servants barricaded her home and staved off the mob until two trucks of storm police came to the rescue. The police removed the president's aunt to the jail of the city of Jaen for her personal safety. Also guarded there were three local priests and the Marquess de las Fuentes del Moral.

Circles close to the president said he is prepared to present his resignation "at the moment he may deem opportune." He was said to be "seriously upset" by the recent developments in the political situation.

Dictator's Son Jailed.

Jose Antonio Primo de Rivera, son of the late dictator, and leader of the Fascist party, was jailed on a charge of using abusive language to authorities who took him into custody for questioning several days ago. Rumors were current the government is planning to deport him to break up the Fascist movement in Spain.

The lifting of a strict censorship in Logrono, where severe rioting took place Saturday night, disclosed that four of six convents which were fired by mobs were completely destroyed instead of the two at first reported.

Syndicalists in Logrono declared a 24 hour strike as a protest against the killing of Julio de la Fuente, one of the extremist leaders killed in the rioting. The government prolonged the state of alarm at Logrono as a precautionary measure.

A heavy guard surrounded the new leftist parliament when the session began today and, although a number of persons fought for admission to the proceedings, there were no immediate disorders.

The deputies elected former Premier Diego Martinez Barrios as their president by the heaviest vote ever cast for one man for that post. He received 386 votes while the remaining 7 ballots were blank. As first vice president of the chamber, the deputies elected Prof. Luis Jiminez Asua, the Socialist who narrowly escaped assassination by alleged monarchists last week.

Fashion Is Planting Violets

In the most bewitching spots this Spring—at the very tip-top of a smart little toque, on the sunny side of a cartwheel's crown, spilling down the slope of a forward slanting brim, sometimes covering an entire hat.

And, like a true Parisienne, Fashion effects a subtle blending of the demure and the sophisticated—she seasons the fresh, young beauty of violets with the tantalizing mystery of veils—little nose veils, veils that curtain the face, veils that swathe the hat.

The three hats shown here are merely representative of a large collection of veiled and violeted styles. The picture hat (from the French Room) is $18.50, the Junia toque $7.50. The Modern American Room hat is $10.

CONDON BALKS AT LINDY QUIZ ON NEW JERSEY SOIL

Willing to Face Questions in New York.

Trenton, N. J., March 16.—[Special.]—Dr. John F. [Jafsie] Condon, whom Gov. Harold G. Hoffman wishes to examine in the Lindbergh kidnap-slaying, has refused to come to New Jersey for questioning, it was learned tonight.

Condon, Lindbergh ransom negotiator who is due back tomorrow from a Caribbean cruise, has sent word to Hoffman that while he will not come to New Jersey for questioning he will confer in New York with the governor or his representatives.

Wants Wilentz Present.

The eccentric Bronx educator, however, has stipulated that Attorney General David T. Wilentz, prosecutor of Bruno Richard Hauptmann in the Lindbergh case, be present at the questioning.

Hoffman, who believes that Hauptmann's conviction has not solved the crime satisfactorily, has taken the attitude that the attorney general's presence virtually would make him counsel for a witness with whose testimony the governor is dissatisfied.

Hoffman, joined by C. Lloyd Fisher, Hauptmann's attorney, wants Condon to answer a number of questions about what they believe is contradictory evidence in statements and testimony he has given.

Hoffman, Wilentz Confer.

Wilentz, Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck of Hunterdon county, and Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the state police, do not agree that sufficient reason exists for subjecting Condon to further questioning.

Wilentz and Hoffman conferred today, the governor outlining the reason why he thinks Condon might not have told all he knows about the case.

Hauptmann, who won a reprieve Jan. 16, is scheduled to die in the electric chair two weeks hence.

Neighbors Support Brooks in His Governorship Race

BY PARKE BROWN.

When some 600 neighbors of Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for governor, met last night at the Howard theater hall, 1627 Howard street, it was for the purpose of giving three resounding but nonpartisan cheers for the candidate they have known as a friend for the last dozen years. But some potent Republican doctrin broke into the program with a crash.

Mayor Charles H. Bartlett of Evanston, who is considered one of the neighbors, was invited to address the meeting of the North End Neighborhood Brooks for Governor club. Because of an important meeting of the Evanston city council he was unable to accept. So he sent a letter containing his message.

Mayor Bartlett's Letter.

His communication, which was read to the overflow crowd, began by saying that if he were present he would urge "all of our neighbors and all good Republicans in the state of Illinois to vote and work" for Brooks' nomination.

"The time has come," it continued, "when the best interests of the state and the nation require that the Republican party be placed back in power. We have had nearly four years of New Deal prosperity—prosperity which has meant continued depression.

"In Illinois the people have been ridden to death financially by taxes in the form of a sales tax on all the necessities of life.

"Help Brooks—Help G. O. P."

"We have youth, energy, and ability in the person of Wayland Brooks. He has done what he could in the last four years for the Republican party. It is now time for the Republican party to help itself by helping him win this nomination.

"When he is nominated at the April primary the Republican party will have a leader and a standard bearer who will carry on to victory at the November election."

Mayor Bartlett is one of the Republican leaders along the north shore. He was one of those urged to become a candidate for the nomination for which he now backs Brooks. He has been mayor of Evanston since 1925 and was president of the Illinois Municipal league from 1928 to 1930.

Speakers at the Meeting.

Speakers for the North End Brooks club who addressed the meeting included E. W. Ranson, chairman of the executive committee; Robert E. Ferguson, president of the Howard Avenue District Business association; Ben Sargent, and Mrs. William Patterson. Brooks spoke briefly.

In a radio speech delivered in Chicago, State Senator Thomas P. Gunning of Princeton, one of the candidates against Brooks, came out as an anti-saloon man. He pledged himself to do everything in his power to abolish the saloon.

PRISON WARDEN SLAIN BY POLICE, JURY DECIDES

Sioux Falls, S. D., March 16.—(AP)—Eugene Reiley, warden of the South Dakota penitentiary, who was fatally wounded on March 6 while held hostage by two fleeing convicts and their accomplice, was killed by police bullets, a coroner's jury decided today.

The jury, which returned its verdict after hearing testimony from twelve witnesses, expressed the belief that pursuing officers did not know Reiley had been kidnaped.

"We find," the verdict said, "that said bullets were fired by said police officers in the discharge of their official duties and that said death was not felonious."

The inquest did not touch upon the deaths of Berlan Meisel, 22 year old Webster motorist, and Phil Ray, a convict, who also lost their lives after the break.

Morgan Raises Employes' Pay Above That of 1929

New York, March 16.—(AP)—The New York Times says J. P. Morgan & Co. have canceled all reductions in employes' salaries put into effect during the depression and in addition have made a general increase, raising the salary levels above those of 1929, effective March 1. Restoration of depression salary cuts has not been unusual among Wall street brokerage and investment houses in the last six months.

4 BREATHE INTO A MAN'S THROAT TO SAVE HIS LIFE

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—Two physicians and two nurses, taking turns, breathed for more than one hour and a half into the throat of an unconscious man early today in North Hudson [N. J.], hospital to save his life.

Their emergency action was necessitated when the man's trachea, or windpipe, became clogged just below a silver tube which he is forced to keep in his throat.

The man is Martin Hart, 35 years old, of Farnumsville, Mass. Too ill to speak, his identification was obtained from officials of St. Mary's hospital, Hoboken, where he had been treated previously.

For two hours longer oxygen was administered. Tonight he was so weakened by the attack that his condition continued to be serious.

KILLED BY HIT-RUN DRIVER.

Herrin, Ill., March 16.—[Special.]—James Murray died of a skull fracture today after being hit by an automobile near Marion.

Kelly Cites Own Record in Reply to Charge.

Further attempts to make Mayor Kelly the issue in the Democratic governorship primary were made yesterday in a radio speech which Gov. Horner had intended to deliver but could not because of being delayed in Quincy with a sore throat. The address was read by Attorney James M. Slattery, one of the Horner leaders in Cook county.

Charges that the mayor is a "boss" were made with increasing repetition in the speech which Slattery read into a WLS microphone. Mayor Kelly was accused also of attempting to block the appointment of Michael L. Igoe as United States attorney and of trying to prevent State's Attorney Courtney's renomination.

To all of this the mayor replied by pointing to the 800,000 vote which elected him last year, adding: "In the last few years Gov. Horner has said some nice things about me and I refuse to disgrace my city by washing dirty linen in public. I will not enter into the controversy."

Predicts an Overthrow Here.

In the course of the speech the governor said:

"I know the political history of Cook county and I know that while 'bosses' may come and go, they have never reigned long, and that once public sentiment was aroused their vaunted power vanished overnight.

"Boss Kelly has defended himself against the charge that he had dictated to his pay rollers and others he could influence in their choice of a candidate for governor by saying: 'I have nothing against Henry Horner—he just doesn't belong.'

"He's right. Henry Horner doesn't belong—to him, or to any other boss, or to any set of bosses. Boss Kelly has found out that I don't belong. And he has found out that others don't 'belong.' One year ago he found out that Michael Igoe didn't belong. And when Igoe's name was presented to the President of the United States as a candidate for district attorney, Boss Kelly tried by every subtle and subterranean means to prevent his appointment.

Refers to Fight on Roosevelt.

"But at Washington there is another man who doesn't 'belong,' according to the Kelly standards. It is no other than President Roosevelt, to defeat whom for the nomination in 1932 Boss Kelly, in combination with the bosses of Tammany and other eastern states' bosses, labored in vain.

"And the national administration turned a deaf ear to Boss Kelly's plea against Igoe, just as it turned a deaf ear to Boss Kelly when he was forced to pay from $105,000 to $110,000 to the federal government on his income of $450,000 during the years 1926, 1927, and 1928."

Speaking of Courtney, the speech said: "He defied the boss and the boss became as panic stricken as he is at the present day. He offered terms, and when they were rejected, he made an abject surrender, trying to place the blame for his own political blunder upon the shoulders of others.

"I have mentioned only a few of those whom the boss believes do not 'belong.' There are others. They include all of those who were the intimate friends and associates of the late Mayor Anton J. Cermak."

The governor ended his several days' rest in Quincy and arrived here last night. In his suite in the Congress hotel he signed five senate bills passed ten days ago by the general assembly to revise sections of the occupational diseases act which had been held unconstitutional. The signing ceremony was attended by Oliver E. Mount, secretary of the American Steel foundries, as representative of the employers, and Victor Olander, Federation of Labor.

ROOSEVELT TO BE IN GEORGIA RACE IF THERE IS ONE

Atlanta, Ga., March 16.—(AP)—President Roosevelt will be entered in a presidential preference primary in Georgia—if called—whether or not Governor Eugene Talmadge, his bitter critic, is a candidate.

This announcement was made today by Marion Allen, Georgia campaign manager for the president, following upon the call of Chairman Hugh Howell for Talmadge's state democratic executive committee to meet April 15 to decide the primary question.

IS ALD. JACKSON A REPUBLICAN OR A DEMOCRAT?

Election Board Must Rule on His Candidacy.

Whether Ald. Robert R. Jackson [3d] is legally a Republican or a Democrat was one of thousands of questions the board of election commissioners was asked to decide yesterday during its third day of hearings on 141 objections which have been filed against the nominating petitions of candidates for ward committeeman.

The board also heard charges that circulators of petitions were intimidated in efforts to make them sign affidavits that they hadn't circulated petitions. Decisions are being withheld on all cases until every objection has been heard. Hearings are to be concluded today if possible as the board must certify the bona fide candidates to the county clerk by Thursday so their names can be placed on the ballots.

Dispute Over Primary Vote.

The politics of Ald. Jackson, candidate for Republican committeeman of the 3d ward, were questioned by Oscar De Priest, former congressman and the present committeeman, who is a candidate for reëlection. De Priest offered evidence to show that Jackson asked for a Democratic ballot in the mayoral primary of Feb. 26, 1935. As Jackson's petition for committeeman was signed by Republicans it was claimed his candidacy is invalid.

Jackson denied asking for a Democratic ballot and said the poll register books are subject to error. He was supported by the testimony of polls officials.

In defense of the petition of Henry J. Donahue, Horner candidate for Democratic committeeman in the 5th ward, it was charged that the opposition had carried "river ward" tactics into the Hyde Park district. The principal witness was Carl Tufo, 5510 Harper avenue, Horner precinct captain, who said deputy sherifs had tried to force circulators of Donahue's petitions to deny they had done so.

Charge Workers Threatened.

A similar charge was made against Justin Antonovitch, a deputy bailif of the Municipal court. He was said to have made threats against workers for Stanley Henry Kunz, former alderman and congressman. Kunz is candidate for Democratic committeeman with Horner support against Ald. Joseph P. Rostenkowski in the 32d ward.

On petition of John V. Clinnin, candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, Edmund K. Jarecki, county judge, said yesterday he would issue credentials to non partisan groups as special watchers at the polls on April 14, primary day. He said he could not under the law permit the watchers to accompany election officials on their canvass of registrations.

WAIT TO SEE IF LINER'S CREW IS HELD ON MUTINY

New York, March 16.—(AP)—Offices of the Panama-Pacific line withheld direct comment today on the possibility of arrest on mutiny charges of certain crew members on the liner California, accused of delaying her sailing from San Pedro, Cal., for three days.

A spokesman, however, said: "It remains to be seen whether the men will be arrested when the ship docks here. The California is due Wednesday at 8:30 or 9 o'clock."

The episode has brought a clash of opinion between two members of President Roosevelt's cabinet—Secretary of Commerce Roper, who has requested the department of justice act against the seamen, and Secretary of Labor Perkins, who contended the seamen has simply gone on strike and were not mutineers.

William Green joined Charlton Ogburn, chief counsel for the American Federation of Labor, in an opinion today that the strike was not mutiny.

"If what that crew did was mutiny how and when can seamen strike?" asked Green, president of the federation.

SONSTEBY PLAYS POLITICS, JUDGE CASEY CHARGES

Asserts Chief Justice Is Trying to Use Jurors.

Judge Edward B. Casey of the Municipal court charged yesterday that Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby is using his office for political purposes by calling needless numbers of voters for jury service and then making political speeches to them.

"Instead of going out to the voters," Judge Casey said, "the chief justice is making the voters come to his courtroom to hear his political talks." He said the judge addressed about 250 prospective jurors for 35 minutes in a locked courtroom yesterday.

Jurors' View of Talk.

Several of the jurors, when asked about the speech, said they did not consider it a political talk, but that the chief justice dwelt upon the improvement in the Municipal court under his administration.

"I did not see any connection," one juror said, "between my duty as a juror and the recital of what has been done by the Municipal court under Judge Sonsteby."

Casey Cites Some Figures.

To prove that too many are summoned for Municipal court jury service Judge Casey cited the following table showing the number of persons drawn for jury duty compared with the actual number who served in the Criminal, Superior, Circuit, and Municipal courts during the year ended Oct. 31, 1935:

	Number drawn	Number serving
Criminal court	6,752	3,988
Superior court	6,175	3,734
Circuit court	4,873	2,853
Municipal court	6,120	1,841

Judge Casey, who is . candidate for the Republican nomination for chief justice of the Municipal court, charged also that Chief Justice Sonsteby, who is seeking reëlection on the Democratic ticket, is "handpicking" jurors instead of carrying out selections by lot.

BATTLE CERTAIN FOR CONTROL OF ILLINOIS HOUSE

G. O. P. Seeks 93 Seats and Democrats 95.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Spirited struggles for control of the Illinois house of representatives will be made by both parties at the November election. This prospect became evident yesterday upon disclosure by the senatorial district committees of their decisions on how many house nominations will be sought at next month's primaries. It was indicated that the Democrats will try for a maximum of 95 seats, and the Republicans for 93 seats.

In at least 20 districts—12 of the 19 in Cook county and 8 of the 32 downstate—there will be no contests. Each of Illinois' 51 senatorial districts is entitled to three members of the house. In these 20 "no contest" districts the majority party plans to nominate two candidates and the other only one candidate—a total of three. Hence after the primaries these districts will be known as "setups," because the nominees may sit back and cease fighting.

Three More "Setups" Possible.

The reason for this procedure on the part of the senatorial committees is found in Illinois' system of "proportionate" voting in legislative elections.

In three downstate districts it has not yet been decided whether each party will nominate two candidates and put on a fight or will let it go as a "setup."

Some of the larger districts in Cook county will have good fights, among them the 5th, home of Mayor Kelly, Gov. Horner, the Lindheimer brothers and a score of other politicians. Each party will nominate two in this territory, which includes Kenwood, Hyde Park, and Woodlawn.

Fights in All Quarters.

The other Cook county contests will be held in the 6th, [part of the north side and Evanston]; the 7th, the "shoestring" country towns district; the 11th [Englewood], 13th [South Shore], 23d [Oak Park and a portion of the west side], and the 31st, which borders the lake on the north side, including the Edgewater and Rogers Park communities.

No decision had been made late yesterday as to the nomination in the 8th district—Boone, Lake and McHenry counties. Each party may decide for two nominations as was done in another Chicagoland district, the 41st, Will and Du Page counties.

Real Battle in the 41st.

A first class battle is in progress in this district, where Joliet is the largest city, between seven Democrats and four Republicans. The Republican is regarded as the better fight, for former Representative John L. Walker is attempting to win back the seat he lost in 1934 to Warren L. Wood. Both men live in Joliet. Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill of Downers Grove, Illinois' pioneer woman legislator also is running again.

In two downstate districts the Republicans will attempt to eliminate Democratic representation by nominatnig three candidates. This is the situation in the 10th [Rockford] and the 39th [La Salle] districts.

The 10th district is the home of Republican Minority Leader Leroy M. Green, whose name is last on the ballot this spring. Representative David Hunter, the second Republican incumbent, also is running again. Two other Republicans are on the ballot—Clifford E. Johnson and Arthur G. Larson, both of Rockford.

COUZENS' DAUGHTER SURRENDERS HER TWO CHILDREN TO HUSBAND

Washington, D. C., March 16.—(AP)—Mrs. William Jeffries Chewning, daughter of Senator Couzens [Rep., Mich.], kissed her two small children good-by in the lobby of a hotel Sunday, and surrendered them to her husband temporarily as part of their separation agreement.

Buford Lynch, attorney for Chewning, and a maid served as intermediaries for exchange of the youngsters. Chewning was reported waiting for them in an upstairs room.

Mrs. Chewning remained at the side entrance to the hotel only a few minutes until the luggage of William Jeffries Chewning III. and his two year old sister, Margaret Anne, had been unloaded from Mrs. Chewning's car.

The boy will stay with his father at the latter's home near Fredericksburg, Va., for three months. Margaret Anne will stay only a month.

DWIGHT H. GREEN NAMED GLENN'S MANAGER HERE

Dwight H. Green, former United States district attorney, made his bow in politics yesterday. He accepted appointment as Cook county campaign manager for Otis F. Glenn, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

While Mr. Green was appointed federal prosecutor at Chicago under the Hoover administration and continued to serve for two years under the Roosevelt administration, local party leaders were undecided whether he was a Republican or a Democrat. Learning that he was on their side, the Republicans several weeks ago attempted to persuade him to run for state's attorney. He declined, saying that his time was occupied with the practice of law. The Glenn appointment, for that reason, was a surprise.

"I enter the campaign as a business man and a lawyer," said the prosecutor of Al Capone, "because I feel that I am doing something that is not only constructive, but that I am supporting the candidacy of a man I feel should be returned to the United States senate to complete the work he started during a previous term in which he established an enviable record."

Jan Styka's "Golgotha," said to be the largest painting in the world, was moved yesterday from the south side warehouse where it was stored by its owner, Frank Masterson, 1430 Lake Shore drive, to the stage of the Civic Opera house. The canvas, measuring 195 by 44 feet, will go on public exhibition for two weeks beginning next Sunday. Proceeds from the display of the painting, which depicts the crucifixion of Christ, will be devoted to various welfare societies affiliated with the Catholic church.

CITY'S IRISH PAY TRIBUTE TODAY TO ST. PATRICK

Parties and Devotions Mark Celebration.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Just 1443 years ago today at Saul, near the mouth of the River Slaney, County Down, Ireland, St. Patrick, patron saint of Erin, had his last vision. In it he beheld an angel which promised him a never ending apostleship.

"Fear not," said the messenger to Patrick, "thine apostleship shall never cease."

Thus far the divine appointment of the Irish saint seems unending, for today the whole Catholic world pays festive tribute to him before countless altars which bear his name. Devotions at old St. Patrick's church, Des Plaines and Adams streets, center of Celtic culture of Chicago, do not exhaust the day's observances. The green of thousands of shamrocks received from convents of Ireland will be supplemented by decorations in homes, churches, and places of business. Parties, dances, and Celtic entertainments will also mark the day.

Club to Hold Dinner.

Among impressive celebrations will be the dinner of the Irish Fellowship club tonight at the Palmer house. Congressman John J. O'Connor [Dem., N. Y.], chairman of the rules committee of the house, and opponent of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit radio priest, over the Frazier-Lemke bill, will be one of the leading speakers. United States District Attorney Michael L. Igoe and Capt. William J. Grace, president of the Fellowship club, will also address the diners, which are expected to number 1,000 persons.

The United Celtic societies of Chicago will meet for festivities at White City tonight, where a feature will be the selection of "Miss Celtic." The Morrison hotel will be the center of observances by the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Women's auxiliary of that order. The Calumet council of the Knights of Columbus has engaged the Trianon ballroom, while the festivities of the Irish Society of Music and Drama will be held at the Auditorium hotel.

Mayor in St. Louis.

Mayor Kelly went to St. Louis last night, where he is to talk tonight at the annual St. Patrick's day banquet of the Corned Beef and Cabbage club of that city.

Roger Flaherty, an authority on Irish lore, will address the Notre Dame club of Chicago this noon in Mandel Brothers' dining room. His subject will be "The Irish in America." An Irish minstrel will be presented at the Illinois Club for Catholic Women, 820 North Michigan avenue. Irish musical numbers will be presented by the club's orchestra and chorus.

The University council of the Knights of Columbus will stage a St. Patrick's floor show tonight at the clubrooms of the Rogers Park post, American Legion, 1520 West Devon avenue. Irish dances and music will feature the occasion.

Party at Hotel.

The Triangle club, the members of which are employés of the Westinghouse company, will hold a St. Patrick's day party at the Knickerbocker hotel.

The Milwaukee Road Boosters club, composed of officers and employés of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, will hold its St. Patrick's party tonight in the Union station cafeteria clubrooms. The place of the Irish in American railroad construction will be the subject of an address by William Shea of the maintenance of way department.

On an order of the city council the city hall will be closed today in honor of St. Patrick's day. The offices of the police, fire, health, and electric departments and the city collector will remain open with skeleton stafs working.

HUGE PARADE IN NEW YORK.

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—St. Patrick's day tomorrow will be celebrated here with a parade of 40,000 persons. Attorney General John J. Bennett will be the grand marshal, but he will not ride a white horse, as had been suggested.

"If 40,000 men and women can walk, so can I," he explained. His two aids and the guard of honor will be mounted, but he will be on foot at the head of the parade.

G. O. P. PROMISES TO NAME ITS KEYNOTER IN ABOUT A MONTH

Cleveland, O., March 16.—(AP)—Henry P. Fletcher, national chairman of the Republican party, announced late today the keynoter, temporary chairman of the party's national convention would be named April 21.

Fletcher, conferring with the arrangements committee, was asked if any one had been mentioned for the post.

"Not a single name was mentioned," he replied.

The Republican chairman said that for the first time in political history it was decided to have the keynoters address at night "at a time when people not able to attend personally may hear the speech broadcast."

FASTEST-STARTING GASOLINE IN STANDARD OIL HISTORY!
35% QUICKER WARM-UP WITH NEW STANDARD RED CROWN

Here we have Miriam Hopkins and Merle Oberon, in a scene from the current Samuel Goldwyn release, "These Three," comfortably settled in the tonneau of Walter Brennan's venerable public conveyance—only to find it apparently trying to fly! Walter, the "taxy" pilot, must have caught the general fever and filled his tank with Standard's new quick-starting gasoline—and they're off!

Copr. 1936, Standard Oil Co.

FRANKLY, we don't believe even this New Standard Red Crown could make that car fly. Look at it! But we do know that it will make any car a lot more "air-minded." And here's why:

Standard Oil engineers have developed a new winter gasoline with starting speed that really does surprise cold motors into instant action—warms them up 35% faster, even at zero! With it in your car, you'll delight in quick getaway, quick full-power, summer-like performance—and you'll save money which otherwise might be wasted in "choking" and in poor mileage during slow warm-ups.

Get some today—and SEE WHAT HAPPENS next time you step on the starter! It's sold by Standard Oil Stations and Dealers everywhere—at the price of "regular" gasoline.

• • •

Also—SOLITE with Ethyl, Standard's Superlative new high-anti-knock gasoline—slightly higher in price, and worth it! Ask the Serviceman.

THRONGS IN LINE FOR PENSIONS TELL OF PLANS

It's Stopgap Till Townsend Dollars Come, Say Many

BY KAY HALL.

Applicants for pensions under the old age assistance act lined up by the thousands at the bureau of public welfare in the county building, at relief headquarters at 1304 Indiana avenue and at district relief stations yesterday. It was the first day on which the filled in blanks were received.

James H. Andrews, state superintendent of old age assistance, announced in Springfield that the first checks will be issued about April 1, in amounts of $15, the state's share, unless by that time the federal social security board approves the Illinois distribution system and congress makes federal funds available for an additioned $15.

They Look for More Later.

Numerous Townsend disciples among the old petitioners yesterday expressed confidence that the $30 monthly pension was a mere makeshift "until the Townsend plan wins out." Representative opinions of those who filed are:

Harry J. Van Keuren, 67 years old, 5049 Fulton street: "The $30 is all right for a little while, but the Townsend pension will beat them all. My wife, Rose, is 67 years old and we are both eligible. We have been on relief so far and have just been getting $20 for rent and $16 for food monthly."

W. E. Dunlap, 78 years old, 630 West 43d place: "We have been on and off relief two or three times, depending on when my son could get work. He earns only $15 a week. My wife is 61 years old."

Theophile Kline, 76 years old, 2428 Berenice avenue: "I have been living with friends, but they have had reverses. They have kept me out of the goodness of their hearts, but can't go on much longer."

Mrs. Ida Sandealin, 1535 North Austin boulevard: "My husband died twenty years ago and I have lived with my daughter, who has three children. She and her husband also have their home to pay on. I will be so thankful to have the money and to be able to pay for my board."

Louis Diener, 74 years old, 765 West Van Buren street: "My wife and child are dead. I was on a WPA job with a pick and shovel until six weeks ago."

Mrs. Daisy Weber, 65 years old, 2642 Madison street: "This will be better than relief because you can be more independent. My husband is 87 years old and has been bedridden since he was run over by an automobile three months ago. We have been on relief for three years."

William Pfannerschmidt, 81 years old, 6611 Hartwell avenue: "I would be satisfied with $1 a day. My wife is dead and I have been on relief for two years. I've lived in the same house fifty years."

A woman, 72 years old, who did not want to identify herself, said her husband died six years ago. "My son and daughter were out of work for three years," she related. "You know how fast insurance goes under those circumstances. Now my daughter supports me on her $15 a week wages. But she can't buy me shoes. And I need underwear. I once had an eight room apartment and a nice husband—look at me today."

Relief Station Removed.

Officials of a wholesale company at 4639 Milwaukee avenue said yesterday that the concern's address had been announced as a relief station where old age pension applications would be received. They observed that a relief station formerly operated at the address is there no longer.

Tragedy Survivor

Lawrence Dvorak, 40 years old, ran amuck on his truck farm near Lockport early yesterday, killing his aunt, Mrs. Anna Feeney, 74 years old, with a hatchet and injuring his mother, Mrs. Julia H. Dvorak, 70 years old. Dvorak then shot and killed himself with a rifle.

Mrs. Dvorak managed to stagger to the home of a neighbor who summoned police. She said her son had been brooding over financial troubles and fear that he would lose his two acre farm. "I'm sorry to do this, but you're better off dead," Mrs. Dvorak said she heard her son mutter as she feigned death after the attack. The aunt lay moaning on the floor and Dvorak gave her a glass of water and then struck her again with the hatchet.

Neighbors said that deputy sherifs were summoned to the Dvorak home Sunday on complaints that Dvorak had been acting strangely, but had refused to take him into custody.

Freed as Suspect in Deaths of Prignano and McGurn

John Lardino, 29 years old, 901 North Hamlin avenue, was released yesterday by Capt. John Egan of the Maxwell street police station when witnesses failed to connect him with the murders of State Representative Albert J. Prignano, "Machine Gun" Jack McGurn, and the latter's brother, Anthony Gebardi.

JOB INSURANCE LAW IN N. Y. IS FOUND INVALID

But Injunction Is Denied Pending Appeal.

Albany, N. Y., March 16.—[Special.]—The New York state unemployment insurance law was held unconstitutional today by Supreme Court Justice Pierce H. Russell.

"It is my opinion," the judge said, "that the compulsory contribution by an employer to be paid as an unemployment insurance benefit to an employé of another is without validity under our system of government and constitutes unwarranted, unreasonable and arbitrary transfer of the property of one to another in violation of the due process clause of the constitution."

The judge, however, refused to grant an injunction asked by the Associated Industries of New York state. He said he did not wish to stop the state's job insurance machinery from operating until the state's highest court, the court of appeals, has passed on the matter.

Test Is Now Pending.

A case involving the constitutionality of the law now is pending before the court of appeals.

The state contended in the present case, Justice Russell said, that industry creates unemployment and therefore industry should pay toward the cost of mitigating it.

"I do not agree," the judge said, "with the premise that unemployment is caused by the omission of any legal duty or the commission of any wrong by industry as such or that the burden to maintain a condition of employment is one that industry assumes and must discharge.

"Industry lives and thrives on employment of its workers. It dries up and dies when its condition precludes the employment of workers, and when it is so burdened by exactions that its condition demands such preclusion then loss and misfortune follow both to it and its employés."

Plans High Court Appeal.

William J. Picard, deputy state industrial commissioner, said the case would be carried to the United States Supreme court if necessary.

"We already have a decision from the Supreme court at Syracuse that the law is constitutional," he said. "This means that there are two different interpretations evidently based on two different points of law."

The case to which he referred was that involving an attack on the law made by two Syracuse firms. Supreme Court Justice Dowling held the law constitutional in all except one of its provisions. The section he declared unconstitutional related to strikers and persons discharged from positions in industry.

New York's job insurance law is similar to the national law. The state law requires the payment, beginning March 1, 1936, of contributions determined by a percentage of payrolls. The law applies to employers who hire four or more persons.

FIGHT ON TERMS OF TRUCE DELAYS BUILDING PEACE

Many Workers Denied Old Jobs Back.

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—Disagreement over interpretation of the terms of settlement which formally ended the building service employés' strike brought a threat today of still further difficulties between members of the Building Service Employés' International union and the real estate interests represented by the realty advisory board.

Although thousands of strikers returned to work today, and service was restored to normal in the great majority of buildings affected by the walkout, employers refused to reëngage a large number of men, and a series of strikes against individual buildings resulted.

James J. Bambrick, president of local 32-B of the union, and leader of the strike, issued a statement attacking the real estate interests, and predicted "an even bigger rumpus" than the one just settled, "if the realty advisory board doesn't keep its word and reinstate the strikers."

Union headquarters estimated that, all told, some 3,000 strikers had been refused their former jobs.

Meanwhile, the board of directors of the realty board met to consider the agreement signed yesterday by its representatives.

Mayor Urges That Citizens Attend "Mortgage Clinics"

In a statement yesterday Mayor Kelly urged citizens to attend "insured mortgage clinics" which will be conducted by the Federal Housing administration at six places in the city from March 19 to March 28. Neighborhood clinics will be held from 2 to 10 p. m. at the following high schools: Roosevelt, Carl Schurz, Austin, Hirsch, and Calumet. Downtown clinics will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. at the Palmer house and the FHA headquarters, 134 North La Salle street.

PLEA FOR RUBBER STRIKE END MADE BY SEC. PERKINS

Washington, D. C., March 16.—(AP)—Secretary Perkins appealed today to the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company of Akron, O., and the United Rubber Works to resume negotiations to end a prolonged strike.

"In the best interest of all the people of Akron I appeal to you to resume negotiations with your employés to bring about an adjustment of differences.

"Representatives of the government are at the service of the Goodyear company and its workers to help to bring about a just and fair and honorable settlement of the controversy and I ask you to consider proposals for harmony and progressive industrial activity in Akron."

A similar telegram went to John H. House, local president of the United Rubber works.

BURGLARS STEAL $1,150 SAFE.

THE MACFADDEN MARKET

Consciously Developed Toward Conventional Buying Habits, and Practically Exclusive To Macfadden Publications Alone

The production schedules of America's great institutions are so enormous that only the great manufacturing interests are able to handle the figures. Such figures are simply beyond the concept of the consumer at the other end who goes out to buy one automobile or half a dozen light bulbs or a candy bar—or a magazine.

The quantity of sugar, for example, that a popular candy bar will require is so staggering that one would almost think that the world was consuming nothing but candy bars.

And what is true of the production figures of candy bars is equally true of those of automobiles, of telephones, of refrigerators, of light and power; in fact, of the entire gamut of mass production.

* * * * * *

So it should not be particularly strange to hear that another mass product giant has arisen, dealing in figures quite as startling as your own.

The paper orders for Macfadden publications in their staggering quantity are well in line with the sugar orders or the steel orders or the bulb orders of your own groups. To say nothing of the food orders which have now climbed to quantity production demand.

It requires three trainloads of paper every month to supply the print orders of Macfadden publications. And paper, as you know, is about the most compact of materials. And it requires in excess of three trainloads more to carry the finished products to their distribution points.

As this is being written† pretty close to three million copies of Liberty Magazine, for example, just one Macfadden publication, must be created from the very beginning, put into type, printed, and distributed almost entirely in single-copy sales.

Macfadden's True Story Magazine must account for another two million five hundred thousand each month. And the Macfadden Women's Group for more than another two million seven hundred thousand. And the rest of the Macfadden publications for well in excess of another million more.

And, even more stringently watched and guarded than the output of other wares, these Macfadden publication schedules must not miss by a single hour, to say nothing of a single day. Each one of these upwards of nine million units must be on its train and away to its destination without fail. Upwards of one hundred seventy-five thousand different people must "handle" each issue of Macfadden magazines before the consumer can come along and pick one up.

Just to do this one thing alone, just to get these magazines into the hands of the consumers, would seem to be job enough for any man or any institution of men. But this was by far the least of the jobs that had been done.

* * * * * *

The next job was to supply the reading needs that this enormous mass of circulation wanted and would look for week by week or month by month. For Macfadden circulation was no subscription circulation that could be sold by the year and forgotten for the year. Nearly ninety per cent of the total Macfadden circulation—well in excess of eight million copies—are bought each week or each month and have to be asked for each time they are bought. So that the reading need of these millions of issue-by-issue purchasers must far exceed any other consideration.

To do this Macfadden editors had to supply such a reading need as could not be or was not being supplied by anyone else. And that is how Macfadden publications found themselves able to lay claim to an almost exclusive circulation.

Finally, the next job, and almost the paramount job from the first, was to take these readers of Macfadden publications and weld them into a cohesive, coherent, articulate buying market. To create in them, through their reading habit, new wants and desires such as could be fulfilled by them; to inspire in these readers the American ideal so that their minds would be conditioned, not only to the desires themselves but to the desire to fulfill these desires.

Every step of this composite effort was necessary (and none of it could have been left out) in order that Macfadden publications might find a cooperative alliance with the other great institutions of America, and might become one of the most enormous factors that has ever been known for the consumption of the wares of America's vast mass-producing system. All of this, with none of it left out, has been necessary to justify the headlines of this page.

†Macfadden voluntary circulations have been increasing so rapidly that their figures must be changed almost from issue to issue.

RELIEF AND THE STATES.

In the preceding administration unemployment relief was a state and local responsibility. With the succession of Mr. Roosevelt the main direction for relief was assumed by the federal government. Mr. Roosevelt has indicated that the chief responsibility is going to be passed back to the states. In some respects that has already been done. Illinois has received no federal money for relief since the first of the year, although payments are of course continuing on the WPA plans. The President omitted any provision for relief from his annual budget estimates and has not yet indicated whether he expects to spend additional amounts for unemployment and, if so, how much. There is, however, every reason to believe that when he does get around to sending a special message on relief to congress he will tell the states to make their own plans as quickly as possible, because the money from Washington is to be tapered off.

Under the circumstances it is pertinent to inquire what the federal government has accomplished running the relief business. One measure of the effectiveness of relief management is the extent to which the number on relief has been diminished by restoring the unemployed to permanent and productive jobs. In February, 1933, the last month of the Hoover term of office, 4,140,000 families, or a total of 18 million persons, were receiving public aid in the United States because they were unemployed and in need. At the present time more than 24 million people are on relief or are drawing remuneration from one of the numerous varieties of temporary "made work." Thus three years of federal control of unemployment benefits, amidst a worldwide revival of business, has resulted in increasing relief rolls by a number equal to the population of the state of Indiana.

Here space is not available to go exhaustively into the causes for that outcome. One cause may be mentioned. A government bureau has recently pointed out that cotton control is a principal reason for the increase in unemployment relief. The bureau of agricultural economics reported, in the study to which we have referred in other connections, that the reduced production of cotton through government control wiped out work opportunities for a million people. Since there is nothing else for those to do who have been thrown out of work in the south, they have gone on relief.

A second measure of the effectiveness of the management of unemployment relief by the government is economy. To what extent has the government reduced the cost of unemployment relief? In February, the last month of the preceding administration, relief expenditures under state and local direction totaled $67,375,423. Under federal control the cost was increased to a maximum of $196,451,104 in a single month before WPA. Currently, the cost under WPA and other relief agencies is about 200 million dollars per month. The federal management of relief has run up the cost approximately 200 per cent.

More important than the cost is the fact that the federal government has destroyed the morale of a large number of people by accustoming them to an easy living at public expense for no work or for glorified soldiering known as boondoggling. Moreover, in administering unemployment relief the government has caused to be built up a vast machine, the members of which will resist all efforts at demobilization.

The states were willing to pass the responsibility for relief along to the government three years ago because of the difficulty of raising the money. It is absurd to assume that they can now shoulder the burden when the cost has been trebled. The Roosevelt administration did not and probably could not raise the funds which it has lavished on relief under CWA, FERA, and WPA by methods which are available to the states. Boondoggling wasn't paid for out of taxes. The money came from the rape of the soundest currency the world has ever known. The government confiscated all gold and then put the country on an irredeemable currency basis. Issue after issue of bonds payable only in the irredeemable currency were unloaded on the banks. To make certain that the banks bought the bonds, the government forced them to sell a large stock interest. But there is no gold for the states to seize. They are denied access to currency printing presses and the power to acquire a stock control over leading institutions is unavailable.

With these limitations states, counties, and cities cannot find the money to conduct relief on the boondoggling basis. They cannot maintain the unemployed in the style to which they have been accustomed by Mr. Roosevelt. The local governments are able to assume the burden of unemployment relief due to the depression, but they are unable to carry the load of unemployment relief due to Mr. Roosevelt.

THE THIRD THOUSAND.

Apparently the Chicago public is awakening to the horror of motor casualties on the streets of the city. While THE TRIBUNE clock recorded its three thousandth victim of the massacre over the week-end, the pace has considerably slackened and instead of an all time high record during 1936 there now appears a possibility, perhaps even a probability, that Chicago will reduce the 1935 toll, which in its turn was considerably lower than that of 1934.

On Feb. 18 the clock reported an increase of 21 per cent in the number of victims over the corresponding period of the previous year. Had that pace been maintained, the number of killed would have stood at 172 on March 15. The actual figure was 157, showing a saving of fifteen lives under the previous death rate. The improvement during March has been very noticeable. During the first fifteen days a total of 22 persons lost their lives on Chicago's streets, as compared with 26 during the same interval of 1935.

Through the adoption of eastern standard time Chicago substituted daylight for darkness during an hour of heaviest street congestion and consequent high mortality. Those opposing the change should pause for a moment to weigh a few personal inconveniences against a human life.

CHANGE RULES THE RAILS.

During the course of an address before the Wilmington Trafic club of Wilmington, Del., Dr. C. M. A. Stine, distinguished chemist and vice president of the du Pont company, made some interesting remarks regarding railway progress in the last three or four years. The title of his talk was "Change Rules the Rails."

Lack of research was the "glaring weakness in the railway armor" during the period of their development, and "it might almost be said that the passenger coach in which the traveling public sat for hours with little to do but talk, read, doze, and sometimes think, was the railroads laboratory of the day."

To develop this theory he cited eight outstanding milestones of railroad progress during the nineteenth century that had been invented and patented by individuals whose vocations were not even remotely connected with transportation. The telegraph had been developed by an English professor of philosophy and an American artist, the sleeping car by a street contractor, the block signal system by a retired textile manufacturer, the air brake by the young son of a carpenter, the vestibule buffer by a physician and sanitarium proprietor, the refrigerator car by the packers, the automatic coupler by a dry goods clerk, and the electric locomotive by a school teacher.

In closing he congratulated the railways on recent progress by observing, "As late as 1930 Chicago was thirty-six and one-half hours from Fort Worth, Tex.; today it is only twenty-six and one-half hours; more than eight hours have been cut off the time from Chicago to Miami; ten hours between Chicago and Los Angeles, and it takes almost one whole day less to go by rail from Chicago either to San Francisco or to Portland, Ore."

THE TRIBUNE finds it gratifying that the distinguished easterner came to Chicago for all his comparisons.

SENATOR VANDENBERG AND THE 'QUODDY HOAX.

Senator Vandenberg, in keeping public attention focused upon the Passamaquoddy tide harnessing project, is performing a most useful service.

Secretary Ickes, speaking for PWA, turned down the 'Quoddy project. Mr. Roosevelt himself then diverted relief money to start the show and now is asking for a war department appropriation with which to continue the work.

Mr. Ickes' engineers, Senator Vandenberg has stated, found that tide-generated power from 'Quoddy would be more expensive than either steam generated or conventional hydroelectric power; that if it were desirable to generate power at the bay a steam plant would be cheaper; but that there is, or will be, no market for the power.

By his exposure of the economic folly of 'Quoddy and its twin insanity, the Florida ship canal, Senator Vandenberg is emphasizing daily that there are votes to be bought in Maine and Florida, and, if federal funds can buy them, Mr. Roosevelt is ready to bid high.

SAINTS AND SINNERS.

[New York Times.]

Senator Black, long famous for his impartiality as an inquisitor and an investigator, is naturally vexed by the criticism, or rather the ferocious persecution, to which his committee is being subjected. It is insulting to quote the constitution in regard to the pious and necessary processes which he follows in the search for transgressors and the seizure of their papers. In his radio speech Monday night he made plain to the lowest comprehension the issue between himself and his adversaries:

> The real opposition to this committee's action, just as in all others, comes from a desire of those who want to work in darkness and who dread the condemnation of the honest, patriotic people of this nation for their pernicious practices and their secret and conniving efforts to conceal their sinister activities behind lofty names and sonorous phrases.

It is the old war between light and darkness. The libertines of the Liberty league, for instance, are workers of iniquity. Whatever they write or telegraph is inspired by base motives, incriminating, intolerable, and not to be borne. They are entitled to no constitutional or legal protection. They are known to be hostile to the administration. They have censured the incomparable wisdom of this congress. For such caitiffs there is no respite and no forgiveness. The congregation of the hypocrites shall be desolate and fire shall consume the tabernacles of bribery.

There can be no innocents in that gang. To its members the privileges of mail, telephone, telegraph should be denied. In the rhadamanthine eyes of Hugo Black they are not only guilty of all charges made against them but, as Mr. Sumner said so pleasantly when casting his vote against impeached Andrew Johnson, "of infinitely more." We are not surprised to hear from Washington that as Mr. Black's virtue gets austerer and austerer the atmosphere of the senate chamber has a smell, lingering and humorous, of boiling oil and melted lead.

LAND OF LOVELINESS.

A land of whimsy, loveliness and lilt,
Of hurried streams that fall in silvered swirl,
Of rippling lakes of emerald and pearl.
Of ruined castles in the mist rebuilt.
Where beauty with a wanton hand has spilt
Unending charm; where cottager and earl
Alike have heard the banshee's eerie skirl
O' nights and where the shamrocks never wilt.

The pale blue curl of smoke above the thatch
Ascends beyond the lean and hungry land
To mountain tops that lift their rugged walls
Forever turning to the sea to catch
The plaintive echo of a minstrel hand
That swept the storied harp in Tara's halls.

MARGARET MARQUART.

FRENCH DIPLOMACY isn't what it used to be. Right now France is having a lot of trouble to get somebody else to walk up to Herr Hitler, give him a punch in the nose and kick him across the Rhine.

THERE WAS A HEADLINE in the newspapers yesterday that makes me believe there will soon be war in Europe. And I'm scared in spite of the fact that Lloyd's is betting 9½ to 1 that the guns won't start booming for at least six months. The headline was: "Three Nations Ready to Begin War Debts Settlements to U. S." That's ominous. If they're preparing to go to war they've got to borrow money from Uncle Sam and it's a cinch they won't get any until they square up the old account. And now they're talking of making a settlement—well, here comes a touch. They want money for the new war.

MUSSOLINI must have recalled his press agents back to Rome to send out the news on the German crisis. Haile Selassie is now winning all the victories in Ethiopia and driving the Italians back. Mr. Selassie is keeping his press agents on the job.

A JIGGER FULL OF ADVICE.

He has no promise to break,
He who makes none,
By the moon and the stars,
To women and the sun.
A promise once given
Is a potion taken,
And bitter is the mouth
When men awaken!
Silence is a mole
Sleeping in man's mind,
When love becomes deaf,
And as a mole, blind.
A talkative man,
Though he be witty,
If he speaks when in love,
The more the pity!
For he will give his heart,
Grated or whole;
The money in his pocket,
His laughter . . . his soul.
Better he be silent
As a fish in water,
And some day he may marry
The miller's pretty daughter.
She, of the tame gray eyes
And lips bright red,
Shall bring him love . . . and joy,
And bake his bread.
She will mend his coat
While leaning to a cradle,
And plow his wheat field,
If he is not able.
But he who makes a promise
When love rides high,
May marry a grass widow
With a green jade eye!

HORMONES AND THE PROSTATE.

DESPITE many improvements that have been made in the operative attack upon the prostate, the procedure continues to be a formidable one. Therefore, any type of treatment that can save an elderly man from the dangers and discomforts incident to the removal of this gland will be welcomed.

The prostate lies beneath the outlet of the bladder and is likely to increase in size with age. About one-third of all men who reach the age of 60 years will show symptoms of enlargement sufficient to cause trouble. Symptoms arise because the normal outflow of urine from the bladder is interfered with.

A few years ago, following the development of the high frequency electric cutting current, an apparatus was devised by means of which a segment of the gland could be removed, thus restoring the normal caliber of the urinary canal. This operation has been performed thousands of times and is looked upon with favor when applied to selected cases.

Recently, however, the function of the gland has been studied in relation to the male hormone [internal secretion], and the report of Paul Niehans of Zurich describes the successful application of this knowledge to nearly 400 cases. His procedure is based on the theory that enlargement of the structure is due to the lack of a secretion, the absence of which permits the tissue to grow.

The human prostate attains its normal size at puberty and remains stationary from that time until about the age of 50. From then on there is a gradual decrease in the output of the hormone that governs its size. If this secretion diminishes rapidly the structure will enlarge correspondingly.

The idea is not entirely new, as some years ago it was suggested that old age changes caused an upset in the balance of the endocrine products, in which the pituitary plays a part. Later it was learned that if the ducts from the male glands are tied off important secretions will continue to enter the circulation. If this plan is followed the deficiency is supplied and the gland in question will not enlarge. To put it another way, the presence of sufficient male hormone can cause an enlarged prostate to resume its former state.

The question arises, cannot the size of the prostate be regulated by the occasional injection of male hormone? This has been attempted, and Laqueur and Van Capellen claim that by this method improvement is maintained for many months. It is obvious, however, that it is more physiological to use the internal secretion produced by the individual himself, hence the recommendation for tying off the ducts, and throwing the hormone into the patient's own blood.

Niehans relates that about eight years ago he exhibited to the Swiss Surgical society a prostatic case aged 69 on whom he had performed the ligation operation. He says: "The result was surprisingly good, not only in the general improvement of the patient's condition but also on the prostate." Appetite increased, blood pressure, which had been considerably above normal, dropped to a comfortable level, and symptoms of headache and vertigo disappeared.

Experiments are now being conducted in another direction, namely, the application of heat directly to the back of the gland, by means of an electrically controled heating unit [the Elliott machine]. The temperature of the water is approximately 125 degrees F. This appears to have the advantage of increasing the blood flow to the gland, raising the number of leucocytes [white blood cells], and reducing inflammation. This plan is of definite value in those cases in which infection of the gland has occurred either with or without abscess formation. Reduction in the size of the prostate has been observed after a few treatments in some cases.

The relatively simple plan of Niehans lends color to the belief that with continued study the factors responsible for the overgrowth of the prostate may be identified accurately. When this is accomplished the remedy will follow. At any rate Niehans' suggestion deserves thorough trial.

INOCULATION VS. VACCINATION.

A Boston lady takes me to task for the statement that Edward Jenner, an English physician, was the discoverer of vaccination. She advises that vaccination was brought to England by Lady Mary Wortley Montague, who had seen its marvelous effects in Constantinople.

REPLY.

This is a commonly accepted error. Lady Montague observed inoculation, not vaccination. The two procedures are quite different. Inoculation transmits the actual disease from one person to another. Vaccination is carried out through the use of lymph from a cow—not a human being. Inoculation proved a dangerous and often fatal procedure; vaccination is practically harmless. The virus of smallpox, instead of being transmitted from one human being to another, is weakened or attenuated, as we say, in the body of the animal. A vaccinated individual has cowpox, which, in human beings, is a local disease and protects against smallpox.

MAY BE SPREADING.

J. B. G. writes: Four years ago one of our family developed cancer of the rectum. The growth was not removed, but a colotomy was made. The patient now has considerable stomach distress. One physician thinks the morphine taken by mouth causes this nausea and recommends hypodermic injections instead.

REPLY.

Why not try hypodermic injections?

It is possible that the disease is spreading and causing digestive symptoms.

WHOLE WHEAT BREAD.

Miss M. McN. writes: A claims that one may reduce by substituting whole wheat bread for white. B claims that both whole wheat and white bread contain the same amount of carbohydrates, and thus one could hardly reduce by substituting the one for the other. Who is right?

REPLY.

MINOR'S INTEREST.

Evanston, Ill., March 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can the 21 year old sister of a minor be named guardian of his estate? 2. Does the court appoint an executor and trustee if the only living parent of a minor child dies intestate? 3. What are the fees permitted by the Probate court to lawyer and executor and trustee appointed by will? 4. Also, what is fee to guardian so appointed or appointed by court? H. B.

1. Yes.
2. The court would appoint a guardian if the minor has assets.
3. The allowance is discretionary depending on the services. The statute says not over 6 per cent for the executor. In our opinion, the lawyer ought to be paid out of this figure.
4. The allowance of the guardian also takes into account the income of the estate.

CLAIM ON ESTATE.

Chicago, March 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A widow, whose claim against an estate has been settled out of court and a release given for a certain sum, about one-third of the estate [release stating she resigns all claims, title, suits against the estate, heirs and executor forever], should there be in the future another estate found in a foreign country, could she sue to set aside this release and claim one-third of the found estate also? J. J. G.

In general the "estate" of the deceased would include assets wherever found. Hence probably the release already signed would cover the additional assets that you are supposing. We could advise to better advantage if the release were before us.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

BUILDING TO BE WRECKED.

Chicago, March 13.—[Friend of the People.]—I would like advice concerning a condemned house adjoining my property. This house was condemned in 1925 and due to some kind of pull on the owner's part it is still up. It is a three story old-fashioned frame house, leaning at a hazardous angle against my house, a bungalow. This house is now deserted as the owner died a few weeks ago. It is a fire hazard and is just about ready to fall. M. G.

Our inspector reports this is a three story frame building, vacant except first floor. Building is out of plumb and in dilapidated condition, but not structurally dangerous at this time.

In compliance with our notice owner has agreed to have building wrecked. Until work of wrecking is under way building will be kept under observation by this department.

RICHARD E. SCHMIDT,
Commissioner of Buildings.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland.—The World Alliance of Poles Living Abroad, which was organized by the Polish government to unite under one administration all Polish organizations in foreign countries, is enlarging its activities. Its officials energetically deny its aims include obtaining control of the great Polish organizations in America, including the Polish National alliance and the Polish Roman Catholic union, which refused to sign the charter of this organization and disrupted an impressive ceremony in Wawel castle in Cracow two years ago.

"The alliance has no political motives and has no intention of sending political agitators to America," Adam Stebelski, one of its officials, told THE TRIBUNE. "Our chief aim is to keep alive the Polish language, art, and traditions among Poles residing abroad, and in this way to strengthen cultural connections between them and the mother country.

"We estimate that approximately 8,000,000 Poles are living outside Poland. The greatest foreign Polish center is in America, which has 4,000,000 Poles. Of these approximately 500,000 live in Chicago, 300,000 in Detroit, and another 200,000 in Buffalo and New York. Some 300,000 Polish children in America get part time Polish education.

"Germany comes next with 1,400,000 Poles, and in France there are 700,000. In South America, a new field for Polish emigration, there are 300,000, of whom 240,000 live in Brazil.

"The alliance is not interested in promoting emigrant remittances to Poland and neither is it attempting to gain control of the great Polish organizations in America with the aim of inducing them to invest their resources in Poland. The amount of money which the Poles in America have sent home to Poland does not amount to a snap of the fingers in comparison with Poland's needs."

It was pointed out that remittances now amounted to well over $15,000,000 annually, and Stebelski was asked if the $300,000,000 which Poland had received from her emigrants in American since 1921 was not an important contribution to Poland's progress. He replied that this money was not received by the government, but by private individuals.

Stebelski also denied that the alliance was taking advantage of paragraph 18 in its constitution under which it may send delegates to America to influence the policies of American Poles.

When it was suggested that the program of the alliance for Poles in America was directed toward keeping them Polish, and thus conflicted with the American national policy of assimilating immigrants and making them American, Stebelski declared his organization did not come into conflict with American aims. He declared 90 per cent of the Poles in America would never return to Poland.

Stebelski asserted the members of Polish minorities in Germany, Czechoslovakia, and Lithuania are not considered as emigrants but, as Polish nationals and that the alliance tries to prevent their assimilation by the governments under which they live.

Because of this policy Poland has had a bitter conflict with Czechoslovakia, and for many years her relations with Germany and Latvia were seriously strained. Recently relations with Latvia have improved, and Poland has a ten year pact of nonaggression and friendship with Germany.

One reason for forming the alliance was France's recent action in deporting more than 50,000 Poles.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

A NATURALIZED WORD.

Chicago, March 12.—How about a little forum, in which the main subject for discussion will be the slang word "swank"?

This word, thanks largely to those pioneers of verbal progress, the advertising copywriters, has been having something of a vogue during the last couple of years. As used in America the word "swank" seems to connote elegance, sophisticated smartness, and that sort of thing. It had a different meaning when it first came into use in England nearly thirty years ago. It then meant pretentiousness, "putting on the dog," "showing off," or, to use an Anglo-Irishism, "shaping." As far as I know it [the word, not the practice] has died out in England.

In America "swank" is used both as noun and adjective. Copywriters speak of swank shoes, autos, liners, and so on. In England, thirty years before the smarter copywriters put it to new uses, "swank" was used as noun and verb. Flashy display was "a lot of damned swank." Children of refined families were admonished not "to swank." Wretched people who knew no better "swanked" or were "swankers," and acted in a dreadfully "swanky" manner.

What justification is there for the current American use of the word in a complimentary sense? VERBOS.

NOT THAT CHERRY AVENUE.

Chicago, March 12.—Several days ago an article appeared in the Voice of the People signed by E. J. Namdlog questioning the change in name by the city council of Cherry avenue to Birchwood avenue. The Cherry avenue referred to was not changed, but a short street only one-half block long at the extreme northwest corner of the city was changed to West Birchwood avenue.

The purpose of the street name changes at this time is to eliminate the comparatively few duplicated street names in the city and in as far as possible to have only one street name on a line. There is no desire to change a large number of street names or to disturb historical names, but rather to complete the comprehensive system of street names for Chicago so that future changes will be unnecessary.

H. C. BRODMAN,
Superintendent of Maps, City of Chicago.

SUBURBAN CLOCKS.

Berwyn, Ill., March 11.—When the city of Chicago changes time it automatically changes the suburban time, for probably nine-tenths of wage earning suburbanites work in Chicago. I infer from Mayor Kelly's statement that only residents of Chicago are to vote on this important question in the fall. In fairness to all who are influenced by Chicago time, the entire state should vote on it, or at least all the suburbs. SUBURBANITE.

THE REAL McCOY.

Aberdeen, S. D., March 11.—I was deeply interested in your editorial, "The Real McCoy." It seems to me the public should give due credit to Dr. William Wirt of Gary for trying to save our nation from this crisis and send him a vote of thanks and gratitude for his patriotic effort. MRS. H. G. TWITCHELL.

A REGRETTED ERROR.

Evanston, Ill., March 5.—There was one outstanding error in your editorial, "The Black Dragoons." The title should have read "The Black Guards." That title fits the Black committee. G. W.

COMPETITION.

Wichita, Kas., March 11.—In one of his recent Sunday evening talks during the Ford hour Mr. W. J. Cameron quoted the following significant observation of Thomas A. Edison in reference to natural law. Writing to Prof. William D. Marks he said:

"To my mind the raising of the price from ¾ cent to 1 cent per lamp hour is a bid for competition. I am a believer in insuring the permanency of an investment by keeping prices so low that there is no inducement to others to come in and ruin it. There seems to be a law in commercial things as in nature. If one attempts to obtain more profit than the general average he is immediately punished by competition."

In that observation Mr. Edison revealed a perception of the natural law which rules the business world quite as much as does any other law in any other part of the universe. It upholds the democratic position in regard to the beneficent influence of competition, and by the same reasoning condemns state socialism for its repudiation of all natural law.

HENRY WARE ALLEN.

OVATIONS COMPARED.

Rockford, Ill., March 12.—It was our privilege to be delegates to the John Ericsson Republican league state convention held at Galesburg, Ill., last Monday.

The account of our meetings, as recorded in THE TRIBUNE March 10, described an ovation tendered Mr. Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for governor, and indicated that all except a very few of the delegates favored his candidacy.

Two gubernatorial candidates did receive ovations, namely, Mr. Brooks and Mr. Oscar E. Carlstrom, with honors quite evenly divided except for the spontaneity of the response to the latter.

No preferential poll was taken among the delegates. The tremendous reception which Mr. Carlstrom received when he appeared upon the assembly floor as a delegate for Mercer county may have indicated that far more than a few of the delegates favored his candidacy.

IRVING F. PEARSON,
Chairman, Winnebago County Delegation.

ILLEGAL TAX LEVIES.

Chicago, March 12.—Referring to Judge Jarecki's remedy for illegal tax levies mentioned in your editorial today, couldn't the matter be solved by requiring the taxing body automatically to consider every judicial invalidation of a rate and print credit slips to go with each tax bill for the next year? Or, better, make an adjustment in the next year's levy, applying to all property the proper credit. In cases where property is transferred during the year the new owner would profit, but these transfers only affect a small percentage of property and in many cases adjustments regarding pending credits could be made at the time of sale. Of course, the cost of this credit or refund would have to be made up and added to the total new tax levy, but this method would avoid clerical work now necessary.

Clinic to Show Children Fate of Offenders.

CRIMINAL COURT.

William S. Lee, robbery, sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary under the habitual criminal act; John Mott, robbery, sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary; Steve Yucka, larceny, sentenced to one to ten years in the penitentiary, by Chief Justice Denis J. Normoyle.

Aroused by the increase of juvenile crime in the city, the judges of the Criminal court at their weekly meeting yesterday adopted a program to educate Chicago's school children on what happens to criminals.

The program was outlined by Chief Justice Denis J. Normoyle, who declared that recent court records show a steady increase in juvenile delinquency. Judge Normoyle was particularly concerned over the case of the eleven schoolboys who have been arrested by the Rogers Park police as members of a holdup gang.

"These boys seem to have a devil-may-care attitude," Judge Normoyle said. "Their flippant remarks and joking after their arrest indicate they know little of the actual seriousness and results of crime."

Crime Clinic for Children.

The judges intend, he explained, to give the city's school children a practical demonstration of what happens to persons who commit crimes. Under Judge Normoyle's plan, one day a week will be set aside for a crime clinic to be held in the Criminal court building.

School authorities will be asked to send to the clinic in groups the pupils who will be graduated this spring from the public, parochial and other sectarian high schools.

"A judge will be assigned to spend the day with each group," said Judge Normoyle, "acting as a sort of teacher to give the students the true, sordid picture of crime.

Pupils to See a Trial.

"During the day the judge will conduct an actual trial for the benefit of the school children so that they may see what happens in a criminal case."

After the courtroom session the school children will be taken through the county jail and even shown the electric chair.

Judge Normoyle said that although first attention would be given to the high school students who are graduating, an effort would be made to extend the services of the clinic to younger pupils.

State's Attorney Courtney was enthusiastic over the program. He assigned one of his assistants, Frank Donahue, to aid the judges with the school children.

Holdup Victims View Youths.

While the judges were meeting, robbery victims in a steady parade were viewing the eleven youths held in the Rogers Park police station. Eight of the young prisoners were arrested Saturday night and three more were brought in yesterday. These three are Charles Shanley, 15 years old, 3834 North Marshfield avenue; Herbert Wolff, 16 years old, 1062 Ainslie street, and Bernard Loeb, 17 years old, 4021 Berteau avenue.

Another youth, William Youngblood Jr., 17 years old, 1060 Ainslie street, surrendered to the police. He had been named by the others as a pal, but not as one who had participated in their robberies. Youngblood was held for questioning.

WINDOW BREAKERS SENTENCED.

Joseph Bystork, 24 years old, 745 Keith street, and Michael Prylo, 29 years old, 1309 Cornell avenue, were sentenced yesterday by Judge Jay A. Schiller to thirty days each in the Bridewell for breaking a market window.

NEW DEAL PLAN TO TAX PROFITS RUNS INTO SNARL

House Learns State Laws May Block Levy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—The house subcommittee working on the President's new 792 million dollar tax program became almost hopelessly snarled tonight on the plan to tax undivided profits of corporations.

For the first time the congressmen became informed of the fact that in many states corporations with impaired capital are prohibited by law from declaring dividends out of earnings. In some states the prohibition works by statute while in others the common law principle or court decisions are followed.

Similarly, the subcommittee was confronted with the problem of what to do about corporations in receivership.

Revenue Estimates Decline.

The further the subcommittee delves into the tax proposals, the more it appears that the estimated revenue will be shaved down, and with the fall elections drawing closer, members of congress are loathe to levy any sort of processing tax.

According to the original plan, the new tax program embodied 620 millions from the new undistributed profits tax which would defray costs of the New Deal's farm subsidy scheme and partially meet bonus expenditures and an additional 172 millions in processing taxes milder in nature than the levies invalidated under the AAA by the Supreme court.

During today's session, it was disclosed, Herman Oliphant, counsel for the treasury, told the group that one unnamed proposition would result in lawsuits.

Fear Avalanche of Suits.

Chairman Samuel B. Hill [Dem., Wash.] said he hoped his group would complete a bill this week and start hearings on it next. Other members privately expressed an opinion that the hope was a forlorn one.

The subcommittee practically decided today to levy taxes on dividends paid to foreign investors in this country's stock market. Estimates of the foreign investment in the United States stock market run as high as 5 billion dollars, resulting from "frightened capital" transferred here because of recurring war scares.

Spinal Meningitis Takes Eighth Victim at Quincy

FEDERAL PAYROLLERS EXCEED 11 MILLION, NEW REPORT SHOWS

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—There are 11,120,925 persons on the federal government's pay roll at present, according to the national industrial conference board, an increase of approximately 9 million persons in the last two years.

The increase includes all persons receiving incomes of varying amounts from the government. This figure, the board's announcement said, represents a little more than one-sixth of the number of available gainful workers in the United States as of December, 1935.

The bulletin issued by the board said in part:

"The pay roll covering the regular government establishment increased from 861,033 in December, 1933, to 1,108,766 in December, 1935. There was some increase in the military establishment, but the growth of the executive service alone accounted for 224,510 persons."

In the last two years, the board said, the military compensation and pension pay roll increased by 16,516 persons and the number of civil pensioners by 17,601.

King Edward of England Orders Private Airport

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, March 16.—King Edward VIII. of England has ordered a private airdrome built in Windsor Great park near his week-end home at Sunningdale. Recently the park was surveyed near Frogmore, the burial place of Queen Victoria, for a site where the king's new and heavier planes could land. A site has been found and the ground will be laid out soon. The news is further proof that the king does not intend to give up flying, despite what his advisers say.

LOST 3 YEAR OLD SURVIVES NIGHT IN A DUST STORM

Reaches Farm House as 300 Hunt Him.

Lamar, Colo., March 16.—(AP)—Frost-nipped toes and tiny sand burr wounds were all that bothered 3 year old Stevie Benson tonight after almost twenty hours spent in southern Colorado's worst dust storm of the year.

Safe in a hospital bed here, the removal of the prickly sand burrs was for him much worse than his night in the dust storm.

"I slept out," announced Stevie today as he walked into the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Fetters, six miles from his home. "I'm hungry."

Behind him 1,000 persons were searching in the wake of a "black roller" dust cloud that swept across the ranch country, turning daylight to darkness as Stevie wandered away yesterday. Freezing temperatures prevailed.

Burrs Stick in Feet.

Dust covered his body and his tiny feet bristled with burrs. He held his shoes in his hand. Rivulets of mud caked his tear-streaked cheeks.

While he was eating with Mr. and Mrs. Fetters, L. E. Walker and W. A. Gradehouse, members of a searching party, stopped at the house for water.

"Why, that's the boy we're hunting," they exclaimed.

They started immediately with him for his home. On the way he fell asleep.

Physicians said a hasty examination failed to show the boy suffered any serious harm. His toes and hands were nipped by frost and his lungs showed evidence of a severe "dusting."

Members of a party of CCC youths passed through the field where the boy slept last night, but they did not see him.

Apparently he had huddled into a hollow in the prairie and remained there for hours while the dust, so dense it seemed almost solid, swirled about him.

Jackrabbit Sidetracks Dog.

Two uncles of the lost child, William Fritz and Luther Benson, said they tracked the boy for nearly a mile with the aid of the ranch dog but they were unable to follow the lad's track farther when the dog deserted the trail and took after a jackrabbit.

The storm had spent its force today. Clear weather or improved conditions were reported at points along the 300 mile dust front from Clayton, N. M., to El Paso, Tex. However, a duster swept over Oklahoma's panhandle today while rain fell in the northeast corner of the state.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Frank Ridgway

Seed Corn Ruined

March 16, 1936.

OUT of many carloads of good corn produced on the Tribune Yorkville Experimental farm last summer there will not be a single bushel that can be safely used for seed this spring, according to preliminary germination tests. The germs of the corn kernels were killed or weakened by the extremely cold winter.

Managers of the Tribune farms are facing the worst seed corn situation in the memory of any one on the two places. Bad seed corn is not limited to these farms. A recent survey made by THE TRIBUNE indicates that the majority of farmers in the corn belt are faced with the same trouble.

The Yorkville farm manager did not expect to find good seed corn in his cribs after the arctic temperatures of midwinter. He had hoped, however, that 20 bushels of fine Krug corn selected from the field early last fall, dried and stored would show a high germination percentage, but the ears tested so far are weak and unfit for seed. It will be necessary to buy practically all of the seed corn planted on the two farms this spring.

Last week hand pickers threw their shucking pegs into the tool shed for safekeeping until fall after they had gathered the last ear of corn from the few acres that were in the field when heavy winter snows fell. Final tabulation showed that approximately 19,000 bushels were produced last year.

There were about 480 acres of corn planted. Fifteen acres were cut green and fed to cattle in early fall. Sixty-five acres were cut and blown into the three silos at the farm. One of the silos was filled a second time. The yield was low on 60 acres north of the river. There were 320 acres grown on the south side of the river, picked and stored in cribs which yielded an average of more than 53 bushels per acre, according to estimates made from crib measurements. Some of the corn averaged more than 61 bushels to the acre.

Most of the 320 acres left for the pickers to harvest matured in fine shape and a fair amount of corn could have been selected for seed and brought through the average winter safely.

A final study of yield figures shows that the highest producing strains of corn grown last summer were the grain hybrids and Krug, an old established variety. One of these hybrids, No. 214, topped the list of all corn grown on the farm last year, yielding by actual weight 61.5 bushels per acre. The figure was based on 80 pounds of corn per bushel and the corn was weighed as it was brought in from the field. Krug ranked next with an average yield of 58 bushels an acre.

Other hybrid strains and established varieties were weighed and their average yields per acre were as follows: Grain hybrid No. 614, 54.8 bushels; hybrid No. 616, 53.5 bushels; Queen of the Field, 51 bushels; Will County Favorite, 49 bushels; hybrid No. 208, 45.5 bushels, and Western Plowman, 43.3 bushels. All of these were grown under ordinary field conditions.

The popularity of the grain and silage strains in the central west coupled with the acute seed corn situation generally makes it impossible for growers to fill all of their orders for hybrids this spring. To make sure of his hybrid seed corn the Yorkville farm manager already has placed his order for 25 bushels of hybrids No. 214 and 216 for 1937. His order for 1936 seed corn was placed last fall.

Seed corn germination tests have been running low among neighbors in the Yorkville farm community. One farmer had only three good ears out of 600 tested.

WISCONSIN WPA PICKETS OFFICES OF GOVERNOR

Strikers Balked in Plea for Wage Increase.

Madison, Wis., March 16.—(AP)—Picketing of Gov. Philip La Follette's office was ordered late today by vote of WPA strikers gathered in the state capitol after the governor advised them he was powerless to act on their demand for increased wages.

The picketing order became effective immediately. The strikers also decided to picket the executive mansion, several blocks from the capitol, if the office patrol proved ineffective.

Declines to Provide Food.

At an earlier conference in the governor's office a strikers' delegation asked the governor to supply them with food and cots in the assembly chamber from money in the state contingent fund.

The governor refused, declaring authority for raising WPA funds must come from federal officials in Washington and that the assembly chamber was no barracks.

A tense situation arose when one of the strikers' spokesmen said it was obvious the governor and other officials were "afraid" of more than 100 strikers and their sympathizers who have occupied the assembly chambers since Thursday.

Ready to Meet Strikers.

"Get that idea out of your head," said the governor, advancing on the man and patting him on the back. "No one is afraid of you."

Gov. La Follette said F. R. Shanley, district WPA supervisor from Chicago, had arrived in Madison and would see what he could do to break the impasse. He said Shanley would confer with strike spokesmen whenever they wished to call on him.

Heretofore the strikers have refused to go to Martin W. Torkelson, state WPA administrator, demanding that Torkelson come to them. They demand a wage of $60 a month instead of $48.

Chairman Lyle Olson of Green Bay and other strike leaders announced they expect their wives and children to join them here, but none of the families had put in an appearance late today.

GIRL WITH RARE SKIN MALADY IS GIVEN NEW HOPE

Rochester, Minn., March 16.—(AP)—Nona Cloyes, 21, of Roy, Wash., who arrived today by airplane from Seattle, seeking a cure for the malady causing her flesh to harden, will be on her way again tomorrow, she said, assured of "complete recovery within a year."

She came to consult Mayo clinic physicians about the disease she said had baffled physicians on the Pacific coast. Two hours after she and her mother had left their plane at the municipal airport she told a reporter:

"Mayo clinic physicians diagnosed my case as a form of scleroderma [a malady characterized by a diffuse rigidity and hardness of the skin], prescribed a course of treatment they said would bring 'complete recovery within a year,' and told me I needn't stay. I'm leaving for Chicago tomorrow."

SELL EQUIPMENT OF NOTED CASINO IN CENTRAL PARK

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—James J. Walker and other former habitués of the Central Park casino, were conspicuously absent when the furniture, pictures and fittings were sold at auction today. Sentiment was entirely missing from the attendant crowd, most of whom were second hand dealers looking for bargains.

The stuff was sold by Edward M. Barrett, an auctioneer for the Dieppe corporation which conducted the restaurant and is now in liquidation.

During the morning 118 lots, mostly consisting of kitchen ware, were disposed of. An electric food mixer brought the top price, $75. A lot of opened bottles of catsup and other condiments brought a bid of $1, while 120 empty beer and club soda bottles sold for $5.50.

'LOVER' IN BABY KIDNAPING CASE TELLS OF AFFAIR

DORCHESTER, New Brunswick, March 16.—(AP)—Milton Trites, Moncton second hand store owner, told the court today he was the man Mrs. May Bannister had sought to deceive with the pretense he was the father of her child.

The buxom, middle aged woman, charged with having kidnaped 4 months old Betty Lake so she would have a baby to show Trites, sat in the prisoner's box with a handkerchief partly hiding her face.

The Lake infant disappeared from its home shortly after Philip Lake, his common law wife, Bertha Lake, and their other young child were found dead. Arthur Bannister, son of the accused woman, last week was convicted of murdering Lake.

With downcast eyes, Trites testified Mrs. Bannister had been his housekeeper until last October when he was told she was to have a child. He said he was not fully convinced the child supposedly about to be born to Mrs. Bannister was his own.

But he told how he had walked home with Mrs. Bannister the day after the Lake murders to see the infant, a girl, and they had decided to call her "Thyra Milton Trites." He also said he had bought medicine for the baby.

The life-sized doll the prosecution claims Mrs. Bannister carried before the Lake kidnaping and murder in order to make two men think she had a baby, was flourished before the eyes of the jurors today. But it was not admitted as evidence.

ENVISION SOLID CITY ON RIM OF LAKE MICHIGAN

Washington, D. C., March 16.—(AP)—The prospect of an industrial metropolis from Waukegan, Ill., around the southern tip of Lake Michigan to Benton Harbor, Mich., was cited before the board of army engineers today as an argument for the construction of the Burns ditch harbor on the shore of Porter county, Ind.

Gov. Paul V. McNutt, who left a special session of the Indiana legislature to join a delegation of northern Indiana business leaders seeking the harbor, told the board the state would assist in constructing the water terminal.

Twice before, government approval for the Burns ditch harbor has been denied; first, because it would become the private harbor of the Midwest Steel corporation, and second, because the production of steel in the Gary area "is well below the capacity of existing plants."

Officials Speak For Harbor.

Speaking for the harbor, besides Gov. McNutt, were Senator Minton [Dem., Ind.]; Representatives Halleck of Rensselaer, Schulte of Hammond, and Jenckes of Terre Haute; Mayor Lee Clayton of Gary, William J. Venning, Chicago industrial engineer; Dean Mitchell of the Hammond Industrial association; H. P. Snyder of the Gary Chamber of Commerce, P. W. Clifford of Valparaiso, and John W. Wheeler, member of the Indiana highway commission and chairman of the state planning board.

McNutt produced correspondence he said showed the Midwest Steel corporation would deed property to a public agency authorized to operate the harbor, and would sell part of its remaining land to other industrial concerns, but not to real estate speculators.

"It is my belief," said the governor, "that the shore of Lake Michigan in our state is destined to be a place of great industrial development.

"It has been predicted by many men of vision that the future will see one of the largest cities in the nation built along the southern shore of Lake Michigan, extending from Waukegan, Ill., to Benton Harbor, Mich. If this dream is realized, the Burns Ditch Harbor will be the center."

Senators of Both Parties Rap Florida Canal Project

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—Democrats and Republicans alike assailed the Florida ship canal scheme and the general practice of starting vast projects with relief funds when the 603 million dollar war department appropriation bill came up for consideration in the senate today.

Senator Bennett C. Clark [Dem., Mo.] made a point of order against an amendment by Senator Duncan U. Fletcher [Dem., Fla.] to increase the appropriation by 20 million dollars, of which 12 million dollars would go to the Florida canal. Clark contended that the project never had been authorized by congress and that it could not be authorized by a general appropriation bill, which cannot contain legislation under the senate rules.

The amendment was ruled in order on a roll call vote, 42 to 32, but Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.] immediately launched an attack upon the merits of the 200 million dollar waterway project and its final consideration had to be put over until tomorrow.

29 Million in Funds Are Blocked.

The house of representatives refused to authorize a total of 29 million dollars in appropriations for projects started by President Roosevelt with relief allocations and Senator Fletcher sought unsuccessfully to induce the appropriations committee to reinstate the Florida canal and three smaller projects.

Senator Clark, in making his point of order, declared that the practice of starting vast projects and committing congress to vast expenditures by executive order "involves a complete departure from the methods we always have followed." He said the practice was "robbing the congress of its jurisdiction and prerogatives."

Senator Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.] declared that "under such a procedure congress might be bound for the next 100 years by authorizations it never approved."

Senator Alben W. Barkley [Dem., Ky.], opposing the point of order, argued that the President had authority to spend the 4 billion 880 million dollar relief appropriation of 1935 in any manner that pleased him.

A Question of Abdication.

Senator Alva B. Adams [Dem., Colo.] declared that the authorization of a project was a legislative act. "The President does not have that authority and congress cannot delegate it to him," he added. "The question here is whether congress is going to surrender its control of the purse strings of the nation."

Senator Vandenberg declared that Secretary Ickes, Public Works administrator, rejected the canal project "as an unsound business proposition" and so testified before the senate commerce committee. He added that the department of commerce made a survey in 1934 and found that the maximum possible saving to shippers would be 6 million dollars if all available shippers used the canal.

Does the end of the season find you— in a condition of lowered general resistance?

These first weeks of early spring are a bad time for common ills. So many people are affected!

One reason is that during the past months of rigorous winter, of hard work, of too little exercise and sunshine, you've probably been using up your reserve forces. At the end of winter your general resistance may be low.

That's why it's so important, during this "in-between" season, to use measures for increasing your general resistance.

Adex offers you an easy, pleasant aid. With every Adex tablet or capsule, you get the protective benefits of Vitamin A, which helps to increase your general resistance. Adex also provides Vitamin D, which you should get from a special source beside sunshine at this trying season.

Each Adex capsule will provide you with not less than 6,600 units of Vitamin A, 1,320 units of Vitamin D. In both capsules and tablets, natural sources of the vitamins are used.

Take Adex routinely every day. That's how to benefit most. You can get it at any reliable drug store. Prepared exclusively by E. R. Squibb & Sons, manufacturing chemists to the medical profession since 1858.

2 Ditchdiggers Given Speaking Parts in Movie

Drop Picks and Shovels to Start Training.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 16.—[Special.]—Noted on rounds of the studios:

At M. G. M., two ditchdiggers are playing speaking parts in "Mob Rule," their names, Edgar Edwards and David Tyrell. Edgar was noted in a pick and shovel gang inside the studio grounds this winter and told to report for some acting training. David was found in a construction gang in suburban Belair a few weeks ago by Oliver Hinsdell, who heads the studio's drama coaching school for young talent.

At Warner studio—Busby Berkeley, who is out on $10,000 bail while awaiting retrial, April 6, on charges of second degree murder in connection with three automobile crash deaths caused by his machine hitting two others, is directing the film "Stage Struck" with Warren William and Joan Blondell.

At Paramount—Bill Fields showed up for his first film work in nearly a year on "Poppy" and told his pals: "This will be the last film for me." "Oh, yeah," said the pals, some of whom have been with Fields for many years, "that't what you said when you started 'Tillie's Punctured Romance.'"

At Twentieth Century-Fox—Shirley Temple posing with a bunny for Easter fashion photographs which you undoubtedly will see in the roto sections in a couple of weeks.

At the Brown Derby—Bobby Burns, comedian, radio entertainer and player of odd musical instruments. Said Bobby: "I have a new musical stunt I am perfecting. I resin a sawed-off broomstick and use it as a bow to play a tune in deep bass. I can get lower and more readily definable notes than on any other instrument I know of. It beats the bass fiddle." The instrument on which Burns plays his broomstick bow is his left forefinger, which he rests against the edge of a table for the purpose. "The finger vibrates and makes the bass notes," says Bob. "Of course a fellow has to have a pretty tough finger."

At Radio-RKO studio—Glenn Tryon, ex actor and now a director, says it's a fact that the movie workers filming "Two in Revolt," with the police dog Lightning, have to spell words out for fear the dog will comprehend them. He understands too many spoken words, and if he would hear a sentence with words in it he would understand, for instance, "food," or "leash," or "lunch" or "collar" it would set him off on a train of thought and he might forget his immediate duties in the scene.

At General Service studio, where Walter Wanger production "Big Brown Eyes" [with Joan Bennett and Gary Grant] is being made—they have to use whipped cream instead of shaving soap on the faces of men in the 20 chair barber shop scene, because actual soap dries on the face too fast.

"Maybe I'm foolish," said Lew Stone, on the set of "The Unguarded Hour," "but I turned down a fellow who came to my door and promised me a vast fortune. He said he was in partnership with a German scientist who had perfected an ore and oil finder, and wanted to buy my yacht to convey him to buried treasure on an island off the Central American coast. He asked what I wanted for the yacht. I said, 'thirty-five thousand dollars.' He said, 'we'll give you $45,000.' But his offer was to sail with the first $45,000 worth of recovered treasure to San Francisco and deposit the amount to me there. With the rest of the buried coins and jewels he expected to find, he said he and the German would go after 107 sunken treasure ships which the German had located with his metal finder.'"

A preacher, the Rev. F. G. Roscoe of Blanchard United Brethern congregation, Portland, Ore., won a newspaper letter writing contest on trafic problems in Oregon, and is now in Hollywood as a guest of the movies for a week. "The Trip Solved My Problem of a Topic for a Sunday Sermon," the Rev. Mr. Roscoe said. "I can talk about Hollywood."

Two-Piece Shirtwaist Frock

MISS' FROCK.

The perennially popular shirtwaist frock now appears in an attractive two piece version. The shoulder yoke and soft fullness of the blouse, which buttons up to a little round shirt collar, makes this frock flattering to slim and heavy figures alike. Two pockets add dash to this model. The pattern allows for both long and short sleeves, the final choice of which will, of course, depend upon the season during which you want to wear this dress.

The original is in crêpe print silk. The buttons and belt allow for color expression so important to fashion this season.

Novelty cottons, linens, and tub silks are other suggestions for wear later in the season.

Style No. 2727 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years. Size 16 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material.

Wearin' o' the Green Height of 1936 Fashion

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Wearing green! Green gloves in either soft suede or equally soft fabric in green, colors as fresh as the first buds or the long spikelike leaves of daffodils. Or green carnations, not small precise affairs, but big ragged edged beauties to be worn as many as three or four at once in a large bunch to tuck in your belt, or pinned in a row along the shoulder, or just a duet stuck through the buttonhole of the suit lapel.

Green felt waistcoats with gold metal buttons and fitting smoothly and snugly over the ribs are worn with canary yellow peasant embroidered neckerchiefs. This daring color combine is especially stunning with oxford gray tailored suits or tailleurs of inky black. Green sweaters and green skirts worn with long, swanky topcoats of tattersall check pattern are the pets of a well known sports shop. These sporty black and white checked tattersall topcoats are knockouts with green. The combination is as striking and refreshing as the spring countryside after a long, dull winter.

Green raincoats, with green gloves and umbrellas to match, all made of that light transparent oiled silk stuff that folds and hangs around between showers and is ready for action without any sign of cracking or splitting, are worn widely. The long pull-on transparent gloves are new this year, and going strong.

The most successful two-piece ensembles so far are the sheer wool black one-piece dress and a fitted taffeta jacket of bright Irish green. The jackets are short, tailored and boast the newest of perky puffed sleeves, pockets, lapels that are peaked, and double button fastening just at the waist. If you are tall you can tack a narrow band of green silk around the very edge of the skirt to complete the costume.

Another fresh green stunt is the taffeta slip under a new dance dress, combining navy and green half and half. Then a sash of the green goes around the slim waist of the net dress itself. Green taffeta evening bags, green suede daytime bags to match the gloves, green belts, and some extra special green linen blouses with some exciting green sweaters in twins and singles are slick buys to celebrate your sudden, but good, appetite for this lucky color.

Good Posture Is Secret of Youthfulness in Silhouette

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Word of an advance in employé personal equipment reaches me through department store channels, where posture is being taken up in a large way. The theory is, of course, the better the posture the better the salesperson. If the salesperson advances toward one with a slouchy attitude, you are going to be persuaded against her at once. Slouchy folks do somehow put over an immediate message of inefficiency. Or, if a salesperson behind a counter with a posture slump offers you wares, your patience, which is notoriously none too good anyway on shopping errands, suffers a certain something is communicated across the counter that isn't helpful to sales.

So, a movement is on to bring a more alive posture to the sales scenes. But why, say I, should all the alertness be on the other side of the counter? We on this side might make ourselves a good deal more intelligible to salespeople if we stood up and asked our questions with voices rooted in a good diaphragm sound board. Also, it would help us to make our minds up more quickly and, goodness knows, that would be an appreciated contribution from our side of the counter.

Then, if we are buying dresses, coats, or suits they'd look a thousand times more like the model the designer had in mind for his clothes. In fact, there isn't an argument you can raise in favor of a slouched posture. A certain saleswoman tells me that when a customer steps up to the counter in that alert, alive manner characteristic of the well held body, there is something electric in the way she invites attention. She does not have to come in like a rush of brisk October air. She may be the soul of ease and grace, but her poise is communicated across the counter and it is a pleasure to wait on her.

This posture thing on which I harp incessantly belongs now in the "must" class. You must get it. You must have it, or all your makeup, your waves, your expensive clothes are just so much money thrown away. For it is in posture first, last, and always that you find true youth and beauty. The other items are simply artificial aids and not to be compared with the spirit of youth imparted in that graceful, alert, magnetic quality that emanates from the body held with dignity and grace.

Bright Tones Are Choice of Young Players.

Hollywood, Cal., March 16.—(AP)—Hollywood fashions have gone color mad.

There seems no end to the color patterns which take shape beneath the skilled hands of local couturiers and are affected by the youngest and the gayest screen players.

When Frances Drake goes out a favorite outfit is an ink-blue skirt with a mannish-tailored hound's tooth patterned jacket and a canary colored vest, buttoned with gold francs. A yellow beret with a saucy red feather competes with her shoes—bright blue tied with yellow laces.

Tala Birell takes color into evening in a dinner gown whose jade green coolie jacket is accented with rich embroideries of Chinese red and lined in sea-blue silk, matching the slim sea-green crêpe skirt.

Helen Gahagen, who always has been a smart conservative in her dress, is another actress suddenly gone "color conscious." Her metamorphosis is achieved with a desert sky suit worn with a desert pink blouse and a hat of the deep shade of a desert rose.

Ida Lupino, herself an artist, is enthusiastic about a bolt of stuf whose pattern has caught a school of tropical fish thrown nonchalantly on a mat of green and blue sea weeds.

(Mrs. John Bayne Castle)
October 22, 1935

She's a little serious in this picture—the lovely Eleanor Castle of Maryland. But actually, she's as vivid a person as ever danced at Chevy Chase. How those hazel eyes can sparkle! And when she smiles—all the lights go on! All helped along, to be sure, by a smooth, delightful, creamy skin kept that way by Camay.

Your skin, too, will be grateful for Camay's perfect care. Test its rich, fine textured lather. Feel those tiny, active bubbles reaching down to cleanse—deeply and completely. And then see how much smoother—more supple—more attractive—Camay leaves your skin.

There's a reason for it all—a good reason! If there's one thing that every woman's skin really needs, it's the mildest, most gentle cleansing possible. And Camay does just that. Camay has been tested against the leading beauty soaps—not just in laboratories—but on women's skin. Time after time, in these tests, the result was the same—Camay was the mildest of them all—definitely, provably milder!

Make this day the lucky day you begin with Camay. Order at least a half-dozen cakes... then, day by day, watch your skin grow lovelier. And remember—the price is so low that you really needn't consider it at all.

LISTEN IN: "Forever Young," Camay's great new show. Every day, Monday through Friday, at 3:00 P.M., E.S.T., WEAF and N.B.C. Red Network. See your newspaper for exact time in your locality.

Miss Marian Hulce, whose engagement to be married is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Hulce of La Grange. Her fiance is Cortland B. Horr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Horr, also of La Grange. The wedding is planned for the near future.

'Cyrano' Gains in Each Visit of Hampden

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Walter Hampden's staging of the heroic comedy, "Cyrano de Bergerac," an eloquent, stirring and humorous interpretation of a masterpiece of romantic drama, came to Chicago last night to make its last bow. This is the fourth or fifth visit within a few years, and it is, therefore, a familiar story.

However, it does not grow stale through repetition; it is a playgoing pleasure that deepens with frequent contact. I greet its valedictory engagement with enthusiasm. Two weeks hence I shall bid it good-by with regret, confident that Cyrano will rise again on the American stage, after Mr. Hampden has sent his sword, cape and plume to the storehouse, for there is a tinge of immortality in the blood of this fantastic character.

Mr. Hampden plays Rostand's chevalier of the mighty soul and the overpowering nose for every touch of comedy that the text contains, and they are many—flashes of wit, strokes of satire and episodes of mental buffoonery. He also gives studious attention to the glittering romance of the rôle—the knightly gestures, the swashbuckling swordsmanship, and the fine speeches in which poetic imagery is mingled with brilliant epigrams. He is at his best, however, in the last act, where Cyrano's bizarre career is coming to a melancholy close. Here Hampden's essential dignity and grace as an actor of poetic drama find magnificent expression. The Cyranos of Coquelin and Mansfield may have been better in the lighter phases of the character; but I doubt if they equaled Hampden's in this last passage of unconquerable nobility of soul.

Mr. Hampden's company is the same as before, with a single exception—Wilton Graff as Christian, the young soldier for whom Cyrano woos Roxanne with a breaking heart. This change is an improvement; the other Christians were little more than stuffed uniforms, while Mr. Graff contrives to find in the slender and thankless rôle something of the shy, winning spirit of the tongue-tied young man, and makes him a figure not unworthy of Roxanne's idealized affection.

The program of "Cyrano de Bergerac" contains forty-one characters, among whom only four can be called major—Roxanne, gracefully played by Katherine Warren; the Comte de Guiche, acted with courtly cynicism by Robert Hudson; the aforesaid Christian, and the dominating Cyrano, who probably has more to say for himself than Hamlet, the traditional record holder of drama. The minor figures in the bustling scenes are all acted competently; and occasionally a skilfully etched "bit" stands out in the crowd, such as the duenna of Mabel Moore, and the Carbon de Castel-Jaloux of C. Norman Hammond. The entire performance is sound, seasoned "Cyrano" stuff according to the Hampden tradition.

Mr. Hampden uses the best translation of Rostand's tricky style that has ever been made for the English speaking stage. Brian Hooker's work is, in itself, a respectable achievement in blank verse, and it seldom misses Rostand's subtle points of epigram or word play.

Episcopalian Holds Lent Is Too Long for Moderns

Philadelphia, Pa., March 16.—[Special.]—Lent is too long "under present day conditions," according to the Rev. Dr. David M. Steele, rector emeritus of the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. Luke and the Epiphany. He suggested that its observance be confined to a period of about one week—holy week—and predicted that with such an arrangement "there would be less profitless labor imposed upon the clergy and infinitely more benefit to the people."

Dog Fanciers Prepare for Annual Show

Kennel Club Exhibit Will Be Held April 3-5.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THOSE who will show their dogs in the Chicago Kennel club's 35th annual all-breed show, to be held at the Coliseum April 3-5, are not finding life dull during these Lenten days for they are busy getting their dogs into the pink of condition for the show. No young girl before her debut receives more careful attention and grooming from her doting mother than a blue blooded dog receives from his proud master or mistress for six or eight weeks before a show. The brute must be in perfect physical condition to make a good appearance and it must be handled carefully for weeks before the show to insure good action in the ring.

The bulldogs of which the Conway Olmsteds are so proud and the smooth haired fox terriers, dachshunds, and bulldogs that Mrs. Olmsted's brothers, Hulburd and Hugh McBirney Johnston, own, are being primped and primed for the show out at the Olmsted-Johnston kennels at River Grove, and the owners hope to add several blue ribbons to their collections. One of Gaylord Donnelley's griffons is out there, too, being gotten into condition, but his other two are at home in the North State street apartment in which Mr. Donnelley and his bride, the former Dorothy Ranney, live.

Entries have not been made yet so it is too early to know exactly which fanciers will show this dogs but it is expected that Mr. and Mrs. John B. Barnes will show their bulldogs and that her father, Thomas M. Howell, will exhibit his Labrador retrievers and Irish wolfhounds.

Harold M. Florsheim undoubtedly will show his airedale terriers and Alexander H. Stewart, president of the club, is getting his wire haired fox terriers into shape. Mr. and Mrs. Orrin H. Baker probably will win more blue ribbons with their Kerry Blue terriers, and Dr. Noel S. Young hopes to win some prizes with his sealyhams.

Mrs. Gambrill Takes Role in Children's Play.

Mrs. Richard Gambrill Jr., long one of the Junior league's cleverest comedians, is returning after an interval of several years to be the leading "funny man" in the forthcoming production of "Mr. Dooley Jr.," by the league Children's theater.

Because Mrs. Gambrill and her husband and children always go down to Mr. Gambrill's old home in Frederick, Md., for Easter and also because of its proximity to Lent, the opening date of the play has been postponed from April 11 to the following Saturday, April 18.

With her marriage to Gail Belden taking place in June, Miss Louise Conway nevertheless is finding time to take the part of Mrs. Anderson, one of the important rôles. Mrs. Robert Hoffman Jr. and Mrs. Harry McLeod take the parts of her little daughter and son, whose efforts to keep the little dog, "Mr. Dooley Jr.," are responsible for most of the action of the play.

Miss Margaret Wilder's wire haired terrier, Puck, finally was awarded this rôle. Mrs. Stephen A. Harrington, who had a part in Le Gallienne's production of "Peter Pan," plays the dog's original owner, Mrs. Meany, and Miss Katherine Daniels plays the children's father. Mrs. Robert Curtis has comic rôle, and Mrs. Thomas Knorr, and Mrs. Cyrus R. Smith are others in the cast.

Tavern Club to Hold Mixed Smoker Tonight.

The Harold Bodmans, the William C. Boydens, and the Wirt Mortons are a few of the many who will be at the Tavern tonight for a mixed smoker. The same German band that played at the annual meeting some weeks ago will furnish music for singing and dancing, and food and drink similar to those the men enjoyed at the meeting will be served.

Members of the Tavern who attended the noon breakfast party Sunday had a real treat in the afternoon when Daniel Ericourt, a young French pianist, gave an informal recital. He

THE following advice, given eleven centuries ago, in "Instructions from King Cormac," could hardly be improved on. According to the late Kuno Meyer, professor of Celtic languages at the University of Liverpool, who translated it from the ancient Irish, it was written in the early ninth century.

"O, Cormac, grandson of Conn," said Carbery, "what are the dues of a chief and of an alehouse?"

"Not hard to tell," said Cormac.

FEMINIST note: Five Chicago women dined together last Saturday evening, four of them leaving husbands to bridge, or income tax computation, or the movies, or whatever trouble they might get into on a Saturday night. It definitly was a party, with the ladies in charming evening attire. There were cocktails, guinea hen and wine, spring flowers in the moderne centerpiece on the copper topped dining table, and red roses in the drawing room.

Each of the five women is highly feminine in type, and several of them are considered beauties. Also each of them has a job, or is a recognized artist in her own field. One of them was Irene Rich, the actress and radio performer, looking amazingly beautiful in a printed gown, with the cut out flowers of the print outlining the bodice and forming shoulder straps.

* *

WHAT the point of this tale is I'm not sure. It was a distinct novelty for the five women to be present at a dinner party without men; there was, for once, no talk of politics or the New Deal. But there was much laughter, and a number of objective observations, and a great deal of conversation that would make excellent dialog in a modern novel. And the five women felt that it had been an evening without a dull moment.

Cagney Freed; Plans to Enter British Movies

Los Angeles, Cal., March 16.—(AP)—James Cagney, red-haired rebel of the movie colony, freed himself of a $4,500 a week screen contract today—then turned his eyes toward European films.

Studio executives announced they would appeal the decision.

"By gosh, that ends a long headache for me," Cagney commented. "This has been going on for years.

"I'm going to take a vacation, probably in Europe.

"There have been some nice offers from English companies and I would not be surprised if I made some pictures over there."

In the latest controversy, he claimed Jack L. Warner, vice president of the company, had broken an oral agreement not to star him in more than four pictures a year.

Superior Judge Charles Bogue's decision, however, was not based on the oral agreement, but that the studio had voided Cagney's contract by failing to live up to a clause stipulating "star billing" in every picture he made.

Cagney's lawyers showed his name had been in a subordinate position in the advertisments of "Ceiling Zero," and also in the billing of "Footlight Parade."

Judge Bogue ruled Cagney automatically waived his rights under the alleged oral agreement he said had been broken when he continued to work for the studio.

Judge Bogue said, in his decision:

"The improper billing was not casual or inadvertent. It practically all occurred after the plaintif ceased work when he completed his last picture and started to assert the matter set out in his complaint."

During the trial Cagney testified proper billing had been given him, in practically all instances, before he brought the suit. But when the controversy began, he said, "numerous mistakes were noted."

The contract Judge Bogue ruled void was signed in 1932, provided a $3,000-a-week salary, with $500-a-week advances each year for four years.

Good Morning!

The phrase "a great human document" has been worked to death—but "The Story of Louis Pasteur," now unreeling at the Apollo, is just exactly that.

It depicts the occasion when Pasteur, broken in health but fired as ever by the magnificent spirit which has never failed him through years of untiring labor in the cause of humanity and carried him unscathed and indifferent through hot fires of criticism, hardship, and humiliation, receives the homage due him. It is at the dedication of Pasteur Institute for Bacteriological Research—a life dream materialized because of the gift of money from the czar of Russia—a grateful czar to whose people Pasteur has rendered inestimable service.

There is sentiment in this episode that pretty near bowls you over. Sentiment that is not even a distant relation to sentimentality.

"The Story of Louis Pasteur" has been filmed with dignity and fidelity to fact. Too much of the latter, possibly, for box office success, because this thoroughness entails a number of long technical discourses relative to Pasteur's anthrax and rabies cures and his war against the unsterile methods of physicians which had been the cause of the dread "child bed fever." Too, the scientific background may not intrigue the masses. But the many who are interested in world progress—and fine achievements of the movies—will acclaim the picture as a whole and be enthusiastic over Paul Muni's characterization of the French chemist whose researches revolutionized medical science.

He makes him Lincolnlike. Great, human, misunderstood — without Lincoln's humor. And there are times —poses—when his resemblance to Lincoln is startling.

The picture takes up Pasteur's life at the time when he was engaged in bacteriological work in Paris—advancing theories which brought down upon his devoted head the scorn and condemnation of recognized exponents of medicine. It is great biography, dwelling dramatically but never theatrically upon outstanding incidents in the scientist's career.

Notable is the scene where Pasteur's inoculated sheep survive a test that kills the uninoculated animals of Dr. Charbonnet, Pasteur's greatest decrier, and which brings him the homage of the great Lister of England. [Whose life's story should provide us with another worthwhile photoplay.]

Other outstanding episodes concern Pasteur's first rabies cure, and the occasion when he summons Charbonnet to deliver his daughter's baby—insisting that the doctor sterilize himself and his instruments. Charbonnet—scoffing—drives a hard bargain. But I'll let the picture enlighten you as to that.

Steadfast in her love and faith is Mme. Pasteur, whose loyalty plays no mean part in her husband's final triumph.

A slender thread of romance—the love affair between Pasteur's daughter and his enthusiastic cohort, young Dr. Martel, winds in and out of the action—but it's never permitted to distract attention from—the story of Louis Pasteur.

An excellent cast supports the star. Especially fine are Fritz Lieber as Charbonnet, Halliwell Hobbes as Lister, and Josephine Hutchinson as Mme. Pasteur.

Direction—Magnificent.

Let the movies give us more of this sort of thing! And we shall know, understand, and immeasurably benefit by association with the great of all ages!

See you soon.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A Chicago shop has done the girls a good turn recently—had a perfume made expressly over in France that could give the most widely exploited and expensive scents a stiff run for their money and their popularity. This perfume is simply bottled, doesn't have a romantic name, and isn't way up in the high priced class. But it's good.

The women who like a daytime perfume in good taste that's attractive, too, will love this. It's not romantic —not even a suggestion of the sickly sweet. Rather it's spicy, with the faintest undertone of muskiness. It clambers right into the spring mood of tailored clothes and dash, since it's got a most original and definite tang.

If your perfume choice is for tuberose or similar langorous fragrances you will probably pass this up. If, on the other hand, you like a frafrance with spice and life it will be your dish. A masculine comment on it was, "That's the kind of perfume for a business woman to wear. Heaven preserve us from the drippy perfumes and the gals who wear them!" It appears that glamor, both in perfumes and in personalities, has its place—but that place isn't the office.

And while we're on the subject of perfume we'd like to remind you again of the atomizer. Don't, please, overlook it if you want to get what someone once described as the "maximum allure" of perfume. And since atomizers are now available in the widest possible range of prices we shouldn't think of them as luxurious accoutrements. Treat yourself to one and find out for yourself what a difference it makes.

Using it with an atomizer is the way to do this interesting new perfume justice. You'll get exactly the whispering, subtle effect you want.

Special Squad

By Courtney Ryley Cooper

SYNOPSIS.

Inspector Sandy Ross of the department of justice and Special Agent Buck Wasey travel by motor from Reno to Vinton City in search of information on Sociable Joe Willis, suspected of assisting in armored car robberies. A collision of two cars on a mountain road brings Jane Bronson into Sandy's life. But when she learns his identity she vanishes. A letter from Sociable Joe had brought Jane to Vinton City to plead with her brother, Lee, known there as Ray Hammer, to give up his gang connections. When she tells him about the special agents he agrees to leave with her immediately. They drive away in a cream colored car and Lee deliberately runs down Sociable Joe. Sociable Joe admits serving time for killing his wife, but denies knowing Jane Bronson or Ray Hammer. Meanwhile, in San Francisco the Lurch-McKeever mob await the arrival of Lee Bronson, needed for his ability in female impersonating. The cream colored car, known to have been stolen after an armored car robbery in New York, is located at a tourist camp near Gunnison, Colo., where Sandy and Buck speed by plane. They drive to the camp in the wake of a cloudburst. They find Jane alone.

INSTALMENT XX.

A DRESS LOST.

"You might have found traces of my brother. He was there with me for a day in the cabin," Jane said sadly.

"Yeh, I found his fingerprints," said Buck. "That was all."

The girl tried to brighten.

"Lose a dress?" asked Buck.

"What kind?" queried Sandy.

"A reddish one, with blue flowers on it. And a blue hat. And a pair of blue shoes. I don't mind the shoes. They were 'way too big for me."

Buck stared at the ceiling, his tongue over his lips.

"That does happen, doesn't it?" asked Jane.

"Sometimes," said Sandy. "Miss 'em here—the clothes I mean?"

"Well, I missed them here. But I don't know whether I lost them here. You see, my brother and I stopped overnight at various places."

"Came from Vinton City, didn't you?" Buck asked.

"Well, we started from there. Lee and I were going home, you know."

"Lee's your brother," said Sandy.

"Yes. He'd been out in Reno—I told you I was going to visit him." She laughed nervously. "But—I—I—really wasn't. You see, Lee and I haven't been getting along very well, and so he'd decided to leave home.

"Why should he be carrying a machine gun?... Why should he? Why should he?"

Then I found out where he was and I went out to Vinton City and—well, we talked it over and he said we'd go back again——"

"How had you discovered where he was?"

The girl's hands began to knit. This questioning was so low voiced, so casual, yet so quietly incisive.

"Well—you see—I'd gotten a letter from somebody——"

"Do you mind telling who sent it?" Sandy questioned.

"I don't know. It wasn't signed. Lee said it must have come from an old friend of the family, Mr. Willis. We call him Sociable Joe."

"Lives in Vinton City," supplied Buck.

"That's what Lee said. I wanted to see him—but once Lee made up his mind, he wanted to go home, all of a sudden. So we started out of town—Lee almost scared me to death, he drives so fast, and he almost hit an old man as we went through town. I was terribly tired and I screamed——"

"Yes, we heard you did," Sandy Ross agreed cryptically.

"That made Lee mad." The girl's demeanor was changing; something of the haunted look which Sandy had first seen when he had entered the cabin now had returned to her features. "So we quarreled most of the time after that. Maybe that's how I came to lose the dress and shoes and hat—I was sort of upset over Lee—I guess I just left them behind somewhere——"

"You say you were upset," Sandy asked quietly. "Was there any especial reason? Had Lee done something to worry you?"

"Yes," Buck supplied. "Had he gotten into any trouble—you know—anything that would worry——"

The girl laughed—a desperate sort of grimace rather than an action of mirth. Her hands knitted more and more swiftly—soon they seemed to writhe; the blood had left her features.

"Why—I don't know—he didn't say—he didn't say anything about it——"

Suddenly she ceased and tensened, looking from one to the other. Her pale tongue licked swiftly over bloodless lips. Her eyes, hunted, desperate, began to blaze with a queer, lifeless fire which drove through the men like an electric current. Then, all in an instant, she broke, face contorted, words streaming:

"Of course he'd gotten into trouble—that's why I was trying to make him come home—trying to get him away before he could get mixed up again—that's why you're hunting him—because he's done something awful, and he's wanted as a criminal. But he got away from me—he ran away—and he took that long case with him—he said it was gold ore, but it wasn't because I got a look at it—I saw it—and it was a machine gun—it was a machine gun, I tell you—like those over in the corner. Why should he be carrying a machine gun—why should he? Why should he?"

Her hands clawed to her face. Weaving, she stood there, striving vainly for strength. But the coughing sobs would not cease.

"Easy there, Jane!" Before he realized it, Sandy Ross had taken the stricken girl into his arms.

It was nearly morning. Long ago, the waters of Bobcat gulch had ceased to boil, and, slowly receding, now revealed only a gaping hole where the bridge had been. The mountains were soft in moonlight; the blackness of menacing clouds had departed. From the timber stretches on the lower hills came the steady rustle of the night wind, like that of a speeding train, far away. Peace pervaded all the hill country, except in that one cabin, where a kerosene lamp still burned and where sat Jane Bronson facing the two men whom she viewed paradoxically as her enemies, and yet as her friends.

There had been a long delay in the questioning following the girl's hysterical outburst. Experience had taught Sandy Ross and his comrade that, provided a willingness existed, there was only folly in attempting to extract helpful information from someone who had lost control of reason.

Somehow they felt that Jane Bronson was telling them the truth, although they could not for a moment relax the wariness which years of experience had made almost second nature. Therefore, hopeful that they might believe, yet constantly warned by many past disillusionments, they had done the only thing possible. In kindly, sympathetic fashion they attempted to soothe the distraught condition of her brain; then they had waited until they felt they could proceed without an accusation of forced interrogation. At last they were talking again, quietly and with no attempt to drive this girl into nerve-wracking revelations. Better that information should come gradually and without strain.

Jane had told at some length of her life in Kansas City and of the anonymous letter which had sent her to Vinton City. She had detailed her fears upon hearing, in the garage, that Sandy Ross and his partner were agents of the federal bureau of investigation. Likewise, she had explained her hurried trip to her brother's house, following the directions as given her in the anonymous letter, and the results of the interview which had followed.

"Your brother said that Sociable Joe wrote you that letter?" Sandy suggested.

"Yes. Lee blamed him for it."

"Blamed?"

Jane smiled faintly.

"That's the way Lee put it. He never liked poor old Sociable Joe."

"Any special reason?"

"Nothing—except that Lee always said Sociable Joe pawed him too much. Made too much over him, you know."

"Old friend of the family?" Buck Wasey asked. The girl brightened.

"Then you lived out here?"

"I was born in Denver. So was Lee—he is three years older than I."

Peanut Butter Breads Perfect in Sandwiches

BY MARY MEADE.

The heavy sandwich season draws night, with the first spring picnics and salad sandwich luncheons, to say nothing of the increased demands of after school roller skaters and marble shooters. So ye foresighted housewife is brushing up on all sorts of new sandwich combinations—and, as well, new and interesting home baked breads for a sandwich basis.

A peanut butter bread, with raisins, seems to us a dandy for satisfying keen spring appetites. It's especially fine, too, in wafer-thin butter sandwiches with tea, while if you're packing a daily lunch kit, it's a surefire way of ending any March monotony.

This recipe makes two medium sized loaves.

Peanut Butter Raisin Bread

1 cup milk
1 cup water
2 cakes compressed yeast
⅓ cup peanut butter
⅓ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
¼ cup butter
1⅓ cup seedless raisins
7 to 7¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour

Combine the milk and water and heat to lukewarm. Add crumbled yeast and stir until dissolved. Cream peanut butter, sugar, salt, and butter together thoroughly. Add the yeast mixture and stir well, then add a portion of the flour and beat until blended. Add the raisins, which have been rinsed and drained, and the remainder of the flour. Mix and lift to a floured board. Knead for 5 minutes, or until smooth and elastic. Then cover and let stand in a warm place until light, about 2 hours. Form into two loaves, and place in greased pans. Again cover and let rise for 1 hour. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., for 50 minutes. Brush tops of loaves with melted butter as soon as they are taken from the oven.

Peanut Butter Quick Bread

2 cups bread flour
⅓ cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg, beaten
¾ cup peanut butter
1 cup milk
1 cup seedless raisins.

Sift the dry ingredients together. Combine the beaten egg and peanut butter, and work into the dry ingredients with a fork. Add the milk [a scant cup] and rinsed, drained raisins. Turn into a greased loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven for 50 to 60 minutes.

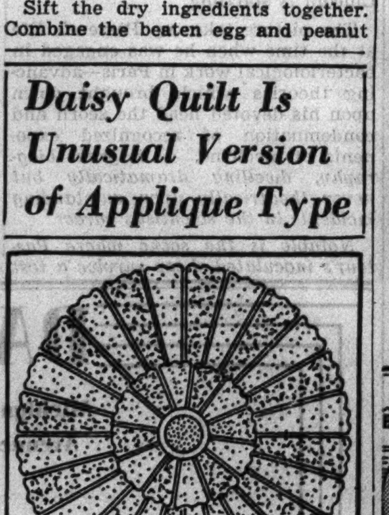
Daisy Quilt Is Unusual Version of Applique Type



Swan River Daisies.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Swan River Daisies" is a most unusual applique pattern although it has been named after a beautiful cultivated daisy, the petals of which are plain instead of patterned, as the quilt design indicates. Light and dark prints are used most effectively to create a quilt pattern of quaintness and charm. The entire coverlet is composed of applique blocks which do not take long to make.

Three Exhibits Offer Paintings by Chicagoans

Berenice Newman Shows Good Landscapes.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Chicago painters are well represented in three exhibitions which have just opened. Berenice Newman is showing flower painting and landscapes in the Tudor gallery, Chicago Woman's club. E. L. Bloomster is showing marines in the Carson Pirie Scott galleries and a regiment of Chicago painters is responsible for the exhibition of Chicago scenes hanging in the Auditorium hotel mezzanine under the auspices of the South Side Art association.

The flower paintings by Mrs. Newman are fresh and colorful and decorative. Her compositions are varied but her sensitive handling of blossoms remains a constant.

In landscape one finds birch trees to be a favorite and usually the curve or bend of a lake or river balances their slim, white lengths. A low-lying landscape of flat meadows cut by infrequent trees and shadowed by a cloud-swept sky is unique. The foreground in this is especially satisfying. The flower paintings possess great charm and beauty. A gorgeous garden fronted by a stand filled with magnificent petunias catches the eye immediately. Another beautiful painting of hydrangeas against an attractive background delicately figured is amazingly effective.

Three paintings in black and white are interesting. The red roses against a brown background and the huge bouquet of iris are alluring. The "Japanese Print" is low-toned and intriguing in its simple, unaffected handling.

The marines by Bloomster are as stunning as any he has ever shown. Particularly fine is the boat coming in to quiet silvery waters. The grand old sailing vessels with their crowded canvas breasting the running seas are an unfailing joy to the boat enthusiast.

The South Side Art association exhibit in the Auditorium is probably good, but the lighting is poor. Winter is a favorite theme. The lack of proper lighting made it difficult for this reviewer to get the title and painter's name as well as to study the paintings. The suggestion is in order that each picture be accompanied by a typewritten slip stating the name of the canvas and the name of the artist. Then the show will undoubtedly resolve itself into a representative group of Chicago paintings.

Understanding Child Mother's First Business

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

If mothers could understand why their children act in a certain way, it would usually rob them of the sense of annoyance or anger which they frequently feel.

In trying to help the mothers who have been on our mind this week—the ones who confess themselves almost nervous wrecks because they can't do a thing with their little children—I think the most important thing is to try to get them to understand what small children are like and what they need: from life in general, from their homes, and chiefly from that person who is with them twenty-four hours a day and is really the center of their universe—their mother.

How, then, can I briefly picture the little child so that his mother, now distracted by him, can really see him? I'll try:

[b] He has everything to learn and he's going to be just as busy as possible learning it.

[c] Everything around him is an object of curiosity—he needs to taste, to see, and above all to touch.

[d] Routines—like eating and sleeping and bathing and toileting—are usually just interruptions to things he wants to do.

[e] He needs the warmth of love shown, [f] the guidance and encouragement that approval give, [g] the stimulation that interest in his play represents, [h] and the serenity that an unhurried, even tempered mother can give him.

If his mother denies him all these things, his whole nature will be blocked, and he will experience nothing but a succession of frustrations. And what follows? Tears, tantrums, disobedience, refusal to eat, and wilfulness.

Nature doesn't intend him to accept a negative nothingness—she doesn't mean him to take it lying down—so he doesn't.

But if his mother will try to understand, all the confused little pieces of her life and his will fall into an ordered design—a beautiful design for living.

According to CULBERTSON

NOT LUCK; JUDGMENT!

Tuesday is Expert's day in Ely Culbertson's column. Write your bridge comments, suggestions, and interesting hands to him, care The Tribune. For questions, remember to inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Bridge tragedies more often are due to human frailty than to the malignant interference of fate. This statement must not be interpreted to mean that there is no such thing as a "bad break." Every player of long experience has suffered from having the cards seemingly stacked against him at some time or other. But it is unfair and unintelligent to count as "a break" anything that could have been avoided by either care or sagacity.

I am quite sure that the hapless declarer in today's hand felt he was a victim of the evil eye when the opponents chalked up a 1,700 point penalty against him. Personally, I feel much greater sympathy for his partner.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	4 spades	5 hearts	double
			[final bid]

This hand was reported to me by Thomas H. Peeples of Boston, who was the East player. Probably out of charity and sportsmanship to his stricken adversaries, Mr. Peeples failed to comment on South's bidding. Not knowing who South was, I am not so restrained.

Whatever slight excuse there may have been for the five heart bid instead of five clubs cannot hold in view of the subsequent pass to the penalty double. Under ordinary circumstances a suit as strong as South's may be considered solid, but the circumstances were not ordinary! East's four spade bid was a loud warning or, rather, it should have been! West's double was the second and louder warning. When declarer closed his ears he actually invited disaster.

Bad as South's bidding had been, his play proved worse. He ruffed the opening spade lead and played his four top trumps. Then he took the club finesse. East won and did not make the error of leading the ace of spades, which would have irremediably cut off communications between his hand and partner's, and would have reduced the penalty to one trick. Observing his partner's nine of clubs on the first lead of that suit, he returned a club. West ruffed and drew declarer's remaining trump. A second spade lead put East in for the cashing of his enormous suit. Result, down six doubled, vulnerable, 1,700 points!

Six clubs could not have been defeated, since East would have had to make the opening lead. But even at the five heart contract, proper play would have saved at least four tricks. Declarer could not afford to lead out trumps until the club suit was safely established. With the clubs established, the top hearts could have been drawn, and West's long trumps conceded for a set of two tricks. If South guessed the location of the diamond king, he could actually have made his contract, but that would have required double dummy play.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: My opponents won the first four tricks against my doubled three spade contract. I took the last nine and, on the sixth trick, one of the opponents revoked. Do I get credit for two overtricks, doubled?

Answer: No. Since the opponents won no tricks on the revoke or afterward, there is no penalty.

Tomorrow's Hand.

Mrs. Rickcords' sister, Miss Peggy Hambleton, is sailing tomorrow with the John R. Winterbothams and their son, Johnny, to be in Bermuda until April 3d so she will be there during the first few days of the Rickcords' and "Berry" Eaton's stay.

Other Bermuda vacationers: Mr. and Mrs. George A. Macdonald and their brother and sister-in-law, the John Stuarts, are expected to land in New York at the end of the week after a delightful holiday. They are landing at about the same time that Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland, Miss Martha Borland, and the Macdonalds' daughter, Miss Mary Macdonald, are arriving on the Manhattan from England.

The Borlands and Miss Macdonald, who are docking on Thursday, went over for the exhibit of Chinese art at Burlington house in London. Miss Harriet Borland is in New York awaiting the arrival of her mother and sister.

The Macdonalds' daughter-in-law, Mrs. Robert S. Macdonald [Patsy Keith], returned two weeks ago from several weeks with her parents, the Leslie Keiths, in Arizona. Mr. and Mrs. Keith are in Belleair, Fla., now, and are expected at home in Lake Forest April 1.

Helen Fulton Wins Tennis Tournament.

From Bermuda comes the news that Miss Helen Fulton of Winnetka won the women's singles in the Bermudiana Hotel annual tennis tournament. On the afternoon of the finals her mother, Mrs. Frank D. Fulton, gave a tea for her at the hotel. Miss Fulton is the number one ranking woman in the Chicago district and number two in the western division of the United States Tennis association.

Another Chicago family in Bermuda is that of Edmund J. Doering. He and his wife and their youngest daughter, Miss Nancy Doering, are occupying an attractive house. Mrs. George Peck Earling, the former Edna Doering, has gone down from Milwaukee to visit her parents, and Edmund III. will join them during his spring vacation from Choate.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Martin Stevenson [Virginia Doering] are sailing on April 1 to be with the Doerings until they return to Chicago at the end of April. Miss Gwendolyn Bowen is a house guest of the Doerings just now, but she and Miss Doering are returning to Chicago April 13, for Miss Doering is anxious to continue with a course in nursing—the Grey Ladies' course—which she began last fall, and she wants to graduate with her class. Earlier in the winter Miss Doering was a guest of Miss Bowen and her parents, the Joseph T. Bowens, on their Arizona ranch.

Miss Caryl Bloomingston, another Grey Ladies' student, will return at about that time from a cruise around South America. She accompanied Mrs. Melvin A. Traylor and Mrs. Nathan B. Swift [Nancy Traylor].

Others on Vacations in California Resorts.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody arrived at home yesterday from a visit in Santa Barbara, Cal., with Miss Katherine Harvey. Mrs. George D. McLaughlin and Miss Harriet McLaughlin, who also have been Miss Harvey's guests, will not return to Chicago until early April.

Among the many other Chicagoans vacationing in California are Miss Christobel Wheeler and Mrs. Joseph Terbell and her little daughter, Gladys, who are at the Smoke Tree ranch at Palm Springs. Mrs. Arthur W. Jerrems Jr., the John H. Harmons and the William Deans also are enjoying the desert and the mountains at Palm Springs.

Late winter vacationers are Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Cummings and their children, who left Friday night to spend several weeks at Hobe Sound, Fla.

Today is Alson E. Barnhart's 90th birthday, but he and Mrs. Barnhart are not giving a reception as they did last year. Mr. Barnhart has been ill for some time, and he and Mrs. Barnhart will spend the day quietly in their apartment at the Edgewater Beach hotel receiving their friends' good wishes by telephone and telegram.

Hart-Platt Nuptials Take Place Today.

The wedding of Mrs. Patricia O'Gorman Hart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold N. Scott, to Henry Russell Platt Jr., son of Mrs. Henry R. Platt of Evanston, will take place quietly at 11 o'clock today at the Thorndike Hilton Memorial chapel at the University of Chicago. Just the immediate families will witness the ceremony and attend the breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Scott will give afterward in their Lake Shore drive apartment.

Mrs. Karl M. Zander of Evanston will attend Mrs. Hart as matron of honor and Sherwood K. Platt will serve his brother as best man. After a wedding trip south Mr. Platt and his bride will be at home in Evanston.

Mrs. James Ward Thorne, as chairman of the reception committee at the Arts club, will be among those receiving and pouring tea at the club this afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock when two new exhibits are opened. Serge Ferat and Harry Carlsson are the artists.

Among those who have been invited to assist Mrs. Thorne are Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson, Mrs. Stuart Otis, Mrs. Loyal Davis, Mrs. Jefferson Jackson, Mrs. Carey Orr, Miss Emily Larned, Miss Marie Blanke, Miss Abby Tallmadge, and Miss Katherine Wolcott.

Julien Benda, author and philosopher, will speak on "The Crisis of Democracy" before the Cercle Français in its quarters at the Fine Arts building at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. Ralph H. Mrs. Philip W. Pillsbury is chairman of the twenty-five near north siders who have planned the series.

The Woman's Athletic club members and their guests will hear a lecture entitled, "Education for the Art of Living," Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. Jessica Garretson Cosgrave will be the lecturer.

Absorption in Work Cure for Broken Heart

Most Effective Way of Forgetting Hurt.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Maybe there are more painful tragedies than the unrequited love of the abandoned wife, but we can't imagine what they are. A loss by death, tragic as it is, is not so bitter as the years go on. There is a certain comfort to be extracted from the kindly memories which fate usually disposes to the bereaved one. But the woman whose husband deserts her for a love from which he can't extricate himself, and keeps on hoping and loving with only more and more humiliation meeting her every advance, bestirs the sincere pity of any feeling person.

Such is Mrs. J.'s plight. For 17 years the sun rose and set in her man. For the last of the 17 years she knew her position was endangered. She fought with every effort to recover the lost love but finally the man packed up and left. And still the woman goes on praying, hoping something will happen to bring her love back.

What sort of individual he is has nothing to do with the case today. The particular man probably isn't worth a heartache to either woman. Or he may be. We have no way of knowing. His worth or worthlessness is not a vital issue with the woman and, therefore, need not be with us. The problem is, what must the woman do to ease the constant gnawing at her heart? How can she steel herself not to keep the memory of the departed one so alive that there's not a moment of the day she is not thinking of him, as Mrs. J. reports.

She won't succeed in ever forgetting. Women of her type never do. But, at least, throwing oneself so wholeheartedly into work that time will not permit the heart indulgence provides a certain amount of alleviation.

It's all well to suggest that one close the book on a husband who walks out after years of marriage. It cannot be done entirely if the woman has cared deeply. There are too many memories, too many hours together, and too many now apart, to rule the figure out completely. It's hard, hard medicine to take, humiliating and tragic when another woman figures as basking in the sunshine of company you want most in the world.

Morgan Wins $267 in Cash Prizes at N. Y. Garden Show

The 25,000 visitors appeared eager to pay $1 each to revel in the atmosphere and saunter across green grass two city blocks from the Grand Central station.

It was the meeting place for financier and farmer. J. P. Morgan, the financier, did not come the opening day, but his displays—blue iris, amaryllis, cyclamen, yellow freesias—won for him $267 in cash prizes.

Anthropologist Describes Studies of Hair Weight

Brunette hair is heavier than blonde tresses, Dr. Melville J. Herskovits, professor of anthropology at Northwestern university, said yesterday in an address before members of the Chicago Woman's club in their headquarters at 72 East 11th street. He told of laborious research on hair of various races as an example of the lengths to which anthropologists have gone in their studies.

"Line's the Thing in COATS this Spring"

says Carson's

It's up to you which line you'll take—the slim, sleek, and fitted—almost the silhouette of a dress—or the loose-swinging swagger line that permits the coat to slip on just as easily over a suit as over a frock.

There are no half-way measures—it must be one or the other—but in these Carson Coats there is so much variety in length, in detail, in trimming, and in fabric—that each style may stick closely to the rule of "line" without losing a whit of its individuality.

Leader—Rodman.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel, the two demon cyclists of Dortmund, Germany, who have stirred up such a to-do among American six day race fans, last night demonstrated to 11,000 Chicagoans during the second night's pedaling at the Stadium why they have won six straight whirls since coming to this country, but to at least two in the house, they are still just a couple of guys on bicycles.

The two skeptics were Jerry Rodman, Jewish rider from Chicago's west side, and Bobby Thomas, Kenosha's gift to cycling. Kilian and Vopel rode their heads off during several hours of wild jamming, but at midnight, the end of the 27th hour, Jerome and Robert were not only deadlocked with them in mileage, but were 20 points ahead of them in the sprint tabulations, 67 to 47.

Pickup System Perfect.

The two Germans, with a pickup system which seems instinctive, skimmed round and around the Stadium saucer so fast at times last night that it appeared they were about to take off from the boards at any moment, but they weren't too fast for Rodman and Thomas.

The two teams had been deadlocked in mileage and points after the three o'clock sprints yesterday afternoon, and this condition endured until the 9 o'clock dashes, when the American team took the technical lead on points which they were still holding at midnight.

During the 9 o'clock session Thomas won two of the ten sprints, and he and Rodman placed in four others.

129 Laps Stolen.

During the jamming of last night 57 laps were stolen, bringing the larceny total for the race to 129. The customers who were out last night saw only one spill that could compare with the crash of Sunday in which big Torchy Peden, trying to make a pickup with his little partner, Jules Audy, picked up a bump on the noggin and sundry bruises on his nose, elbows and knees. The giant redhead confessed yesterday afternoon that he was still a mite wobbly from the fall, but had recovered almost completely last night.

Shortly before midnight Kilian came down on the south bank of the track with a thud, which brought all of the infield clients running to the rail. The German rider's front tire tangled with that of Audy and he slid down the incline with a crash. He was unconscious for a few minutes and showed several severe cuts on his right leg when he finally resumed riding.

Yates Team Gains.

Much of the jamming which had the house in an uproar was fomented by the speedy Freddie Spencer and Bobby Walthour, but Fred and Bob, for all their earnest dashing around the oval, could not free themselves from last place in the race, although they did have the pleasure of hauling young Hank Sima and the veteran Dave Lands down into the bottom spot with them.

One of the teams which distinguished itself during the lap stealing, and profited substantially, was the combination of Cecil Yates, another Chicagoan, and Saveer Van Slambrouck, the Belgian. Cecil and Saveer, trailing throughout the afternoon, turned on the pressure in the evening, and at midnight found themselves in second place, two laps back of the leaders.

Three teams were tied for third place, three laps back of the front runners. This trio included Al Letourner and Gerard Debaets, the Red Devil pair, who have promised to do something about the Kilian-Vopel charm.

Results of the 1 a. m. sprints:
1—Peden, Van Slambrouck, Georgetti, Wissel.
2—Winter, Grillo, Yates, Debaets.
3—Spencer, Sima, Van Slambrouck, Peden.
4—Walthour, Schaller, Hill, Rodak.
5—Peden, Vopel, Rodman, Georgetti.
6—Audy, Thomas, Lands, Grillo.
7—Hill, Peden, Letourner, Wissel.
8—Keating, Debaets, Rodak, Grillo.
9—Thelin, Wissel, Peden, Testa.
10—Keating, Rodak, Debaets, Winter.

ED BURNS— EN ROUTE WITH CUBS—

The Chicago Cubs' current cross-country dash from California to Florida, with stops for games at various points en route, inspired Edward Burns, Tribune baseball writer, to take his pen in hand and produce these sketches, which he interprets in the following story:

Cubs Start Journey Across Country to More Grapefruit

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

El Paso, Tex., March 16.—The Cubs now are launched on their record exhibition tour. Several days ago they were lulled to sleep each night by Pacific waves swishing outside their windows on the island shore of Santa Catalina. In a few days they will watch the moonbeams play on the Gulf of Mexico off the west coast of Florida.

At Avalon the scholarly champs reveled in the lore of old Spain as lived on Santa Catalina by Don Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, and his followers, who, sailing under orders of the Spanish crown, anchored in October, 1542, in the Bay of the Seven Moons, now the Bay of Avalon. On March 27 the Cubs will reach Tampa, Spanish-Cuban capital of the United States. [We can't throw in any Spanish history here now, but just wait till we get to a Tampa souvenir shop or pharmacy which carries a full line of postcards.]

What Climates, Folks!

For three weeks the Cubs sang praises of California climate, oranges, grapefruit, lemons, and limes and let nary reference to earthquakes escape them. During their imminent 11 days in Florida they will sing praises of Florida climate, oranges, grapefruit, lemons, and limes and guard their tongues against utterances on the subject of hurricanes.

But what an expanse between the Spain that is Avalon and the Spain that is Tampa! And what contrast the Cubs will encounter in some of stops they will make in coursing from the one to the other! Much of the time they will live in the lap of

Cubs to Meet Pirates Today at San Antonio

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

El Paso, Tex., March 16.—Two Texas boys, Mike Kowalik of San Antonio and Tex Carleton of Fort Worth, will share the pitching chore in the opener of the Cubs' cross-country tour against the Pirates at San Antonio tomorrow afternoon. The lineup which took two out of three from the White Sox in Los Angeles will support Mike and Tex.

Manager Pie Traynor of the Pirates plans to test out the ability of his right handed batting order, and is figuring on Cy Blanton to start work on the mound.

All of the Cub Catalina troupe excepting Hugh Casey, who was released to the Los Angeles Angels, wheeled into here this evening. The ax prospects will go to visit the Alamo, and other points of interest at San Antonio; they will enjoy Houston, Texas' largest city, and will be around to stroll in New Orleans' picturesque byways. After that it will be a matter of horrible suspense for several of the athletes, though it is probable that all the cast will stick through the visit to Tampa and vicinity.

Tomorrow's game will necessitate a lot of hustle and bustle, even if the Cub special arrives in San Antonio on time. The caravan is due to arrive at 12:30 tomorrow noon and the game is to be called at 2:30. There won't be much practicing.

NORDELL BEATS CUNNINGHAM BY 2 YARD MARGIN

Newark, N. J., March 16.—(AP)—Frank Nordell of the New York Athletic club beat Glenn Cunningham and Joe Mangan in a 1,500 meter race in the One Hundred and Thirteenth Regiment armory tonight. The time was 4 minutes 6.8 seconds.

The former New York university star breezed past his more famous rivals at the start of the fourth lap of the nine lap run and stretched his lead to 30 yards at the seventh lap.

Wins by Two Yards.

Cunningham, the world's fastest miler, uncorked his sprint too late, but crossed the finish line two yards back of the winner. Mangan, who has beaten the Kansan in two mile tests this season, was a yard farther back.

Nordell, who pushed Cunningham to a track record in the half mile here two years ago, ran a heady race tonight and outfoxed the Kansas speedster, who beat Gene Venzke and Mangan in the 4:46.8 mile in Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Cunningham, who refused to take the lead in that race, pushed out in front at the start tonight, with Nordell second and Mangan third. They retained these positions through the first quarter.

Nordell Takes Lead.

Then Nordell passed Cunningham and increased his pace. At the fourth lap he was 15 yards ahead. At the half mile he was timed in 2:18.4, with Cunningham and Mangan far behind. At the sixth lap Nordell led by 25

GOLDEN GLOVES FIGHTERS OFF TO NEW YORK TODAY

BY WILFRID SMITH.

In anticipation of today's getaway to New York where the ninth intercity Golden Gloves matches will be held next Monday night in Madison Square Garden, Chicago's boys went through a rigorous, although brief, period of ring exercise yesterday afternoon at the Illinois Athletic club. At the conclusion of the session, Coach Johnny Behr, head master of the squad of 32 fighters, announced that he was pleased with their conditioning and that he had high hopes for a victory in the enemy's ring.

Fred Caserio and Issy Kline, jointly responsible for the Golden Glovers from the Midwest, also agreed. They know, however, that the task is almost insurmountable. No invading Golden Gloves squad ever has won. The nearest approach to conquest was the 1928 tie which was fought in Chicago's Wabash avenue Coliseum. That year Chicago took the final heavyweight match in the program of sixteen bouts to tie the New Yorkers.

Home Team Prevails.

Since that inception of the amateur fights between the nation's two largest cities, the pendulum has swung each year toward the hosts. In 1929, the year in which Barney Ross, now professional welterweight champion of the world, won the Golden Gloves lightweight title in an overtime bout in Madison Square Garden, New York was the intercity victor, 10 bouts to 6. Ross won his bout in the fourth round, for an extra round then was permitted if the judges and referee decided that the bout was even at the end of the regulation three round match.

In 1930 Chicago won in the Stadium, 11 to 5. The following year, because of difficulty in selecting the officials, the bouts were changed from New York to Chicago and the Chicago boys, before a record crowd of 23,400, won the series 13 to 3, which score still stands as a record.

9-7 Two Years Ago.

The following year, 1932, Chicago invaded New York with high hopes, only to find that a valiant, desperate crew of amateurs barred the path. New York won, 12 to 4, falling short, however, of Chicago's record score. Back in Chicago in 1933, the home town boys again asserted their superiority over Manhattan. Two years ago Chicago made the best showing in New York, losing, 9 to 7, and it still is a matter of dispute whether Chicago would have won had it not been for the restriction which prevented the champions from Detroit and Cleveland competing on the Chicagoland squad. That was the year Joe Louis, now an outstanding heavyweight contender, was the 175 pound champion. He did not fight in New York, so the Chicago proponents have an almost indisputable argument for victory had the rule been abrogated.

Last year Chicago earned a stirring triumph, 11 to 5, sweeping the last eight bouts, during which time two knockouts were scored.

Chicago Has Good Chance.

Can Chicago win this year? This is the question which more than 20,000 will see answered next Monday night and many times that number will listen to the results as announced over the radio. This year's Chicago team boasts of no standouts such as Ross and Louis, but it is not a mediocre team. It is a team which from flyweight to heavyweight class will give an excellent account of itself.

The schedule today calls for a stiff, thorough gymnasium workout after lunch. The midday meal will be moved up an hour because of the 3:45 p. m. date at La Salle street station, when the Golden Gloves special steams out for New York City.

Arrive Tomorrow Morning.

Tomorrow morning, after a 17 hour run, the special will pull into Grand Central station, and the remainder of the morning will be occupied with finding quarters in a midtown hotel. Shortly after lunch tomorrow the teams will travel by bus to Stillman's gymnasium just off 8th avenue, and for more than two hours the boxers will throw lether in resumption of training activities.

Talking It Over

THERE was nothing new in Detroit's proposal to give every member of the Tigers a month's pay as bonus if they defend their American league championship successfully. . . . Cleveland used a similar system in 1920, the year it won the pennant. . . . Every day that the club was over .500 per cent in the standings each player received $3. Sox Pitching in Cub Series Gladdens Pilot Dykes' Heart

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 16.—Jim Dykes reassembled his White Sox squad today for a pep talk and a couple hours of work, but he refrained from displaying any concern over the loss of two out of three games in the week-end series with the champion Cubs.

Some of the boys, who until Sunday's successful rout of the National league title holders had been somewhat wobbly in their work, were expecting the boss man to reel off a few harsh words.

But the manager politely explained the unhappiness heaped on his broad shoulders the first two days was nothing of consequence. He said the blunders made by the Sox were merely matters that will correct themselves as soon as the squad has absorbed a little more training. All this work will have to be done in the next four days, after which the team must concentrate on daily exhibition games.

Cubs Commend Pitching.

The pitching against the Cubs was enough to help Dykes forget fielding blunders that tossed off the first two games. Pitching is what the Sox will have to rely on this season. In the first game and again yesterday when he was called to relieve Les Tietje, John Whitehead did so well that even the Cubs afterward conceded he had plenty. Whitehead on his present condition is a good bet for assignment in the season's opener against the world champion Tigers.

In the second game Vernon Kennedy showed he could dispense the same high grade article he offered the enemy last season. The Cubs scored freely against him, but poor fielding had a lot to do with their success. Kennedy also was easing up a bit at times because he was afraid of walking a string of fellows as he did in the game against Seattle a week ago. Dykes noticed what was wrong with him right from the start, but rather than risk tearing down his confidence by summoning a rescuer he permitted him to stick in there and serve his alloted term.

Grimm Boosts Stratton.

Sunday's game furnished convincing proof that Monty Stratton, recalled last fall after he had won 17 games in the American association, is as good as he has been pictured. He went four innings against the Cubs on a yield of two doubles, one single, and a walk. The three hits came in three different innings with none out, but the champions could not score.

Stratton is a big, loose muscled kid, who was picked up two years ago merely because he appeared to have the necessary physical qualities. Dykes and the two Sox coaches, Billy Webb and Jim Austin, rate him as one of those rookies who doesn't forget any pitching pointers offered him by men who have been through the mill. That is why he has made such marked progress after two years in the minors. His choicest pitch is a side arm fast ball.

Charley Grimm, the Cub manager, was one of those engaged against Stratton in yesterday's game, and after two unsuccessful attempts the boss of the National league champions told Dykes it appeared as if the Sox had located another real pitcher.

Tietje Pleases Dykes.

Tietje's exhibition yesterday was of consequence despite the fact that he had to have help from Whitehead in the ninth. Dykes didn't figure Tietje was even close to being ready, but the young Iowan did splendidly for four innings, and as the Sox had a big lead Dykes figured he might as well let him finish. But Tietje suddenly

At New York—Baby Arizmendi and Phil Baker drew [10]
At Minneapolis, Minn.—Young Jack Gibbons beat Frankie Battaglia [10].

Philadelphia, Pa., March 16.—(AP)—The comeback hopes of Primo Carenar were shattered in three rounds of a fierce slugging duel tonight as the former world's champion went down to defeat before the heavy fists of Leroy Haynes, Los Angeles colored heavyweight.

Forced to give away almost 70 pounds in weight and inches in height and reach, Haynes dazed Carnera in the first round with a jarring right, dropped him twice for short counts in the second, and then focred him to quit in his own corner under a terrific pounding in the 53d second of the third.

Gives Way 70 Pounds.

Carnera weighed 285, Haynes 197½. A crowd of 10,000, largest of the local indoor season, saw the bout.

Carnera's only weapon was his heavy left jab, which Haynes either took at the side of his face, brushed aside, or head rolled.

Haynes opened fire with all his guns right from the go. He landed the first blows, a hard left and right to the face, in the first minute and thereafter held the upper hand.

Carnera opened faster in the second round, but after two minutes of the round, Haynes let drive with a vicious right, followed it with a left and another right and Carnera went down for a two-count, although only on one knee. He was down again before the round ended, and the bell found him staggering in Haynes' corner.

Carnera was obviously nettled by the surprise attack, and was no match for the even-punching Haynes in the short third. He took two smashing rights to the face, back-peddled to his own corner, and turned his back on Haynes. Referee Matt Adgie ended the fight there.

Ends Garden Build-Up.

The one-sided defeat ends Madison Square Garden's build-up for Carnera as a possible title opponent for Jimmy Braddock, and brings Haynes into the spotlight as a heavyweight contender.

Defeated only by decision in the last year, Haynes is gunning for a bout with Joe Louis. Recently promoters Taylor and Gunnis of Philadelphia offered Max Baer $20,000 to meet him Haynes. Baer refused.

It was the third time Carnera had been stopped in America. Max Baer and Joe Louis were the other American fighters who stopped him.

ARIZMENDI, BAKER DRAW

New York, March 16.—(AP)—Alberto [Baby] Arizmendi, New York state featherweight champion, tonight was held to a ten round draw by Phil Baker of Norwalk, Conn., at the St. Nicholas arena. Both fighters weighed 131½.

Baker, who was floored for no count in the fourth round, refused to give ground and held even in numerous exchanges of right and left hand punches.

NEVERS STARTS SPRING DRILL AT LAFAYETTE

Classes were suspended to greet the former Stanford and Chicago Cardinal star in his first head coaching assignment.

Nevers stayed with the festivities only long enough to receive official welcome. Then he formally began the spring practice.

Nevers, succeeding the resigned Herb McCracken, brought with him Mike Michalske, former Penn State ace, a member of the Green Bay [Wis.] Packers, in the National Pro league.

Michalske will be first assistant during the spring practice.

De Paul and Minnesota Open Series Here March 26

De Paul and Minnesota will meet in a Chicago gymnasium March 26, 27, and 28 in an intersectional Olympic basketball elimination. This was announced yesterday by A. A. Schabinger, head of the Olympic collegiate tournament committee. The winner will qualify as one of the eight teams which will take part in final eliminations at New York April 3, 4, and 5.

BOARD PROMISES ACTION THURSDAY ON RACING DATES

Delay When Carey, Spitz Miss Planes.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Owners of race tracks will have to wait until Thursday to hear about the dates that have been allotted to the five associations which are to carry on meetings in the Chicago district this year.

Peter B. Carey, chairman of the commission, and Leo Spitz, another of the commissioners, were unable to be here for a meeting yesterday. Mr. Spitz was so busy at Hollywood endeavoring to sign Fred Astaire to a new contract for Paramount that he missed the outgoing plane in Los Angeles.

Carey Misses Plane.

Chairman Carey was so engaged in St. Petersburg helping Joe McCarthy size up the New York Yankees that he also missed a plane that was leaving the southland yesterday morning.

Racing Secretary George Foster, after hearing about all these transportation difficulties, then announced the meeting would be held Thursday, starting about 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Everything seemed to be in shipshape at the racing commission office despite rumors that were going around that the break between Mayor Kelly and Gov. Horner was the real reason for the delay in the announcement of the racing dates. Always in other years the schedule has been announced on or before March 15.

Open at Aurora.

There seemed to be much certainty about the fact that the 161 day season will open at Aurora on May 1 and end at Sportsman's Park on Oct. 31. But where the choice June, July, and August dates would go appeared to be very much of a mystery.

Survey Shows Heavy Game Bird Losses

BY BOB BECKER.

Sportsmen who have been worrying about the effects of the record breaking winter upon game birds received bad news yesterday when results of a preliminary survey just made on the condition of upland game birds and furred game was released. The survey reveals wild life stocks have been so sharply reduced in northern states from South Dakota to New York by the ice, snow and low temperatures of the coldest winter in years that hunting next season is bound to be affected.

In fact reports as gathered from conservation departments indicate four states—South Dakota, Oklahoma, Kansas and North Carolina—have ordered or are considering closed or shortened seasons this year. Summarizing the bad news, we find the following:

Here's The Dope.

Minnesota—Bird situation better than in other nearby states. Mortality of upland game high, but ample number of pheasants for breeding stock.

South Dakota—This state attracts so many Illinois hunters for the pheasant season that thousands have been waiting word of the situation up there. Now we learn there have been heavy losses of pheasants. In some places the loss was 25 per cent. Such being the case, it is not surprising that South Dakota may be studying the situation closely as regards the coming season.

Wisconsin—Heavy loss among quail. The estimate is 40 per cent. Many coveys buried beneath the snow.

Ohio—Loss of many upland game birds. The estimate is that 60 per cent of the quail were killed.

Michigan Plans Survey.

We understand Michigan is going to conduct a survey. Although thousands of game birds and animals have been killed by the heavy snow, thousands of feeding stations and countless tons of food put out during the winter did a great deal to prevent more serious losses in many states.

DAVIS FOR KLEIN RUMOR REVIVED IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., March 16.—(AP)—The need for more power in the Phillies' batting front has revived the talk of a Chuck Klein for Curt Davis deal with the Chicago Cubs again.

Weeks ago it was rumored the Phils wanted their old slugger back and were willing to part with their leading pitcher to get him.

At the Winter Haven, Fla., training camp Manager Jimmy Wilson said: "I've got plenty of pitching, real pitching. What worries me is hitting. If we hit, we'll go places."

Wilson believes the rest of his pitching staf—including Bucky Walters, Orville Jorgens, Hal Kelleher, Joe Bowman and Syl Johnson—is good enough to afford the loss of Davis for Klein.

The Phils and Cubs meet at Winter Haven late in the month, when negotiations may be brought to a head.

Duffy Florals Play Windsor Quintet on Stage Tonight

Basketball on a theater stage will be introduced tonight when the Chicago Duffy Florals meet the Windsor, Ont., five in a midwest professional conference game at the Southtown theater, 63d and Halsted streets. The game will start at 9:30 o'clock.

HAWKS TO MEET RANGERS TONIGHT ON NEW YORK ICE

ChicagoTeamSeesChance for Section Lead.

Games Tonight

Chicago Blackhawks at New York Rangers.
Toronto at Montreal Maroons.
Montreal Canadiens at Boston.

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—The Chicago Blackhawks, thwarted by the Boston Bruins last night in their drive to gain first place in the American section of the National Hocky league, arrived here this evening for their important battle with the New York Rangers at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Despite the 1 to 0 defeat handed to them at Boston by their former associate, Defense Man Teddy Graham, the Hawks are still confident that by the time they play the Wings at Detroit Thursday night in the third game of their final road tour, they will be fighting for sole possession of the American section lead.

Hawks Trail Wings.

The Hawks are now in second place, trailing the Wings by one game, and since the Detroit club will be idle tomorrow, the Hawks, by whipping the Rangers, can gain a tie for first place. A victory for the Chicagoans Thursday would bring them into first place alone, and would send them on to their last game of the regular schedule, against the Montreal Maroons Saturday, leaders of their section by a full game.

The bitter defeat at Boston widened the gap between Tiny Thompson of the Bruins and Mike Karakas of the Hawks to two goals in their race for the Vezina goalies' trophy, and allowed Thompson to match Karakas' season record of nine shutouts.

Bruins vs. Canadiens.

Thompson will be busy also tomorrow, when the Bruins entertain the Canadiens, who, incidentally, have been definitly shutout of the Stanley cup playoffs for the first time in their career, the Americans now being assured of the third place berth in the world series.

The desperate Rangers are now in danger of joining the Canadiens, for they are in fourth place in the American section, a half game back of Boston, and thus still have a chance to make the big show. The New Yorkers, like the Canadiens, until this season have never missed a cup series, and on this account alone, can be depended upon to extend themselves against the Hawks.

Leafs Face Maroons.

In addition to the Chicago-Ranger and Boston-Canadiens struggles, another decisive battle is anticipated tomorrow in the meeting between Toronto and the Maroons at Montreal which may decide the first place winner in the Canadian section of the league. The Maroons now lead Toronto by a half game.

The lineup for tomorrow night follows:

CHICAGO.		NEW YORK.
Karakas	G	Kerr
Burke	D	Coulter
Levinsky	D	Johnson
T. Cook	C	Boucher
Trudell	L. W	Patrick
Larochelle	R. W	Dillon

THOMS SCORES OFTEN

MONTREAL, Que., March 16.—[Special.]—Bill Thoms, center of Toronto Maple Leafs, scored six points last week to register the biggest gain among National hocky league scores and now leads with 22 goals, according to official figures issued tonight from league headquarters.

With the schedule ending next Sunday night only three points now separate Dave [Sweeney] Schriner of Americans, and Paul Thompson of Chicago Blackhawks. Each of these teams has three games remaining. Both these high scorers were without a goal during the past week, but Schriner got an assist and Thompson two.

Schriner's 42 points keep him in front of the rest of the league's pointmakers; Thompson has 39. Thoms has 37 points and is in second place in international section.

Sixty Report for Spring Drill at Northwestern

Sixty candidates reported to Coach Lynn Waldorf for the opening of spring football practice at Northwestern university yesterday. Daily workouts will be held at Dyche stadium for the next five weeks.

The squad was split up into two groups, the backs and centers going outdoors for kicking practice while the linemen worked indoors. The latter will join the backs for outdoor practice Thursday.

Wally Cruice, last year's co-captain, has been added to the coaching staf for the spring practice and will assist in drilling the backs in forward passing and ball handling. The remainder of the staf will be the same as last fall, with the exception of Burt Ingwersen, who is coaching the baseball team.

Among last year's backs who reported for the opening drill yesterday were Don Heap, Fred Vanzo, Bill Boger, and Ollie Adelman. Bob Swisher, half back, is out for track and will not participate in spring practice.

Fred Flato and Bernard Jefferson, regarded as the most promising of the freshmen backs, were both on hand. Flato probably will be groomed for the right half back position, left open through the graduation of Cruice, last year's regular.

yards and was 30 yards ahead as they went into the eighth.

Both his rivals made their bid in the final lap, but neither was able to make up the wide gap. Nordell faltered as he came down the homestretch, but held out to the end.

Eulace Peacock, Temple university colored runner, who holds the national outdoor 100 meter title, won the special three race sprint series, scoring 12 points to 10 for Ralph Metcalf, national 60 meter indoor champion, and 8 for Ben Johnson of Columbia.

Peacock Wins Twice.

Peacock won the 50 and 60 yard dashes and was third, trailing Metcalf and Johnson in the 70. Metcalf was second in the 50 and third in the 60, and Johnson was third in the 50 and second in the 60.

In the 60 Peacock was timed in 6.1 seconds, one-tenth of a second under the world's record of 6 1-5, but inasmuch as starting blocks were used the time will not be accepted as a new mark.

LOMBARDI DROPS INTO CAMP FOR CONTRACT TALK

Cincinnati Catcher's Hand Completely Healed.

Tampa, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—Holdout Catcher Ernie Lombardi put in an unannounced appearance in the Cincinnati Reds' camp today, giving rise to belief his contract troubles with General Manager Larry MacPhail soon would be solved.

The hand Lombardi injured in a workout in California ten days ago has healed and he appeared in good condition. MacPhail heard nothing from Holdouts Tommy Thevenow, infielder; Babe Herman, outfielder, and Lee Grissom, rookie pitcher.

HORNSBY LIKES GIULIANI.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—Tony Giuliani, catcher drafted from St. Paul, has definitly made a place for himself with the St. Louis Browns. Manager Rogers Hornsby made no secret of the fact he liked the youngster's performances. Hornsby cut the Browns' workout today to two hours, most of it devoted to schooling pitchers in picking runners off base.

MACKS FINALLY WIN, 4-0.

Fort Myers, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics won their first game today, shutting out the House of David, 4 to 0, after taking five straight defeats at the hands of the Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Cardinals. Aided by Lovill Dean's triple with two on, they scored three runs in the first inning, then went on to win behind the four-hit pitching of Herman Fink, Woody Upchurch and Al Veach, three rookies.

Davis got a triple and a double and Mize a triple and a single. Nelson Potter and Jim Winford kept the Dodgers' 12 hits scattered.

WERBER TO STICK.

Sarasota, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—Bill Werber's hint that the Boston Red Sox trade him because he was dissatisfied with his contract was rejected today by General Manager Eddie Collins.

"Werber's attitude toward the management doesn't mean a thing as long as he plays ball well enough to be an asset to our club," Collins said. "Joe Cronin feels Werber has the stuff to be our third baseman and so do I. We are not interested in his complaints and he will not be traded."

INDIANS RESUME DRILL.

New Orleans, La., March 16.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians returned here today to resume spring training, after three straight victories over the New York Giants at Pensacola, Fla. The Tribe had won its two previous starts against the New Orleans Pelicans.

BEES BEAT TIGERS.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—After drying out the diamond with gasoline fires, the Boston Bears opened their exhibition schedule today by defeating the Detroit Tigers, 5 to 4, before 5,000 and President Will Harridge of the American league. Cubs Start on Long Journey to Grapefruit

Here's the Lowdown.

It was the thought of these leaky roofs, or kerosene visitations, that inspired us to take our drawing pen in hand. And that you may better understand our etchings we append the following interpretations:

1. This is a picture of a former Cub vice president, Charles John Grimm, learning how to pack a suit roll; his teacher, a rookie. Bushers tote their own uniforms, but this is the first year in the memory of man that the proud Cubs have carried suit rolls. Manager Grimm until now hadn't carried a suit roll since he was with Durham in 1917.

2. This is a picture of a rookie lying in bed thinking what a great thing it is to be a big leaguer. In swell California hotels and air conditioned Pullmans he has been too excited to relax. Here, back in his busher habitat, with bowl and pitcher and other quaint accessories, our rookie friend is fully at ease and truly enjoying his happy thoughts.

Lewis Wars on Mice.

3. Traveling Secretary Robert Lewis early last winter made a tour of inspection of all hotels which will be used by the Cubs. He found one or two of them infested with mice and other varmints. In this etching we see Mr. Lewis in conference with a mousetrap salesman. [Later Mr. Lewis selected the cage type of trap rather than the round spring trap such as the salesman is holding in his hand. Mr. Lewis says he made the selection because the cage type gives a mouse a better sporting chance in that a player might turn him loose in the morning.]

4. This is a scene taken in a Pullman club car. All the way out here Gabby Hartnett regaled porters and others with his legerdemain, featuring the one where he puts a half dollar in a beer bottle and takes it out again without bursting the bottle. Gabby has some new tricks for the trip across the nation, but says he will continue to feature the number with the empty beer bottle.

5. Some might think this an autobiographical illustration. However that may be, it is the envisioned portrait of an oversized baseball author trying to make off like he enjoys roughing it in a southern bus. This view reeks with the author's insincerity.

CHICAGO GIRLS GO TO TORONTO GAMES TONIGHT

They will also participate at the Hamilton club meet on March 18, in Hamilton, Ont. This group will also compete against an all-Canadian team later in the year.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

JUST PERSONAL.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 16.—Friend Arch: Well, Arch, the winter crowd is beginning to thin out a little and I get to wondering when you thought I better come home, although I don't suppose you want me yet, at least until after those Golden Gloves intercity bouts in New York. Besides that, I thought I ought to tell you in a general way that I fear my expense account will be much heavier than anticipated. But we don't need to go into details about that now.

Incidentally, Arch, speaking about expense accounts, the brother of that Mr. Ward in our auditing department who scrutinizes the intimate details of my expenditures, sometimes to my sorrow, called upon me. He spent several weeks here. This brother is in the ice business or something on the south side. Perhaps that's why our Mr. Ward is so cold about my really conscientious expense accounts.

Anyway, I remembered you said I should not bet on the horses or dogs because you didn't want to be asking the auditor to send me salary advances. Frankly, however, I did make a few "investments" at Hialeah which were not so bad. One was on Brevity. I stuck $10 on his nose and got back $12.50. That wouldn't be so very good for a bet but it was all right for an investment, 25 per cent for about 30 minutes' use of my money.

I couldn't develop any system of quinielas at the dog tracks this season which stood up like the one I had two years ago, so I didn't improve the breed of greyhounds only $3 minus, and I don't figure you want that in the expense sheet although it really was expended to try to get a story for you, but we can talk about that later.

I tried to help out your alma mater when Elmer Layden was here. I told him about the handsome, well built chaps who lead the hounds to the post at the dog tracks. They are football players at the University of Miami and get $4 and $5 per night for dressing up in uniforms. Elmer was appreciative enough, but he said he did not wish to be accused of proselyting, which sounded sort of highbrow, but I let i' go at that.

I asked Elmer what about Notre Dame's chances this fall and he said "Brevity," which shows the influence of turf environment. And I said, "What do you mean by that?" and Elmer said "If we could quit after the first or second game we might do fairly well." He'll catch up with gloomy Gil Dobie yet.

Another thing, Arch, could you do me a little favor? Would you ask Chuck Tyler, who does federal building for us, whether he can square me with the internal revenue collector's office. I was pretty near the deadline in filing my income tax schedule March 15 but put on an air mail stamp, so I hope it arrived in time.

Of course, you do not pay me quite as much as I think I'm worth, but outside of that, Arch, you're a good scout and I don't hold it against you, but 1 do have to file a statement. Meantime, please tell Miss Stone my next salary check will be very welcome. Hoping you are the same. Regards.

Harvey T. Woodruff.

Sox Pitchers Reveal Class in Cub Series

grew tired and admitted it, so he was relieved. Tietje has as much stuff as a pitcher could ask, but his big failing is that he doesn't realize how good he would be if he could sell himself to himself.

When the spring tour is opened next Saturday in the first of a two game series with the Los Angeles club at San Bernardino, Dykes intends to continue experimenting with an outfield made up of Rip Radcliff in left, George Stumpf in center, and Mike Kreevich in right. He admits he already is sold on Radcliff and Kreevich. Center field, however, remains open for the time being. Bit McCulloch from the Texas league was a bust, defensively and at bat, in the first two engagements with the Cubs, but Dykes hasn't given up on him. He figures McCulloch may be one of those bashful fellows who can't perform until he gets well acquainted with new surroundings.

Washington Is Out.

Vernon Washington, who did much of the right field work last season, temporarily has dropped out of the fly chasing competition. At least he is out so far as Dykes is concerned. Washington has done little work since being in camp, the excuse being a cold. But he also has refrained from doing much throwing. His arm went dead on him last August and Dykes fears it is an injury that will remain. The arm probably will come around eventually, but if it fails to respond to Doc Schacht's treatments Washington can't be figured for anything better than pinch hitting duty.

Dykes did not get into uniform for today's workout, but it wasn't because of any complaint from his balky stomach. He has cut down on eating fried foods and has noticed a marked improvement. The real reason for his layoff probably was that his 38 year old legs were weary as the result of playing the full nine innings yesterday. He admitted he stayed in action to the finish because he wanted to win.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 16.—[Special.]—Chicago bowlers, competing in the doubles and singles of the American Bowling congress, today landed several berths among the leaders, besides rolling totals which will qualify for a part of the $106,000 prize money.

Bill Liepe and George Lund were second high on the matinée card, rolling up 1,227, good for fifth position.

Five Chicagoans registered totals of better than 600 in the singles. Eddie Bergmann led with 633. Charley Drs, Chicago policeman, bagged a 268 game, second high individual count of the tourney, but dropped to 179 and 173 in the next two games.

LORBER OUT OF POLO FINAL DUE TO HAND INJURY

Lorber, who was scheduled to lead the Ramblers against Hank Evinger's Cleveland Riding club trio in the western high goal final Saturday night at the 124th Field Artillery armory, received his injury during a week-end practice session. An X-ray revealed broken bones in his hand.

The mishap to Lorber climaxed a series during the last three years, including a dislocated shoulder, broken collar bone, smashed fingers, and loosened teeth. The burly five goal player describes his newest injury as the worst in his 20 years of polo.

SHAMROCKS TAKE BOXING LESSONS FOR HOCKY GAME

The C. Y. O. Shamrocks, regarded as one of the scrappiest amateur hocky teams in the country, took boxing lessons yesterday in a loop gymnasium as a means of preparing for the playoff match with the Detroit Chevrolet six Sunday night at the Chicago Stadium.

Last month the Chevrolets upset the Shamrocks, 4 to 2. A week ago last Sunday the Shamrocks battered the Detroit goalie to win by the overwhelming score of 7 to 2.

Kelvyn Park to Play Farragut for Title Today

Farragut of the central section and Kelvyn Park of the west division will meet this afternoon for the Chicago Public high school senior basketball championship at Lane Tech gymnasium, Addison street and Western avenue.

Kelvyn Park is the surprise team of the league. The west siders finished second in sectional competition with seven victories and one loss, and then won their quarter-final game against Lane 23 to 21, in overtime. Another surprise was a 33 to 23 victory over Crane, which was a favorite to meet Farragut in the finals.

Picks Kelvyn Lineup.

Phil Brownstein, coach of the Kelvyn Park squad, probably will start Ben Silverstein and Elmer Holmes at forward, Ken Posmer, center, Henry Carrigio and Irving Burnstein, guards.

Farragut is being picked by followers of the City league to win the title on the strength of its record. Farragut captured the University of Chicago Christmas week tourney and scored 306 points against 173 while winning eight central section games. Kelvyn Park chalked up 234 points to 164 for opponents.

The Farragut five will be composed of Leonard Yuknis and John Horgan, forwards, George Pelc, center, Bill Tresnak and Will Biros, guards.

Ayers Ready Again.

One former starting guard and a strong reserve will also probably be used by Coach Fox. Don Ayers, a regular until last month when he was removed from the Manley game because of a broken collar bone, and Irving Dusak, guard are the two reserves. Ayers' injury has healed and he has been working out with the team.

Private School Swim Meet Draws Entry of 6 Teams

Six schools, Central Y. M. C. A. Day high, Luther institute, Wheaton academy, North Park academy, Francis Parker, and Chicago Christian, are entered in the Private School league's first annual invitational swimming meet to be held Friday in Central Y. M. C. A. pool. Seven events are on the afternoon's program, 40 yard breast stroke, 40 yard free style, 40 yard back stroke, 100 yard free style, diving, and two relays—3 man and medley.

CATHOLIC FIVES ARRIVE FOR U. S. MEET AT LOYOLA

High Scoring Quintets Open Fight Tomorrow.

Teams entered in the thirteenth annual national Catholic interscolastic basketball tournament which opens tomorrow night at Loyola university gymnasium, began arriving in Chicago last night. St. Mary's High school of Anderson, Ind., was the first to arrive.

That the two Chicago entries, De La Salle and St. George, will have no easy time if they expect to meet in the finals is attested by the records of many of the out of town quintets.

Among the strongest teams to come to the tournament is St. Joseph's High school of Huntington, W. Va., which this year compiled a record of 27 victories and one defeat, losing its only game in the finals of the West Virginia state Catholic high school tournament, to St. Peters of Fairmount, W. Va.

Florida Team Coming.

From the home town of Dr. James Naismith, inventor of basketball, Springfield, Mass., comes Cathedral High school. Cathedral has piled up 21 victories this season without defeat.

Jacksonville, Fla., Catholic High will bring a team to Loyola which captured the state title in 1933, 1934, and 1935. The Jacksonville team is coached by Charles Jones, former University of Indiana star.

A high scoring quintet which is likely to cause trouble is St. Francis of Council Bluffs, Ia. This team has piled up 1,128 points in 26 games, averaging 43 points a game. In three games in its Iowa sectional tournament, the quintet scored 118 points.

Other quintets which are expected to figure largely in the tournament are La Salle College of Philadelphia with an average of 36 points per game for 17 games. La Salle this season has won 15 and lost 2. St. Joseph of Pittsburgh comes to the meet with a record of 15 victories and five defeats while St. Patrick's of Elizabeth, N. J., has won 22 and lost one.

Southerners Motor Up.

Catholic High school of Baton Rouge, which in the last three years has come to the tourney in state highway cars loaned them by the late Gov. O. K. Allen, this year again is making the trip by auto, in cars loaned by Baton Rouge citizens. Included in the Baton Rouge lineup is John Torrance, brother of Jack Torrance, noted weight man. John plays center and is six feet 2 inches in height.

The defending champion, St. Xavier of Louisville, returns with only two regulars, Ackerman and Halppen, but is not rated as strong as last year's five. St. Francis Indian mission of St. Francis, S. D., also is back in the tournament led by Running Quick Bear, chosen all tournament forward at Loyola for the last two years.

BISHOP ASSAILS BUROCRACY AS CHURCH DANGER

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Burocracy in American church government was called as deadly a danger as it is in civil government by Bishop Irving Peake Johnson of the Episcopal diocese of Colorado in a talk here yesterday.

He spoke before a group of Episcopal business and professional men at the Hotel Sherman concerning official proposals to reorganize the Episcopal church along traditional lines, with an archbishop as its head.

Urges a Single Leader.

Bishop Johnson, who is the head of a special church commission to develop reorganization plans, said the various departments, or bureaus, of the church should be made responsible to a presiding bishop or archbishop. They are now administered by what he called a "committee"—the national council of the church, which has headquarters in New York City.

Under Bishop Johnson's plan the headquarters would be moved to the National cathedral in Washington, D. C., and the presiding bishop or archbishop would devote his whole time to the leadership of the church.

Bureau Loyalty Impossible.

"Nobody can be loyal to a bureau," said Bishop Johnson. "We must have a head of the church who is a person and not a committee.

"The presiding bishop of the Episcopal church now has a title, but no power. We can't even elect any of our stronger men as presiding bishop, because he must also remain the bishop of a diocese, and this means that there are only about five smaller dioceses of the eastern seaboard whose bishops could divide their time between the office of presiding bishop and their own dioceses."

BOONDOGGLERS NOW DO STUFF OVER THE RADIO

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—With $75,000 work relief funds allotted for radio purposes, the federal government last night became a competitor of Jack Benny, Gracie Allen and other comedians by means of a new program titled "Answer Me This!"

The federal office of education got the program under way by popping this question at radio listeners: "What is the prince of Wales' first name?" And while citizens were mulling over David, Edward, George, Albert and such, the government wisecracked: "There is no prince of Wales. He recently became king." Cute, isn't it?

Other questions in a similar vein were propounded. William D. Boutwell, in charge of the program, announced that further regular presentations were to be launched soon. The aim is to stimulate interest in current events, geography and science. The time is being donated by the radio networks.

Some of the actors are recruited from the relief rolls. The government is now considering the offer of a young thespian who has volunteered to do "The Midnight Ride of Paul Revere from the Viewpoint of the Horse."

Chicago listeners missed the program because the local outlet of NBC already had a program entitled "Topsy Turvy" time scheduled for that hour.

BLOATED ALL THE TIME, CAN'T EAT OR SLEEP

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart hurt. A friend suggested Adlerika. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never felt better."—Mrs. Jas. Filler.

Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adlerika gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

Give your stomach and bowels a REAL cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and chronic constipation. Sold by all druggists and drug departments.

Palm Beach, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—The grief stricken Princess Louise Van Alen Mdivani decided tonight funeral services would be held privately at the family villa here Wednesday afternoon for her 33 year old bridegroom, Prince Serge Mdivani, who was killed yesterday by the kick of his polo pony.

Only invited friends and relatives will attend the rites, which will be performed by Dr. William E. Biederwolf, pastor of the Royal Ponciana chapel. Five weeks ago Dr. Biederwolf married the couple in the same home.

Later the body of the polo playing prince will be sent to Newport, R. I., by train for burial in the Van Alen plot. It was understood burial will not take place until members of his family arrive there from Europe.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Many an Irish note will find its way to the kilocycles today as all true sons of the Emerald Isle celebrate St. Patrick's day. Eddie Dowling and Ray Dooley will display some of their best Irish wit when they open their new revue over WMAQ-NBC at 10 tonight from local studios. Benny Goodman who will provide the music is no Irishman but Helen Ward, his young songstress, is.

The première of this program represents something of a home town triumph for young Goodman, the country's leading "swing" exponent. Sixteen years ago [he was 10 then] Goodman was tooting his clarinet in the Hull House orchestra. A year later he made his professional debut in the pit of the Central Park theater.

When he was 15 he joined Jules Herbuveaux's orchestra at Guyson's Paradise ballroom. A year or so later he played with Arnold Johnson at the Montmartre when Helen Morgan and Ruth Etting were getting their start there. Goodman has been playing all season at the Congress with sustaining broadcasts over NBC.

It's a great day for Morton Downey, too. The Irish tenor has just been engaged, it's reported, to do a new commercial series and to make personal appearances in the interests of the nation's biggest motor concern at a salary said to be $7,500 a week. Details as to network and time are yet to be ironed out.

Other Irish day items:

6 a. m.—WMAQ—Relay from Irish Free State, St. Patrick's college at Maynooth. President De Valera to extend greetings. A second pickup from Ireland will be made at 3:15 over WBBM when President De Valera will speak in both Gaelic and English from Dublin.

12:35 p. m.—W-G-N—Quin O'Brien, assistant city corporation counsel, will deliver a St. Patrick's day address on W-G-N's Midday Service, conducted by Dr. John L. Dickson.

4:45 p. m.—WBBM—St. Patrick's day program: D. J. McGrath, consul general for Irish Free State in Chicago; Pat O'Malley and Peggy Dell, Irish singers, with Jack Hylton's revue.

9 p. m.—WENR—Ben Bernie will present Pat Rooney, Irish vaudeville headliner, as guest singer on his regular program.

10 p. m.—WENR—Alfred E. Smith will be the chief speaker at the annual dinner of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick in New York. Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming also is to speak.

Alice Blue, W-G-N staf pianist, and Floyd B. Dean, business man and airplane pilot, are to be married today at the Glencoe home of Lucille Long, the radio singer, who in private life is Mrs. O. E. Zehr. Fred Witmer, who performs with Miss Blue as a double piano team on "Nothing But the Truth" on W-G-N, will play the wedding march.

Maud Muller, who got her start singing on W-G-N, bobbed up as "Lullaby Lady" on NBC's Contented program last night. Miss Muller has been heard from time to time with the Northerners and other programs using guest singers.

SUPREME COURT ASKED TO RULE ON UTILITY ACT

Review of Earlier Decision Sought.

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—The first demand upon the Supreme court to decide the constitutionality of the hotly opposed public utility act of 1935 was made today when Burco, Inc., urged the justices to review a decision of the fourth circuit court of appeals holding the law invalid as applied to concerns engaged only in intrastate business.

This is the case of the American States Public Service company which, desiring reorganization through bankruptcy proceedings, sought to determine the constitutionality of the law and Judge William C. Coleman of the Federal District court at Baltimore held the statute invalid in its entirety. Burco, owner of $150,000 of the company's first lien bonds, appealed to the Circuit court, which three weeks ago declared Judge Coleman wrong in holding all of the act illegal, but that the American States, an intrastate concern, could not be forced to register with the securities and exchange commission.

Conflicting Views Expressed.

The Circuit court finding elicited conflicting expressions. The committee of utility executives greeted the ruling as a "sweeping and significant victory" despite the limited application to Aspsco, but the government said that the direction that the act could not be held wholly unconstitutional was a favorable factor.

If the Supreme court consents to pass upon the Burco suit, it will be the eleventh New Deal law to go under court scrutiny. The court already has ruled upon the hot oil, gold-clause, railroad pensions, Frazier-Lemke, NRA, AAA, rice and TVA statutes, while tests of the Guffey coal law and Securities act of 1933 are pending.

Question Power of Congress.

The Burco petition said these questions were presented:

Whether the holding company act was an improper exercise of power by congress; whether congress could control use of mails and of the instrumentalities of interstate commerce by a holding company whose business consists of "the exercise of the duties, privileges and rights conferred by the ownership of all the outstanding voting stock of subsidiary public utility holding companies, none of which is engaged in interstate commerce."

Whether congress, having found "widespread and persistent abuses" by holding companies, could enact this law in the interest of citizens "who are or may become investors or consumers and the general public to prevent the further use of these agencies for improper purposes and to prevent fraud and damage to the unwary."

Whether the act violates the constitution by taking property without due process of law; whether it violates the rights belonging to the states.

Decision By Summer Possible.

If the court agrees to review the controversy, arguments will be held late in April or early in May and a final decision announced before the summer recess in June.

One more New Deal case is expected to be appealed in time for a decision this term. It involves a lower court decision upholding the right of the federal government to furnish PWA funds for publicly owned hydroelectric projects.

The court met in brief session, but handed down only two decisions of restricted significance and a list showing what new appeals they had decided to entertain or ignore. Thereupon the justices adjourned until March 30. No ruling was given on the long pending anti trust suit of the government against the sugar institute.

Schaller May Join Reserve Policy Group

Selection of George J. Schaller, president of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank, as a member of the new open market committee which will determine the reserve system's policy on buying and selling government securities was regarded as a certainty last night.

G. J. SCHALLER.
[Moffett-Russell Photo.]

Four of the five men who will represent the 12 reserve banks on the committee, which also included the board members, already have been chosen. The fifth man—expected to be Schaller—is to be chosen by the Chicago and St. Louis Federal Reserve district. No meeting has been held to select this fifth man, but three major considerations point to Schaller.

Choice For Post Narrows.

The original suggestion of the St. Louis Clearing House association that an "outsider" be chosen has been discarded, it was learned, because it was decided this would be contrary to the intent of the law.

This decision leaves the job to a man in the organization of one of the two banks, the logical choices being W. N. Martin, president of the St. Louis Reserve bank, and Schaller.

The second factor pointing to Schaller is that he heads the second largest reserve bank in the country.

The third compelling consideration is said to be the character of the four appointments already made. Chief executives of the Kansas City and Dallas Reserve banks already have been selected. To name a St. Louis man also, it is said, would be at least illogical. It would mean two members from the same state and three men representing much the same type of business interests—hog and cattle country—while the industrial and manufacturing sections would have as principal bank representatives the New York and Cleveland reserve chieftains.

RESERVE OFFICIALS CONFER.

Washington, D. C., March 16.—Eleven new presidents of the federal reserve banks met with the board of governors today to discuss changes in the organization of the system. One of the proposals is to make the chairmanship of a federal reserve bank an honorary position and transfer the principal duties of the federal reserve agent to the president of a bank.

Under the old plan the system had a dual set up in which the chairman also served as reserve agent. Members of the reserve board are of the opinion that upward of $200,000 can be saved in salaries by the contemplated change.

Officials said the conferences of the reserve bank presidents with the board will continue tomorrow. Several important questions confront the system. One of these is the matter of excess reserves, representing idle funds of member banks. The total of such reserves is around $3,000,000,000.

Hearing on Congress Hotel Plan Is Scheduled Today

A hearing on the final confirmation of the plan to reorganize the Congress hotel under section 77B of the bankruptcy act will be held today before Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan. In as much as hearings before the master in chancery were concluded only last Friday, attorneys connected with the reorganization said it appeared likely that today's hearing will be continued, but that a definite decision on the plan this month is a distinct probability. Judge Sullivan yesterday continued the hearing on the appointment of a trustee for the property until Mar. 26.

CHICAGO BANKS' DEPOSITS SAG; LOANS INCREASE

Changes Are Small in Two Months.

(Statistics on page 29.)

Chicago's bank deposits shrank slightly, loans and discounts expanded modestly and cash resources were cut rather sharply during the first two months of 1936.

The figures, disclosed yesterday in response to state and national bank calls, showed only minor changes in most instances, and nothing was indicated in the nature of a change from banking trends of recent months.

The date of the call, fixed at March 4, attracted some attention because of the obvious reason for its being chosen—to be used in showing the difference from figures of the 1933 moratorium days, when the national administration went into office.

Investments Show Increase.

The decline in cash resources was attributed to heavier investment in securities, particularly in government bond holdings, which reached another all-time high. Cash resources dropped from $978,374,000 on last Dec. 31 to $881,511,000 on March 4. National banks' idle cash declined from $800,947,000 to $726,343,000, while state banks had a decrease from $177,427,000 to $155,168,000.

The decrease in deposits was not unexpected, despite the piling up of these funds for the last two years, because of the seasonal year-end storing up of money in banks for interest, dividend, and other purposes. Total deposits on March 4 stood at $2,796,153,000, compared with $2,306,698,000 on Dec. 31. This still was 341 millions more than on March 4, 1935, and greater than at any other time since early 1931.

Savings Deposits Lower.

Loans and discounts rose from $534,477,000 to $537,950,000 in the two months. The expansion occurred almost entirely in national banks, with the First National bank's portfolio jumping nearly 5 millions to $192,791,000 to go ahead of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company. The Continental's loans shrank slightly more than 4 millions to $186,031,000.

The Harris Trust and Savings bank accounted for the only other decline in the big loop banks, the figure dropping from $37,677,000 to $36,182,000. The City National Bank and Trust company loans rose from $25,303,000 to $26,372,000, and the American National Bank and Trust company folio jumped from $6,202,000 to $7,837,000.

Deposits of Largest Banks.

Among the loop institutions the Continental Illinois bank's deposits continued above the billion dollar mark, though declining almost 14 millions to $1,007,017,000. First National, on the other hand, showed a 14 million gain to $874,513,000. Northern Trust deposits dropped from $300,313,000 to $293,725,000. Harris Trust figures shrank from $188,594,000 to $187,514,000. City National was down from $121,481,000 to $116.958,000. American National went from $35,531,000 to $34,615,000.

One new bank made its appearance on the list—the Madison-Crawford National bank, which opened on Jan. 25. It reported deposits of $975,000, savings deposits of $189,000, cash resources of $762,000, and loans and discounts of $219,000.

Int'l Nickel Profits Set Record in '35

Net profit of the International Nickel Company of Canada, Ltd., for 1935 was $26,086,527, equal after preferred dividends to $1.65 per share on the common stock, compared with $18,487,478, or $1.13 a share, for 1934, according to the annual report sent to stockholders yesterday by Robert C. Stanley, president. The 1935 net profit was the largest in the company's history, the previous record of $22,235,996 having been reached in 1929.

Stanley said improvement in the company's business, which started in May, 1932, continued throughout 1935. Nickel sales were the largest the company has ever had and new sales records were achieved for copper and the platinum metals.

Capital Expenditures Larger.

Capital expenditures during 1935 totaled $3,206,642, compared with $2,395,257 in 1934. This year the company will spend approximately $9,400,000.

The 1935 report shows for the first time the complete ownership of the Ontario Refining Company, Ltd., at Copper Cliff, and this is reflected in the increase of the net property account from $139,191,559 to $147,211,111. With the redemption on Aug. 1 of the outstanding balance of debenture stock of the Mond Nickel Company, Ltd., all funded debt was eliminated.

Current assets, including $30,473,311 cash, stood at $60,109,935 on Dec. 31, 1935, compared with $18,789,023 and $46,247,968 respectively, at the end of 1934. Current liabilities aggregated $9,621,001, compared with $6,166,640.

Sales of Metals Increase.

Stanley said nickel sales amounted to 129,850,207 pounds, an increase of 42 per cent over 1934; money metal sales totaled 13,411,624 pounds, a gain of 25 per cent; pure rolled nickel, 9,339,595 pounds, up 25 per cent, and copper, 233,000,000 pounds, up 20 per cent.

The company sold 3,160,222 ounces of silver in 1935, compared with 1,006,808 ounces in 1934; 128,874 ounces of platinum metals, compared with 124,424, and 69,944 ounces of gold, compared with 74,375.

As a result of the increased scale of operations the number of employés at the end of 1935 was 12,452, a gain of 36 per cent.

KALAMAZOO STOVE CO. PLANS 50 PCT. STOCK DIVIDEND; N. Y. LISTING

Directors of the Kalamazoo Stove company have decided to offer pro rata to stockholders the 35,984 shares of the company's authorized stock held in the treasury at $30 a share, it was announced today. It is the company's intention to increase the amount of stock authorized from the present total of 200,000 shares to 500,000 shares. The company will then declare a stock dividend of 50 per cent and make immediate application to list the stock on the New York exchange.

It was explained the purpose of this action is to put the stock on a basis where it will sell below the current price and create a broader market. The stock is selling around $65 a share on the Chicago Stock exchange. The plans are subject to the approval of the stock exchange commission, the Michigan securities commission, and, in certain details, the stockholders.

B. F. Goodrich Is Planning to Pay Up Back Dividends

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—The B. F. Goodrich company is preparing a plan for clearing up arrears on the preferred stock, which amounted to $31.50 a share on Dec. 31, it was announced today by J. D. Tew, president.

NATIONAL STEEL REPORTS SALES, PROFITS LARGER

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 16.—[Special.]—The National Steel corporation's report, issued today, gives sales volume for the first time. For 1935 this item was $103,176,629. Net earnings were $11,136,452 for 1935, equivalent to $5.16 a share on the stock, compared with $6,050,722, or $2.80 a share, in the previous year.

Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the board, in the annual report says work on the corporation's 96-inch continuous hot and cold strip mill at Detroit will be completed by Oct. 1, next. Net expenditures for additions to plant increased from $13,182,844 in 1934 to $14,930,163 last year and the corporation's working capital rose to $38,367,090 from $33,932,493.

Steel Output Estimate Is Highest Since 1930

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—Operations in the steel industry in the week beginning today, March 16, will be at 60 per cent of plant capacity, compared with 55.8 per cent a week ago, and 46.8 per cent a year ago, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated yesterday. The rate this week is the highest since the institute began reporting the rate. The previous high was 57.4 per cent in 1930.

Stocks Vary as Trade Dips to Low Level

New York, March 16.—Losses and gains were about evenly distributed today in the stock market. As measured by one set of averages, industrial and rail issues were slightly lower at the close while utilities stocks showed a small advance.

Adjustment of speculative positions was carried on in an orderly manner. After scattered selling was absorbed in the second hour, the undertone became fairly strong. The market was not without its cross-currents, however, as several of the issues which were carried upward in Saturday's surge eased off slightly. Special issues came in for considerable attention and a number of low priced shares were turned over in sizeable blocks.

Trading Is Less Active.

Trading was restrained for a greater part of the session, reflecting the cautiousness of the participants. Total sales for the session came to 1,865,010 shares, the slowest five hour session in almost a month.

Over the week-end trade reports were regarded as favorable. Despite the good steel outlook, steel company shares failed to make much headway. United States Steel was only a small fraction higher at the finish after rising a point at one time. Most other steel shares moved in a narrow range with the trend being toward slightly lower prices.

A slight flurry occurred in a couple of utility shares caused by an appeal to the Supreme court to rule on the constitutionality of the public utility holding act. American Power and Light was a feature, moving up more than a point on a large turnover. About 15 per cent of the sales volume was traced to the power group.

Rail Issues Irregular.

Railroad stocks moved irregularly lower. Most losses in the group were confined to fractions, although Atchison gave up more than a point. Oil shares were lower, including Standard of New Jersey, which has been buoyant in the last few sessions. The volatile Amerada moved a mere fraction.

American Can, Westinghouse, General Electric, Ingersoll Rand, and John Manville were outstanding weak spots in the industrial division. J. I. Case suffered a setback of more than 3 points in the farming sector, where Caterpillar and Harvester advanced small fractions.

Metal shares were mixed. American Smelters lost over a point while U. S. Smelting was a little stronger. Federal Mining picked up 5 points of its recent heavy losses.

800 MILLIONS U. S. GOLD NOTES TAKEN BY BANK

Reserve Asks Better Security for Metal.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago has withdrawn $800,000,000 of gold certificates from the treasury in Washington, treasury officials disclosed yesterday.

The certificates are the receipts on a part of the metal which the bank gave up two years ago when the government commandeered all of the gold in the country. Action of the Chicago bank follows closely the withdrawal by the New York reserve bank of two billions of gold certificates from the treasury.

The certificates are supposed to represent warehouse receipts on gold held in the treasury's vaults. Under existing law, however, the holder of the receipts is not entitled to take possession of the metal.

Bookkeeping Only Receipt.

Heretofore all the Chicago bank had to represent its surrendered gold were its own bookkeeping entries and those of the treasury. The amount withdrawn represents approximately two-thirds of the amount which the March 11 statement of the bank showed as owing from the treasury. The 2 billion which the New York bank drew down in January compared with the total credit of 3 billion, 400 million which it had on the treasury's books.

The compelling reason for the withdrawal of the certificates is said to be the desire of the Chicago bank to put itself in the strongest gold position possible under existing laws. The action has been under consideration by officials of the bank for several months.

Action Started Last Year.

Late in 1935 the Chicago bank was known to have raised the question of the soundness of the system which left it with mere bookkeeping entries as the only evidence of the gold which was stored in its vaults prior to the government seizure.

Whether possession of the certificates actually strengthens the position of the bank is an open question. It has been pointed out that there is little apparent difference between holding a receipt evidencing the treasury's debt to the bank or in holding the gold certificate. The

EXPERIENCE

Experience can be a dear teacher in more ways than one. The dangers that threaten your investments in one period rarely attack under precisely the same form in another, apparently similar, period.

That is why the lessons drawn from previous losses so often betray investors into new and different errors.

The best defense is adequate independent research—research that gets beneath the surface appearance of things to the fundamental factors.

Our staff of specialists is constantly engaged in research of this invaluable type. May we explain our methods and results?

MAKING MONEY
INVESTING MONEY
Two Entirely Different Problems

MEN WHO ACCUMULATE comfortable fortunes do so by finding the one job they're best qualified to do, and doing it well and consistently through the years.

Yet the very funds they've earned by specialized ability force them, as investors, to scatter their attentions over the whole of business and industry.

Railroads, utilities, governments, foods, machinery, chemicals, automobile manufacturers, are just a few of the many types of organizations whose fortunes the investor must share.

He soon finds that the ability and experience that earned his money for him can't do the whole job of investing it, safely and profitably. This calls for the combined ability and experience of many specialists in many different fields. This calls for a personalized investment counsel service, such as Moody's Personal Management Service.

Moody's offers the investor a capable staff of security specialists to recognize and interpret every event of investment significance.

To make this service practical from the investor's standpoint, the combined watchfulness of these men is focused on your investments through a personal counsellor who knows your requirements and who fits the findings of Moody's staff to your individual needs.

To conservative investors who seek safety, and a reasonable opportunity for capital appreciation, this organization extends an invitation to inquire, without obligation, about Moody's Personal Management Service.

A memorandum describing this service will be sent on request. In writing please mention Bulletin C-11

ASSAILS MONEY TINKERING AS A USELESS MOVE

Meech Says Other Factors Offset Effects.

Neither low interest rates nor manipulation of the currency can restore normal economic conditions because there are too many other factors confronting business men to influence their ability or willingness to expand their operations, Prof. Stuart P. Meech of the University of Chicago, yesterday told members of the City Club Forum at the Hotel Sherman.

"Many economists assume that by simply limiting the supply of such money items as federal reserve notes or federal government greenbacks and demand deposits of banks," he said, "we can stabilize commodity prices, production and unemployment, or at least cyclical variations of these. Other economists and most bankers regard the quantity of money units results from rising or falling prices and business activity.

What Experience Shows.

"Experience shows that when the quantity of our media of exchange is largest, at the peak of prosperity, bank deposits are near their high, gold reserve percentages of deposits are at their low, and interest rates are rising. When depression is with us deflation of bank loans, investments, and deposits, result in rising reserve ratios, expanding bank lending power, and cheap money.

"That low interest rates, cheap money, idle bank lending power, doubling of gold reserve dollars by cutting the statutory content per dollar, adding silver to our money reserves will produce recovery is far from established fact."

Prof. Meech said that the nation's gold and silver reserves, together with legal bank reserve requirements, set a "ceiling" to the expansion of the media of exchange.

Limits to Expansion.

"This automatically limits the expansion, trade, employment, pay rolls and prices," he continued. "But so-called prosperity may stop and deflation set in long before the credit ceiling is reached, as in the downturn of business activity in July, 1929, when our banking system still had reserves in excess of legal minimum requirements.

"The casual relationship between money and the price level should not beg the question of political and related economic forces. To cite but one example, the world war brought in its train maldistribution of gold, overexpansion of farm capacity, a great deficit in the supply of new construction, and huge deficits."

NAME IS CHANGED IN CONSOLIDATED GAS MERGER PLAN

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—Stockholders of the Consolidated Gas company at their annual meeting today voted to change the name of the company in anticipation of a merger of the various companies. Hereafter it will be the Consolidated Edison company of New York. All trustees were reëlected.

Among the 600 men and women stockholders present there were several who criticized the salaries paid to officers and took exception also to the company's custom of paying pensions to officials on their retirement.

Reviewing the company's refunding plans, Carlisle estimated that when the program of replacing all the redeemable debt with bonds bearing lower interest rates is completed, the system will save between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 annually in interest.

Referring to the company's court action to contest the constitutionality of public utility holding company act, Carlisle said he expected shortly to hear a court dictum to the effect that Consolidated Gas is not subject to the act as a holding company.

Reserve Seeks Better Metal Security.

certificates are not negotiable except between the 12 central banks of the reserve system. The certificates which the Chicago bank receives are in $100,000 denominations.

The Chicago bank turned over the gold which it formerly held on Jan. 30, 1934, when the gold reserve act of 1934 went into effect. The metal, however, remained in the bank's vaults for several months, earmarked for the account of the treasury. The transfer was effected gradually. Until last year the bank still retained possession of some of the old style gold certificates which prior to Jan. 30, 1934 were in general circulation.

The old certificates carried on their face a promise that the government would pay the gold to certificate bearer on demand. The new certificates merely certify the amount of gold on demand with the promise of payment "on demand as authorized by law."

MEMBER BANK REPORT

Credit conditions outside of New York and Chicago showed only unimportant changes in the week ended March 11, according to the weekly statement of condition issued yesterday by reserve member banks in the 101 principal cities of the country.

The total of bank credit outstanding rose 120 millions. Most of this increase was accounted for by the New York bank whose statement was made public earlier. The holdings of government bonds of the reporting banks fell 46 millions, while reserve balances dropped 91 millions.

GRAIN PRICES EASE AS WAR FEARS SUBSIDE

Final Quotations Near Low for Day.

Grain markets developed an easy undertone yesterday as war fears subsided. May wheat declined a cent a bushel at one time but rallied slightly from its low. Volume of trading was the smallest in weeks.

A sharp break in wheat futures at Liverpool and reports of light showers in parts of Kansas more than offset the market effect of dust storms. Closing trades were near the days' low levels with May wheat closing ¾ cent under Saturday's finish and the new crop months' dropping ½ cent.

Other Markets Lower.

The day was devoid of feature and transactions were small. Liverpool closed 1⅛ to 1¾ cents per bushel lower while Winnipeg, Kansas City, and Minneapolis declined fractionally.

Export demand for Canadian cash wheat was unusually light. Reports indicated little demand for flour from the domestic trade over the week-end, although mills were credited with buying May wheat here and in Minneapolis.

It was reported yesterday the Canadian wheat board has reduced its grain holdings to 150,000,000 bushels, compared with 248,000,000 held last December.

Visible Supply Falls.

A decrease of 1,721,000 bushels in the domestic visible supply of wheat last week failed to have any effect marketwise, although the total is down to 50,047,000 bushels, or 2,869,000 below this time last year. Chicago elevator stocks were reduced 338,000 bushels for the week.

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Week ago.
Wheat	$0.99	$0.99⅝	$0.98⅞
Corn	.60⅜	.60⅝	.60¼
Oats	.26⅞	.27⅜	.27⅛
Rye	.56⅜	.56⅝	.56¼

Corn and other grains lost small fractions yesterday. Scattered liquidation by holders of May oats caused a dip of 26¾ cents, which was only ¼ cent above the lowest level of the season.

GREAT WESTERN ASKS IMMEDIATE TRUCK RATE CUT

Washington, D. C., March 16.—(AP)—The Chicago Great Western railroad today asked the interstate commerce commission for immediate authorization to establish new reduced rates on loaded or empty trucks and trailers between Chicago and the twin cities. Originally scheduled to go into effect March 10, the new rates were suspended by the commission on the protest of other northwestern roads.

The Chicago Great Western said establishment of the reduced charges would transfer to its lines certain trafic now moving by highway. It asked that the rates be made effective "at the earliest possible moment."

The proposed new charges provide for a rate of $42.50 for each loaded truck or trailer moving between Chicago and the twin cities. The present basis of rates would be changed and reductions generally would be effective.

GAIN IN RETAIL ADVERTISING IS SHOWN IN WEEK

Retail newspaper advertising for the week ended March 7 showed a gain of 3.3 per cent over the corresponding week of 1935. Advertising Age reported yesterday. The upturn was attributed to the favorable weather during the week. For the week ended Feb. 29 the gain was 1.9 per cent.

The publication says that for the year to date retail lineage is 1.8 per cent ahead of last year. This estimate is based on data covering all newspapers in 66 major cities.

Milwaukee Asks to Cancel Union Station Advances

Washington, D. C., March 16.—(AP)—The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad today asked interstate commerce commission authority to cancel $562,500 of advances to the Chicago Union Station company. The cancelation is a part of a proposed $44,000,000 refinancing operation planned by the Union station. The advances have been pledged with the RFC as collateral for loans, and the St. Paul informed the interstate commerce commission it would seek a release on the advances from the lending agency. The St. Paul is one of the proprietary roads operating the Union station.

Pennsy Unit Seeks to Buy Motor Freight Concern

Hearing on an application of Pennsylvania Truck Lines, Inc., subsidiary of the Pennsylvania railroad, to acquire the Chicago-Cincinnati Motor Freight line, operating between Chicago and Cincinnati and Erie, Pa., was held yesterday by the interstate commerce commission at the Hotel Sherman. This is the first time application of its kind to be filed under section 213 of the motor carrier act of 1935 which requires that the I. C. C. must approve purchases of truck lines and similar transactions.

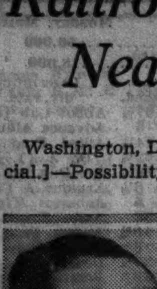
Railroads and Labor Officials Near Split Over Unification

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—Possibility of an early break in the negotiations between the Railway Labor Executives association and the management committee headed by H. A. Enochs, was indicated today following the adjournment until tomorrow of the joint conference. If the split occurs both sides will call on President Roosevelt and explain the case to him.



H. A. ENOCHS.

The meeting was a continuation of previous conferences, arranged for the purpose of agreeing to the principles to be put into effect for the protection of employés displaced by unification or consolidations.

The union committee, headed by J. A. Phillips, acting chairman, replied today to President Roosevelt's letter sent jointly to the labor committee and to J. J. Pelley, chairman of the Association of American Railroads. The union leaders said that the President's letter was a "surprise" to them as it came in the midst of their negotiations. However, the committee said it would continue its negotiations.

No Early Settlement Seen.

While it was reported in management circles today that some progress had been made the feeling of labor spokesmen was not hopeful for an early settlement. Several proposals and counter-proposals have been made but the union chiefs today did not believe that their members would receive the protection they felt they were entitled to under the formula which the carriers were willing to approve.

The unions wish assurances of protection in the event that the emergency act creating the coördinator of transportation is extended without the present "freezing" clause.

Section 7B of the emergency act prevents carriers from reducing forces below those of Jan. 16, 1933, when the law was passed. If that section is omitted from any possible future emergency rail act the unions feel that they will have no protection.

Phillips' letter to President Roosevelt said. . . . "Coming as it did, in the midst of our negotiations, your letter was received with some surprise. We feel a hesitancy to answer at this time.

Promise to Confer.

"The good faith of the railway employés in connection with the present negotiations is evidenced by the fact that such negotiations were initiated by the Railway Labor Executives association. These initial steps were taken early in December, 1935. We believe that already a reasonable length of time has been devoted to the task and that we cannot be expected to continue negotiations to the point of jeopardizing the rights and interests of those we represent. However, we are meeting the carriers' committee again today and should negotiations fail, we will, in compliance with your request, arrange to confer with you."

It was reported that there was to have been a joint reply to President Roosevelt's letter of March 6, by the roads and the unions but through a misunderstanding the one sent by the unions was dispatched before that of the roads.

COMPLETE PLAN TO MERGE 100 OF WEAK BANKS

Crowley Asks Extension of Power to 1938.

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—Arrangements have been completed for the elimination from the banking system of at least 100 "uneconomic" banks which are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, it was disclosed today when Chairman Leo T. Crowley asked congress to extend until July 1, 1938, the period in which the corporation may act through consolidations and mergers to strengthen the banking situation and protect itself against undue losses.

Senator Fletcher offered a bill to authorize the extension. As the law now stands the FDIC must force through its program of elimination of unsound banks by July 1, this year.

The 100 or more banks will be consolidated with sound institutions. Going banks will take over the sound assets of the banks to be closed and will be guaranteed against loss by the FDIC. Stockholders of the banks to go out of existence, however, will lose their equity.

More to Be Eliminated.

Chairman Crowley said that commitments already had been made to close 100 banks in six states. By the time the program is completed it was expected that a considerably larger number would be eliminated.

Crowley emphasized that there must be coöperation from bank chartering authorities so that the same type of bank cannot come back into the system. He said that the FDIC would scrutinize carefully the position of state banks applying for membership and would not admit them to the insurance fund unless they are profit making, going institutions.

At the last session of congress the FDIC was authorized to purchase assets or make loans to facilitate the merger or consolidation of insured banks when that action would reduce the risk or avert a threatened loss to the corporation that would result from a payoff of deposits in case of bank failure.

Crowley's Statement.

"We feel that if the right to purchase assets or make loans were made permanent or extended beyond two years there would be a general indifference on the part of banks and supervisory authorities to the necessity of eliminating weak banks through the method afforded by the provision of the bank act now under consideration," Crowley said.

"Our records indicate that a great many uneconomic banks were extended the benefits of deposit insurance because the original law compelled us to admit banks which were merely solvent. This fact, coupled with the low earning power of these institutions, convinces us that it will be far cheaper for the corporation in the long run to merge the unsound banks with the stronger and better ones."

Labor Board Cites Wilson Branch Under Wagner Act

Minneapolis, Minn., March 16.—(AP)—The National Labor Relations board, through its district office here, issued a complaint today against the Albert Lea, Minn., branch of Wilson & Co., packers. Nathaniel S. Clark, acting district manager of the labor board, said the complaint charges discharge of an employé for union activities and refusal of the company to bargain collectively with workers or meet with union representatives. Clark said both these actions would be violations of the Wagner labor disputes act. He will conduct a hearing in the case March 26 at Albert Lea.

LUMBER MAKERS REPORT UPTURN IN MARCH SALES

Washington, D. C., March 16.—(AP)—The National Lumber Manufacturers' association today reported the lumber industry experienced a business upturn during the week ended March 7.

New business was the heaviest since January and was 3 per cent larger than the average of the previous weeks of the year. Shipments were 5 per cent less than the preceding week but 4 per cent higher than the average of the previous nine weeks.

Production was the largest since mid-December. The industry, during the week, stood at 57 per cent of the 1929 weekly production average and 59 per cent of 1929 shipments. New business reported by 570 mills totaled 214,406,000 feet, compared with shipments of 203,809,000 feet, and production of 203,190,000 feet.

Softwood production during the first two months of 1936 was 35 per cent more than for the corresponding period of 1935. Shipments were 22 per cent larger and new business 19 per cent higher.

UNITED DRUG TRAIN TO MAKE GOOD WILL TOUR

The United Drug company will soon dispatch a million dollar streamlined train on a good will tour of the United States and Canada, Louis K. Liggett, president, announced yesterday. He said that 10,000 Rexall druggists and 20,000 salesmen will attend conventions which will be held on the train.

The train is to start from Boston, headquarters of the company, on March 29 and will wind up the tour at Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 21. The journey is expected to cover 25,000 miles. It will visit Chicago Oct. 2 and 3.

Liggett said the purpose of the tour is not to sell but to show delegates to the conventions how to improve their business. Meals will be served to those attending the convention and the train will carry an orchestra to provide music for dancing.

SEC Reveals Salary, Sales Data of Two More Firms

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—Denying the applications that the material be held confidential, the securities and exchange commission today made public certain data filed by two more corporations. G. Krueger Brewing company reported remuneration of $31,903 paid to William C. Krueger for the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 1935; $24,910 to Thomas F. Bryce, vice president, and $14,910 to John G. Krueger, treasurer and assistant secretary. Consolidated gross sales of Philip Morris & Co., Ltd., Inc., and its wholly owned subsidiary, Prudential Tobacco Company, Inc., for the year ended March 31, 1935, totaled $15,632,589, and cost of sales for the year was $11,684,671.

U. S. BOND PAYMENTS, TAXES CAUSE HEAVY TURNOVER OF MONEY

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—The money market experienced today one of its periodic heavy turnovers due to cash payments on the new issues of treasury bonds and notes, payments by the treasury on maturing obligations, and federal income and gift tax payments. The turnover for New York City is estimated at $1,000,000,000, and the total for the entire country about $2,500,000,000. Reflecting the oversupply of funds, there were no changes in money rates.

It is estimated the New York money market lost about $600,000,000 yesterday, due chiefly to the cash payments made for the new bonds and notes recently sold by the treasury. Of the $1,900,206,000 of these new obligations allotted, $1,355,654,000 were sold for cash, nearly half of the cash subscriptions coming from this district.

On the other hand, the money market here gained about $400,000,000, chiefly as a result of payments by the treasury to holdings of its maturing obligations. Of these, nine bill issues aggregating $452,013,000 matured yesterday. Thus, the New York money market suffered a net loss of about $200,000,000.

Federal income and gift tax payments entered into the situation yesterday only so far as payments were made in cash. Since most of the payments are made by check, the full influence of the tax receipts will not be felt until today. It is generally expected the influence of the mid-March turnover in money will not entirely disappear, marketwise, until the end of this week.

Chicago City Railway Profits Drop Sharply

Net income of $487,270, or $2.71 a share, for the year ended Jan. 31, was reported for the Chicago City Railway company by Receivers Edward E. Brown and Harvey B. Fleming. This comparies with $833,299, or $4.63 a share, in the preceding year. All officers and directors were reëlected at the annual meeting yesterday.

DOLLAR FIRMER AGAINST MOST OF FOREIGN MONEYS

Movement in the foreign exchange markets yesterday were narrow, as uncertainties over international political conditions precluded any decided movement in the currencies. The dollar, however, was slightly higher against most European moneys.

In New York, the French franc dipped ⅛ point to 6.64½ cents, raising the value of the dollar against francs to 99.83 cents from 99.81 cents on Saturday. The pound sterling was off ⅜ cents at $4.97½, Dutch guilders slipped 2 points and Swiss francs 1 point. German marks lost 3 points and Belgian belgas 2 points, but Italian lire improved 1 point to 8 cents. Japanese yen advanced 2 points.

Bar gold was unchanged in London at 141 shillings, 1 penny a fine ounce, equivalent to $35.07.

NEW BUILDING IN STATE SHOWS SHARP UPTURN

February Total 75 Pct. Above Last Year.

BY AL CHASE.

Building construction in Illinois registered an advance of 75.4 per cent in cost of projects during February over the same month last year, the state department of labor announced yesterday.

In a monthly survey of prospective building the February total was placed at $1,666,598. In the same month last year the total was only $950,357. The actual number of permits issued last month declined from 533 in 1935 to 448.

The largest gain was shown in new residential construction. In number of buildings the total increased from 19 to 34, a gain of 78.9 per cent. In estimated cost the increase was 166.5 per cent from $119,800 to $319,250.

Non-Residential Permits Fall.

New non-residential construction showed a drop in the number of projects but registered a sharp gain in estimated dollar value involved. There were 52 permits issued, compared with 78 in the same month last year, with a dollar value amounting to $574,214 last month, against $307,694 in February, 1935.

Additions and alterations decreased in number of permits but registered a large advance in estimated cost. There were 362 permits, valued at $773,138, compared with 436, with a dollar value of $522,863 in February last year.

Drop Shown from January.

Comparison of February figures with January, 1936, shows a decline in both number of permits and value of construction. The total dropped from 518 in January to 448 in February and from $2,185,401 to $1,666,598 in dollar value.

One favorable sign in the January-February comparisons, however, was the gain registered in new residential construction, which increased from $301,700 in January to $319,250 in February, a gain of 5.8 per cent.

WEST. ELECTRIC PROFIT RETURN PLACED AT 4.6%

J. K. Crossland, general accountant of the Western Electric company, testified before the Illinois commerce commission yesterday that profits made by the company on the sale of equipment to telephone companies from 1916 to 1934 equaled a return of 4.6 per cent on the investment involved.

The testimony was submitted in the Illinois Bell Telephone company rate hearing case before the state commission. The Illinois Bell concern is part of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, which owns Western Electric company.

Simultaneuosly with hearings on the petition of Illinois Bell for authority to increase its rates on intrastate business to offset the state 3 per cent sales tax, the commission is taking evidence on its own citation for the company to show cause why its rates should not be reduced.

School Board Calls Tax Warants for Redemption

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—Bonds did not continue the recovery of last Saturday, but lapsed into a state of unusual inactivity, which left prices little changed. Small losses predominated, though with a good scattering of firm spots dotted through the list.

Trading was the slowest in more than six months, with sales totalling only $7,612,000, par value, compared with $14,541,000 last Friday. The turnover in governments accounted for only $360,000 of this amount. Transactions in government bonds last Friday totaled $2,454,000.

Federal Issues Firmer.

The trend in governments was a trifle higher, although most active issues barely changed. Several treasury loans gained 4-32nds while others dipped 1-32d to 2-32ds. The new treasury 2¾s of 1948-'51 made their initial appearance and closed at 101 8-32.

Week end investment reviews were generally in agreement that the market, especially the medium grade and speculative divisions, would remain sensitive to developments abroad until the atmosphere cleared up, but stressed the strongly entrenched position of the domestic money market and other favorable factors which had not been clouded by the international events.

Other Groups Are Mixed.

Losers of small fractions to more than a point included American Foreign Power 5s, American Rolling Mill 4¼s, Illinois Central 5s, Lehigh Valley 4s, Liggett & Myers 5s, Penn Dixie 6s and Columbia Gas 5s. Firm spots included Royal Dutch 4s, up 8 points; International Cement 4s, up 1¾; Paramount 6s, up ⅝; Warner Bros. 6s, up 1⅝, and Federal Light & Traction 5s, up 1⅛.

The majority of foreign bonds were steadier. Belgium 6s gained a point and higher prices were paid for Colombia 6s and German 7s. Japanese 6½s dropped 1⅛ points.

Bulova Watch Company, Inc.

Investors' Guide: I would like to know the earnings and amount of stock outstanding of Bulova Watch. Thank you.—W. W.

Answer: Bulova Watch company, Inc., manufactures high grade watches. It has plants in Switzerland and in the United States. The company uses substantial amounts of gold and the price of that metal plays an important part in earnings. Its products are in the nature of a luxury item and earnings, consequently, tend to vary sharply with the state of business and prosperity.

Profit of $452,000 in the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1935, brought earnings for the nine months to Dec. 31, 1935, to $744,000, or $2.23 per common share, against $245,000, or 41 cents per common share, for the corresponding 1934 period.

Following three years of substantial losses, the company earned a profit of $388,000, or 77 cents per common share, in the year ended March 31, 1935. Losses for the three preceding years were $311,000, $1,072,000, and $193,000, respectively.

On March 31, 1935, current assets, including $3,159,000 cash, marketable securities and gold bullion, were $6,918,000 and current liabilities were $2,435,000.

There are outstanding 50,000 shares of $3.50 dividend no par preferred and 275,000 shares of no par common. Nothing has been paid on the preferred since Dec. 1, 1931. Accumulations totaled $14 a share, or $900,000, on Dec. 31, 1935.

Collecting Sterling Coupons.

Investors' Guide: Will you please advise me if the Brazilian government has an agency in Chicago through which interest on the sterling bonds may be collected, or is it necessary that the coupons on these bonds be forwarded to London?—K. W. G.

Answer: N. M. Rothschild & Sons, London, is listed as the paying agent for Brazil sterling bonds. No provision is made for collection of coupons in Chicago, but payment, on the basis of bankers' buying rate for sight exchange on London, can be effected through Dillon, Read & Co., 28 Nassau street, New York City.

Cleveland Union Terminals.

Investors' Guide: Please give me your opinion of Cleveland Union Terminals company bonds.—R. F.

Answer: These bonds, all series, are considered sound.

The $40,000,000 bond offering of the Jones & Laughlin Steel company which had been expected for today has been postponed indefinitly, it was announced yesterday by the Mellon Securities company, head of the underwriting syndicate. It was intimated that present market conditions caused the postponement.

Directors of the Shell Union Oil and Shell Pipe Line corporations yesterday voted to call for redemption on April 17 the $22,990,000 outstanding Shell Union Oil corporation 5 per cent bonds of 1947 and the $24,126,500 outstanding Shell Pipe Line corporation 5 per cent bonds of 1952. Payment will be made at a price of 102 for the Shell Union bonds and at 102½ for Shell Pipe Line bonds.

A syndicate headed by Morgan Stanley & Co., yesterday sold an issue of $7,178,500 Central Illinois Light company first and consolidated 3½ per cent bonds, due April 1, 1966, at 104 and accrued interest. Proceeds from the issue will be used to retire currently outstanding obligations.

The Metropolitan Water District of California has issued a call for bids on an issue of $11,808,000 of bonds, award of which will be made April 10. The bonds will be dated May 1, 1936, and mature May 1, 1951 to 1986. Bankers are asked to name a rate of interest not exceeding 5 per cent.

New York to Sell Notes.

Bids will be opened tomorrow for an issue of $6,000,000 corporate stock notes of New York City. The notes will be dated May 2, and become payable Nov. 2. Proceeds will reimburse the city's treasury for payment of a similar amount of notes which matured March 12.

The state of Minnesota will consider tenders for an issue of $2,650,000 trunk highway bonds on April 12. The bonds will be dated March 1, 1936, and mature March 1, 1948 to 1952. Bidders are requested to specify a rate of interest not exceeding 3 per cent.

Other leaders were Chicago corporation, Central and South West, Bendix, Cord, Berghoff, and Swift. All but Berghoff moved only minor fractions.

APRIL BUTTER AT SEASONAL PEAK; EGGS FIRM TO HIGHER

Active butter futures again moved higher on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, with the current contract advancing ⅞ cent over Saturday's close and April fresh standards reaching into new high ground for the season with a close of 27 cents. The November butter future was unchanged at 26 cents a pound.

Egg futures were unchanged to ⅛ cent higher, reflecting the continued light into storage movement. In the four principal markets the storage movement showed 12,300 cases less than a year ago.

In the cash market butter prices were up ¼ to ½ cent a pound; eggs were unchanged to a quarter cent lower a dozen. Egg receipts at Chicago jumped about 2,200 cases over last week's total; butter receipts here held at about last year's figure and were heavily under last week.

Sales of butter for future delivery on the exchange yesterday totaled 123 cars and egg sales were 19 cars. Prices of the futures contracts follow:

HOG PRICES RISE ON BRISK BUYING; RECEIPTS HEAVY

Cattle Market Weakens; Lambs Mixed.

Brisk competition between Chicago and eastern buyers yesterday lifted hog prices here to the highest levels since Feb. 19 despite heavier receipts. Arrivals were estimated at 18,000 head, while receipts at the eleven leading markets totaled 71,000. The market was generally strong to 10 cents higher than the average of last Friday. Selected light butchers topped at $10.85, compared with a nominal top of $10.70 Saturday and with a high of $10.75 Friday.

Average Price 5 Cents Higher.

Prices for the day averaged 5 cents higher at $10.35. Most better grade 175 to 225 pound new crop hogs sold from $10.60 to $10.75; 250 to 300 pound butchers sold at $10 to $10.50 and 325 to 400 pound animals traded at $9.65 to $10. Prime 359 pound averages reached $9.95. Most 300 to 500 pound sows cashed at $9.25 to $9.50.

Local demand for fresh pork declined and wholesale prices weakened slightly. However, advances in the east amounted to as much as $1.50 per hundred pounds on loins and $2 on some other cuts.

Cattle receipts increased to 15,000 head, the second largest run since Jan. 6, resulting in a break of 15 to 25 cents in steers. Some medium to good grades declined more on slow closing rounds.

Butcher Stock Declines.

Butcher stock was steady to 25 cents lower, with some of the best heavy hefers holding steady. Canners and cutters were steady to 5 cents lower. Heavy calves were steady, but lightweights were under pressure and sold 25 cents lower. Bulls were steady to weak.

Local buyers for thin steers ran into a good country demand for replacement stock at steady prices, but fleshy feeders lost 15 to 25 cents.

Lambs over 100 pounds declined 15 to 25 cents when buyers began discriminating against weight yesterday, but most others held steady, with the top at $10.35 showing a 10 cent advance. Most 80 to 95 pound stock sold at $10.10 to $10.25 and 100 to 105 pounds at $9.75 to $10.

Philippines to Try Price Stabilization Scheme

MANILA, P. I., March 16.—(AP)—Formation of a government owned rice and corn corporation to control buying and selling of these grains in the Philippines was ordered today by President Manuel Quezon. The new occupation will be a subsidiary of the national development company and will be capitalized at $2,000,000. Its purpose will be to stabilize prices and prevent shortages.

FARMERS PLAN BOOST IN CORN, WHEAT ACREAGE

Government Reports on Probable Planting.

Increases in acreage in corn and spring wheat over 1935 were indicated yesterday in the department of agriculture's preliminary report on 1936 crops. The department estimated probable acreage of principal crops based on the reports on intentions to plant received from farmers.

Indicated 1936 corn acreage was fixed by the government statisticians at 98,775,000, compared with the 93,590,000 acres seeded last spring. The spring wheat area was estimated at 22,440,000 acres, compared with last year's seedings of 20,837,000 acres.

Detail Principal Crops.

	Intended, 1936.	Seeded, 1935.	Harvested, 1935.
Corn	98,775	93,590	92,727
Do durum	3,312	2,737	2,644
Do other spg	19,128	18,100	16,182
Oats	39,785	39,530	39,714
Barley	13,017	12,957	12,858
Flax	2,359	2,138	2,071
Soy beans	4,624	5,463	5,211

Average Acreage 20 Million.

The average spring wheat acreage harvested in 1928-'32 was 20,431,000. The amount of acreage seeded to spring wheat, but not harvested in those years is not available. Crop losses from drouth and other causes led to heavy abandonment in the spring wheat area in recent years.

An indicated decrease in soy bean acreage was surprising in view of the importance which this crop has gained in recent years as a cash revenue source for farmers.

U.S. COLD STORAGE REPORTS SMALL LOSS FOR 1935

United States Cold Storage corporation yesterday reported a net loss of $1,698 for 1935, compared with a net profit of $323,408 in 1934, which was the company's best year.

The company's tonnage receipts of meat and lard, from which substantial storage earnings are normally derived, were nearly 80 per cent below 1934 and 64 per cent below average receipts for the five year period from 1931 to 1935, the report said. Meat receipts in 1935 totaled 27,070,735 pounds, compared with 123,683,690 in 1934 and a five year average of 69,463,743 pounds. Lard and grease receipts aggregated 272,293 pounds, against 8,686,504 in 1934 and an average of 5,045,497 pounds.

The reduction in storage stocks, H. E. Poronto, president, said, was the inevitable reaction from previous drouth conditions, government activities and other causes which materially decreased live stock available for market.

2 Mercantile Exchange Seats Are Transferred

The Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday announced the transfer of memberships to Walter H. Rebman of the Borden Sales Co., Inc., New York City, and Perry L. Smithers Jr. of the Produce Terminal Cold Storage company, Chicago.

LARD DIPS 7½ TO 12½ CENTS ON SCATTERED LIQUIDATION

Weakness in grains and the more peaceful reports from Europe led to scattered commission house selling of lard futures yesterday. Aggregate trade was light and the market was easily influenced, with the close at net losses of 7½ to 12½ cents. Clear bellies [salt pork] closed nominally unchanged. Cash lard was quoted at $10.60, loose $9.97, leaf $10.00 and clear bellies $14.77 per 100 pounds.

Much to the surprise of the trade, local lard stocks decreased 1,042,000 pounds during the last two weeks, bringing total holdings down to 34,228,000 pounds, compared with 57,941,000 pounds last year. It is claimed the unexpected showing was due to heavy shipments via truck. Stocks of clear bellies increased 639,000 pounds, now total 7,161,000 pounds. A year ago there were 5,017,000 pounds. Prices of lard in dollars per 100 pounds:

DICK TRACY—Finger Prints of "Lips" Manlis

THERE'S ONLY ONE EXPLANATION, CHIEF!
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.
Copyright, 1936, by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.
THIS BELLHOP WAITED ON THE OCCUPANTS OF ROOM 404 THE DAY GOTHORN WAS MURDERED—AND THE BELLHOP WAS SLAIN TO KEEP HIM SILENT.
THEN NAB WHOEVER OCCUPIED ROOM 404 THAT DAY! WHO WERE THEY?
THE PARTY WHO RENTED THAT ROOM, UNDER AN ALIAS, WAS "LIPS" MANLIS, THE HOODLUM!
I'VE ESTABLISHED HIS IDENTITY THROUGH FINGER PRINTS FOUND IN THE ROOM. ALSO, MANLIS WAS THE BIGGEST WINNER IN THAT POKER GAME WHERE GOTHORN LOST AND "WELSHED."

Financing
Plan

Why make a good deal on a car, new or used, only to be penalized by high financing charges?

We have broken down the barriers of tradition and have ushered in a new era of sensible rates for cars bought on time payments. These new rates apply on used car sales, new car sales, or a loan on your present car.

No mystery charges, no extra fees. You simply make a reasonable down payment when you buy, and we finance the balance. Here are typical examples of the low cost under our plan:

$100	$12.08	$112.08	$ 9.34
200	19.00	219.00	18.25
300	23.04	323.04	26.92
400	29.00	429.00	35.75
500	35.08	535.08	44.59

Only Fire and Theft Insurance Required.
Buy It Through Your Own Broker and Include the Premium in the Loan.
